Coach Small remembered as a winner

by TOM VON MALDER

He's remembered as a "pretty good guy," a coach who cared about his players more than winning, although he was a winner.

He was the kind of football coach who'd design a special play for a slow-footed lineman or who'd give a young receiver a second chance at a touchdown pass.

Art Small wanted "his boys" to enjoy playing football.

BUT ART SMALL also was a loner, a man divorced four years and living alone, a man who was dead at least three days before anyone noticed.

"Art never missed a football game in the seven years I knew him. I should have known something was wrong when he missed the game that Saturday," says John Yohe, probably Small's best friend and a fellow coach for the Elk Grove Boys Football Assn.

"This was going to be his last year coaching. He had been somewhat depressed over his finances and had taken a second, part-time job which made it hard for him to make practices. I guess I just thought he was skipping that day.

THE GAME SMALL missed was Sept. 25. It was not until the following Tuesday, Sept. 28, that his body was found in his apartment.

"We still don't know why he died," said Police Sgt. Ronald Iden. "The coroner's office said the body was badly decomposed. We do know it was some kind of natural cause."

Yohe and Small began coaching in 1970. While watching their sons play, Yohe recalls, "somebody asked us to help coach. We looked at each other and said, 'Why not?' "

IT WAS THE start of their friendship too. "We played our first football game against each other in a scrimmage," Yohe remembers.

During the years, Small coached his teams, the Bears, to three championships and moved from the Community League to the Traveling League.

But the winning is only a small part of why Small is remembered.

"We won the division that year (1971). We won every game. He was fair, a good coach," says Marty Drake, 16, who played for Small as a sixth-grader and now is a halfback and safety for the Elk Grove High School football team.

"HE WAS A pretty good guy," Drake says. "Even after I wasn't on the team he'd say hello and we'd chat awhile."

"He was a helluva coach, especially for the kids," Yohe says.

During one game, Yohe recalls, a Bear receiver broke into the open but dropped the pass that would have meant a touchdown.

Crestfallen, he walked to the sidelines. Small sent him back to the huddle with the same play.

"BUT COACH, I just dropped that pass," the boy said. "That's all right," Small replied. "Don't drop it

First Arlington ordered to pay in bankruptcy case

The First Arlington National Bank will be ordered to pay $310,000 in damages to the owner of a boat store involved in a bankruptcy-creditors dispute with the bank.

The opinion issued Friday by U.S. Bankruptcy Judge E. H. Patton Jr. of Houston, Tex., came after hearings in a lawsuit filed against the bank by Barney Kogen the owner of Barney's Boats, formerly at 1140 E. Northwest Hwy., Palatine.

The suit charged that the bank on Feb. 21 removed boats from the store, a violation of a bankruptcy protection order shielding the store owner from creditors.

KOGEN'S FIRM HAD filed a Chapter 11 bankruptcy petition in Texas last year. The First Arlington Bank was among the firm's creditors.

The opinion issued Friday orders the bank to pay $250,000 in actual damages and $60,000 in exemplary damages.

Robert E. Lawler, executive vice president of the bank, said Friday the bank will appeal the bankruptcy judge's ruling.

The suit had charged that the bank violated the bankruptcy order when it removed the boats, but the bank had said it moved the boats to protect the property because the boat store roof leaked.

The action was one of several multi-million dollar lawsuits pending against First Arlington National, the fourth largest bank in the Northwest suburbs.

Depositions from four bank officials, including Lawler and Bruce C. Dodds, were presented in the matter.

Dodds, on a leave of absence as bank vice president, is under federal indictment on charges of embezzlement and misapplication of funds. His trial is to begin Dec. 14.

DODDS' INDICTMENT followed disclosures in The Herald that the bank had been the target of a federal inquiry and had been ordered to reorganize its loan policies.

Lawler said Friday bank officials feel "the court did not have jurisdiction in this matter. A national bank cannot be sued out of its district," Lawler said.

The bank had filed a motion to dismiss the case Oct. 27.

The bank's attorney in the matter, Sanford Likover of Houston, could not be reached Friday.

A spokesman for the bankruptcy division of the U.S. District Court, Southern District of Texas, said the opinion was issued Friday by Judge Patton and will be signed and entered when attorneys complete necessary papers.

Larry Evans, attorney for Kogen, Friday said he was "pleased" with the judge's ruling. "We think it was a fair judgment," he said.

Federal authorities have said the earlier bank investigation and the Dodds indictment do not affect the soundness of First Arlington National, which holds assets of $83 million.

Rule on absentee ballots sought in Mikva contest

by STEVE BROWN

The cliffhanger election in the 10th Congressional District took several twists Friday as Cook County Clerk Stanley T. Kusper Jr. reported:

- A "new" vote tabulation shows U.S. Rep. Abner J. Mikva, D-10th, with a 201 vote lead over Republican Samuel H. Young.
- There are enough uncounted absentee ballots to alter the outcome of the election.
- The courts will be asked to rule on Kusper's right to tabulate other uncounted absentee ballots, which could affect the final vote count for all other races in suburban Cook County.

THE DEVELOPMENTS came as Kusper asked Chief Circuit Court Judge Harry G. Comerford to rule on whether he can add the uncounted absentee ballots to the vote totals already amassed.

Mikva supporters said they approved of Kusper's action, but they are prepared to press for an even more complete count of absentee ballots, including those received by the county after election day.

Young's attorneys Perry Fuller and William Swindal declined to comment about their strategy in the matter, but they left open the possibility that they will oppose the counting of absentee ballots not tabulated on Nov. 2.

BESIDES THE change in vote totals and the disclosure that there are uncounted ballots, Kusper also won Cumerford's permission to examine all boxes that contain the precinct voting information. This will determine if there are still other uncounted absentee ballots.

Kusper said he was informed of four or five instances in which absentee ballots were misdirected to polling places and never properly counted.

The "misdirected" absentee ballots are viewed in the same category as the "undelivered" absentee ballots. Kusper said he wants the court's permission to count all the ballots received after Tuesday.

THE NEW VOTE totals for the 10th District race which show Mikva with 106,804 votes and Young with 106,603 votes, are from a computerized vote summary provided to Kusper's office. Earlier vote totals, which showed Young the winner with a margin that ranged between 247 and 258 votes, were the two candidates' election night vote totals.

Kusper stressed the new totals, with

by DIANE MERMIGAS

The small, bronze gravemarker reads, "Princess. 1970-1975. We miss you more than words can say. Love, Mommy and Daddy."

It marks the final resting place of a playful, furry-eyed Schnauzer pictured on the tombstone.

Another gravestone not far away reads, "Poochie Forsyth," and still another epitaph proclaims, "My little guy, Peppy. Too well loved to be forgotten."

There are 1,500 such graves of household pets at the Aarrowood Pet Cemetery, Mundelein, one of four such novel resting places for pets in the Chicago area.

CATS, HAMSTERS, gerbils, birds, monkeys, goats, goldfish and frogs are buried there, although dogs constitute most of the cemetery's population.

Where once the formal burial of pets was thought to be eccentric or bizarre, the practice has become increasingly popular in the past 10 years, cemetery owner Victor Barcroft said.

"There are a lot of pets in the Chicago aea, and when people become attached to their pets, they want to do something special and dignified for them after death," he said.

The 10-year-old operation offers owners a choice of pickup service, plot, casket, graveside service and gravemarker for their pets.

Burial arrangements on the average cost slightly more than $100, and police and seeing-eye dogs are often given free burial sites at the cemetery.

BUT, THERE ARE many people who want more than the usual accommodations for their pet.

The affectionate gestures that some owners make as a last tribute to their animals "might seem strange, but are still an expression of love that should not be condemned and that we encourage them to express," said Aleata Jaekel, cemetery office manager.

"It's gotten to the point where nothing surprises me anymore. Once there was a lady who decided to bury her pet monkey dressed in a suit," she said.

Other people place their pet's favorite blanket or toys inside the tiny casket, while other owners compose a personal message for

Nerge safety proper: judge

A Cook County Circuit Court judge has ruled that Schaumburg Township Dist. 54 acted with proper responsibility when it installed several safety precautions instead of providing free busing across the controversial Nerge Road crossing near Nerge School, 660 Woodfield Ter., Roselle. Judge L. Sheldon Brown said he was not free to interfere with a decision made by the school board because evidence did not show the decision was made arbitrarily. "It (Dist. 54) only discontinued busing (to the school) after all possible safeguards were set up," Brown said.

Fourteen residents of the Sunset Hills and Meadow Knowlls subdivisions north of Nerge Road filed suit against the district to obtain district-paid busing for 200 children who must cross Nerge to go to school. Parents said safety precautions taken by the district were inadequate.

Dist. 54 chief 'stable'

Supt. Wayne Schaible of of Schaumburg Township Dist. 54, was listed Friday in stable condition in the intensive care unit of Sherman Hospital, Elgin, following his collapse after Thursday's board of education meeting. Schaible, 49, underwent tests Friday, but no cause for his fainting had been determined, hospital officials said. Board member Elizabeth Carpenter said Schaible had fainted earlier in the day at his home, striking his head, before the meeting. He had a physical examination and a flu shot that morning, she said.

Schaumburg police are investigating the cause of death of a 62-year-old village resident whose body was found Friday afternoon floating in a lake at an apartment complex. Police said the body of George V. Pepich, 62, of 328 Palisades Point, was discovered shortly before 2:30 p.m. Friday floating face down in a lake at the Dunbar Lakes apartment complex, Schaumburg and Roselle roads, Schaumburg. Pepich had been last seen alive earlier Friday police said. No signs of foul play were found investigators said. The body was taken to the Cook County Morgue in Chicago for an autopsy and a coroner's inquest. The autopsy is scheduled today.

Dems lose 1, make gains in 3 state legislatures

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democrats lost control of one state legislature in Tuesday's elections but made historic inroads in the lower houses of three states, the National Conference of State Legislatures said Friday.

With almost 6,000 seats at stake in 43 state legislatures, Democrats now control both houses in 36 states and Republicans control 5 states, with 8 split and one — Nebraska — having only one house and no party affiliation.

It was a net loss of one for the Democrats since the GOP lost control of 11 legislatures two years ago. The Democrats lost the lower house in Utah, adding the Beehive State's legislature to the split column.

DEMOCRATS WON the Kansas House for the first time since 1912, and the North Dakota House for only the second time in that state's history. They also won the Vermont House for the first time since the Civil War.

In those three states where the Republicans made their most impressive gains, President Ford won by seven percentage points or more.

Republicans took full control by winning the Colorado House and the Wyoming and South Dakota Senates.

The states with houses controlled by different parties are: Arizona, Indiana, Kansas, Maine, New York, North Dakota, Utah and Vermont.

The rest, besides Nebraska, are controlled by the Democrats.

Ford pledges Carter a smooth transition

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford told his Cabinet Friday he wants the transition to Jimmy Carter's administration to be as smooth as possible but that he will present a budget reflecting his own philosophy of government.

That would mean any changes Carter wants to make in budget priorities will have to wait until after he is inaugurated Jan. 20, because the Ford budget must be sent to Congress by Jan. 18, two days before Carter takes office.

Ford gave the orders on transition: "We will make it as smooth and helpful as possible."

A few hours later, chief of staff Richard Cheney and transition representative John Marsh met with Jack Watson, head of Carter's transition team for the first exchange between the two camps on the transfer of power.

Watson seemed surprised as reporters and photographers trooped into Cheney's office and the lights came on.

"How do you like this?" Cheney asked.

"I dunno," said Watson, smiling.

The Cabinet gave Ford a standing ovation as he entered the room for the 25-minute meeting.

"I want to thank each and every one of you for the job you've done and the quality of your work," the President said in a voice still hoarse from the campaign.

"Hear, hear," said Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller.

"We lost a close one," said Ford. "I'm grateful for the support of the 48 or 49 per cent . . . But until January 20th, we've got a job to do and we're going to do it well."

"Hear, hear," Rockefeller repeated.

Later in the meeting Ford said, "I expect us to carry on until January 20th with the same philosophy, the same program and the same policies. The country cannot afford for us to stand still."

Ford plans to leave Sunday for Palm Springs, Calif., to relax from the rigors of the campaign.

In Plains, Ga., Dr. Edwin P. Lochridge of Atlanta completed a physical examination of Carter he began a month ago and pronounced the president-elect in good health."

Wearing denim pants and jacket and heavy work shoes, Carter showed reporters an 18-inch stack of briefing papers on the change of administrations.

He leaves today on a four-to five-day "working vacation" during which he will spend part of the time studying the briefing papers before making hundreds of appointments, establishing a legislative program and generally establishing a new government in the next three months.

Carter and his family will be on St. Simons Island off the Georgia coast.

3rd party can have an impact: McCarthy

Eugene McCarthy, whose independent presidential candidacy jeopardized Jimmy Carter's election chances, said Friday his campaign had begun to weaken the political monopoly of the Republicans and Democrats. "The public now knows that a third party candidate can have an impact," McCarthy said. His campaign organization issued a statement saying McCarthy's effort "began the break-up of the national political monopoly held by the Republican and Democratic parties." The former Minnesota senator would not say whether he would make another run for the presidency. But he said he would continue his legal battle against state laws that make it hard for independent and minor party candidates to get on the ballot, his fight against the federal election reform act and his drive for enforcement of "equal time" broadcast provisions.

Agree to move bus kidnaping trial

A judge Friday ordered the trial of three wealthy young men accused of kidnaping 26 children and a school bus driver moved out of the farming area where the victims live. The court decided that a trial in the vicinity of Chowchilla, Calif., where the kidnaping took place, might be used by the defense as the basis for an appeal.

Rainbow Girls to have nonwhite chapter

The State Executive Board of the Iowa Rainbow for Girls, involved in a fight over admitting a black girl, said Friday it will establish a separate statewide organization open to nonwhite members. L. Ray Chamberlin, acting board chairman, said officials are "interested in seeing Rainbow or a comparable organization continue in Iowa, which has a policy of nondiscrimination by reason of race, creed, color or national origin." Iowa's 136 Rainbow chapters, which have about 5,000 teen-age girls, are sponsored by the Masons and the Order of the Eastern Star. They were suspended temporarily Monday when a black Indianola girl was allowed to join. The Indianola chapter was disbanded. Officials at Rainbow headquarters in McAlester, Okla., said the Iowa chapters will be dissolved by Dec. 31, because the organization's rules have not been followed. One of the 54-year-old organization's unwritten rules is only white girls are allowed to belong.

U.S. envoy crosses 'no-man's-land'

A U.S. envoy Friday crossed the no-man's-land between Christian and Moslem Beirut for the first time since the murder of the U.S. ambassador to Lebanon last June. In another development, Syria placed its 22,000-man army in Lebanon under the command of Lebanese Pres. Elias Sarkis. Syrian Foreign Minister Abdel Halim Khaddam said the Syrian troops were put at Sarkis' disposal to be used as the main contingent of the Arab League peacekeeping force assigned to police the fragile cease-fire put into effect two weeks ago. Khaddam said the action fulfilled commitments made at two Arab summit conferences last month in which the League agreed to send 30,000 troops to Lebanon to beef up the 2,300-man force now there. Earlier, U.S. Charge d'Affaires George Lane crossed Beirut's embattled "green line" separating Christian and Moslem sectors for the first time since gunmen shot to death U.S. Ambassador Francis E. Meloy last June. Lane journeyed from east to west Beirut to meet for an hour with Camille Chamoun, leader of the right-wing National Liberal Party.

Western powers hit for role in S. Africa

The General Assembly called on western powers Friday to stop supplying South Africa with arms and nuclear know-how and to end any trade that helps South Africa retain power in Namibia (South West Africa). By a vote of 93 to 9, with 19 countries abstaining, the Assembly approved a resolution submitted by the Decolonization Committee to condemn "foreign and other economic interests" impeding the granting of independence to the black majorities of Rhodesia and Namibia. The resolution particularly condemned the United States, Britain, France, Israel and West Germany for continuing to supply nuclear and military equipment to South Africa.

Fukuda resigns, challenges Japan's Miki

Deputy Premier Takeo Fukuda resigned Friday, openly challenging Prime Minister Takeo Miki's leadership and deepening a rift in the ruling Liberal Democratic Party. The action came as Japan's parliament set Dec. 5 as the date for the first parliamentary elections since the 12 million Lockheed Aircraft Corp. scandal broke in February, creating a rift in the Liberal Democratic party. Miki's opponents in the party resent his handling of the Lockheed investigation, especially the jailing of former Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka, who was indicted for receiving $1.66 million in Lockheed bribes, and have tried to oust him from power.

Miki, however, has repeatedly vowed to stay in power and Friday accepted Fukuda's resignation.

Mexico, U.S. agree on prisoner swap

Many American prisoners, some of them claiming they have been tortured, probably will be paroled from Mexican jails when a planned U.S.-Mexican prisoner exchange treaty is signed late this month, sources said Friday. A U.S. State Dept. announcement, released by the U.S. embassy in Mexico City, said a draft treaty for a possible prisoner swap has been agreed to in Washington by negotiators for both nations.

Does not mean blacks will get edge

Smith clarifies 'majority rule'

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI) — Prime Minister Ian Smith said Friday "African majority rule" did not necessarily mean black rule in Rhodesia.

Speaking at a news conference one day after his return from Geneva because of the lack of progress at the conference there on Rhodesia's future, Smith indicated that his white regime's idea of majority rule in Rhodesia would exclude a government based on the principle of one-man, one-vote.

"You will recall that I said I would support responsible majority rule in Rhodesia," Smith said.

"Well now, I go along with African majority rule according to my definition because I'm an African the same as the majority of whites who live in this part of the world.

Smith said the five-point plan for majority rule in Rhodesia put forward by U.S. Sec. of State Henry Kissinger and which Smith accepted did not specify black rule.

"You will not find anything about African majority rule in the five principles," he told a news conference, stressing the word African.

It was the first time since he accepted Kissinger's majority rule plan that Smith has outlined how he understands the concept. There are 6.1 million black Rhodesians and 275,000 whites.

Smith said his decision to return to Salisbury from Geneva was not a walkout. He said the first two weeks of meetings have been a waste because the black nationalist leaders there insist on taking up issues not directly connected to the interim government's structure.

However, he said, "I think there is still a chance" the Geneva conference will succeed.

He singled out black nationalist Bishop Abel Muzorewa as the "most responsible" black leader at the conference.

Smith said all four black nationalist leaders have slowed down the conference but the faction headed by Muzorewa, leader of the external wing of the African National Council, was "the most responsible delegation (and) represents the majority of black Rhodesians."

Smith said political power should be apportioned on the basis of qualifications and not color.

"I believe we have got to dedicate ourselves to ensuring that we have the best government in Rhodesia irrespective of color."

He gave no details on what a constitution should stipulate to achieve "responsible" majority rule.

One concept Smith has discussed before would be to allow only a certain percentage of the population to vote. Voter qualification would be based on education and property ownership.

Fail again to reach accord

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) — Rival black and white delegations to the Rhodesian peace conference failed again Friday to set a date for blacks to assume power under a new constitution.

At the call of the British sponsors of the Geneva talks, the two sides met for nearly two hours in a full plenary session at the Palais des Nations, former home of the League of Nations, but refused to budge from their hardline positions.

Rhodesia's foreign minister, Pieter van der Bly, who is heading the white delegation in Prime Minister Ian Smith's absence, said after the plenary session, "Nothing really has happened. Our position remains unchanged."

Black nationalist Joshua Nkomo, the 340-pound leader of one wing of the African National Council, said blacks will insist that the transition be completed within one year.

Utah Supreme Court vetoes convict's death wish

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The Utah Supreme Court Friday rejected convicted killer Gary Gilmore's plea that he be allowed to die before a firing squad in 10 days.

After reading a letter sent by Gilmore from his cell at Utah State Prison, the court issued a brief 3-2 ruling opening the way for a stay of execution and a review of his conviction and death sentence.

The court said it would grant a stay if it were requested. The justices did not indicate who would be in a position to ask for a stay, but it was acting on an appeal filed by two attorneys later fired by Gilmore.

Gilmore, 35, who has spent most of his life behind bars, said he preferred immediate death because he did not want to languish the rest of his days in prison. He admitted killing a motel clerk.

The split decision effectively delayed what would have been the first execution in the United States in 10 years and the first in Utah since 1960.

Before the ruling, the justices read a one-page handwritten letter from the condemned man. It said:

"Sirs:

"Any appeals filed in my 'behalf' or any other legal action designed to stall or delay my execution is to be considered NULL AND VOID.

"Attorneys (Craig) Snyder and (Mike) Esplin do not represent me — I have fired them as of Nov. 1, 1976."

"I desire to be executed on schedule Nov. 15, 1976."

"I am sane, intelligent and rationale."

"Gary Gilmore."

LIFEBOAT FROM passenger liner Windsor Castle approaches Elizabeth Fuller, left, 64, of Port Elizabeth, South Africa, to rescue her Monday after falling off the ship. She spent about three hours in the sea, keeping herself afloat by swimming the breaststroke and floating on her back. The incident occurred some 250 miles off the Angolan coast.

Pet cemetery: fond farewell to dog the gravemarker.

One Chicago woman who already has six of her show dogs buried in the cemetery conducted funeral services in her home for each of animals.

THE SAME WOMAN also has arranged to be buried alongside her pets at Aarrowwood, which is maintained as a special section of the 50-acre Woodlawn Cemetery, a cemetery for humans also owned by Barcroft.

There are some children and elderly people who keep a daily vigil at the graveside of their pets, setting flowers or wreaths on top of the uniform two by three foot graves, especially during the holidays.

Patrons have donated trees, benches and animal figurines to enhance the park-like grounds. There also are several elderly women who bring the cemetery staff cookies during their daily visits.

"They are grateful because we've given them the chance to give their pets a dignified and sensitive end," Ms. Jaekel said. "Their only other alternatives are to dispose of the dead animal through a rendering service, in the garbage or chance burying it in their backyard despite many urban laws that prohibit it."

The cemetery also provides for the cremation of pets with placement of the ashes in a variety of urns that are returned to the owners.

ALTHOUGH FEWER than 5 per cent of the estimated 1.5 million dogs and cats in the Chicago area will be buried or cremated at such cemeteries, Barcroft said he believes that formal burial will become more widespread as other alternatives become scarce and less humane.

There are nearly 500 pet cemeteries in the United States that already attest to the acceptance of the practice. One of the largest is the Bide-A-Wee Memorial Park in Wantagh, Long Island, where 50,000 pets are buried including former President Richard Nixon's dog, "Checkers."

But, even Aarrowood has its heroes, including Rick Toven, a World War II dog specially trained to rescue soldiers and carry messages between camps. Another dog, "Spotty," received the 1958 Chicago hero's medal for saving the life of his master.

Many people are "relieved to know that there is a place to bury their pets, but other family members come in ill-at-ease with the idea," said Barcroft, who admits the concept often attracts criticism and sarcasm.

"We assure them that there are many people who feel the same way they do. We don't take a maudlin approach and we don't try to sell them the frills," he said.

A PRAYER that Barcroft has written is read over every animal's grave at the time of burial and expresses the validity of the practice, he said.

"Love is an essential and much needed expression," the prayer states. "In the face of this all too scarce commodity, certainly such an expression of love as this family has for their pet is not to be questioned."

Flowers show owners' undying love for "Pappy's Playmate" and "Mommy's Precious."

"It's a fitting tribute for a pet who offers so much devotion and companionship, and asks for so little in return," he said.

Barcroft, a pet-lover who maintains "a zoo" at his home which includes dogs, horses and ducks, said he has buried his own pets in the cemetery.

"I started the pet cemetery in 1965 after I received many inquiries from friends and other people who wanted a respectable way to handle their pet's death," Barcroft said.

THE WOODLAWN Cemetery was developed in the early 1960's on what was once his family's farm. The white-framed house, barn and other small buildings from those early days are being renovated and used as offices.

"It lends a more natural, simple type of setting," Barcroft said. "If it brings someone comfort and a peace of mind, that's all I'm after."

Strike at county goes on; layoffs next

The Cook County Health and Hospitals Governing Commission has approved layoffs to begin Monday in connection with the strike of 1,000 nurses at Cook County and Oak Forest hospitals. All but 43 of the 268 nurses assigned to the day shift defied a court order and remained off the job Friday at Cook County Hospital. More than 100 picketed in front of the hospital. The commission met in the afternoon and decided to begin laying off support workers, as patient numbers in the hospital fell to about 750 — 500 below normal.

2 uninjured after plane crashes

A single-engine plane ran out of gas while flying over Chicago Friday night and crashed into a cemetery fence. Although the plane was destroyed, the two suburban men aboard walked away from it unharmed. Police said the pilot, Bob Orlando, Elmwood Park, and the passenger, Hank Szymanowski, Franklin Park, took off from Midway Airport and crashed into the fence of St. Casimir's Lithuanian Roman Catholic Cemetery on the South Side. Neither man required hospital care, police said.

Illinois briefs

Cops won't back license plate order

A spokesman for the Illinois State Police said Friday state troopers aren't going to enforce the secretary of state's directive warning motorists not to display their 1977 license plates before Dec. 1. Under state law, Sec. of State Michael Howlett can direct that the new license plates, green on a white background, not be put on cars until Nov. 1 or later. State police said they did not receive notice until Nov. 4 that the display period was to begin Dec. 1. Since they did not receive the notice by Nov. 1, state police said, they will not ticket cars with plates already on their cars. Late Friday afternoon, the secretary of state's office sent out a notice cautioning motorists not to display their plates before Dec. 1.

More control over funds urged

State Rep. Thaddeus Lechowicz said Friday he thinks the legislature should have more control over federal funds spent by state agencies. Lechowicz, a Chicago Democrat, is chairman of the Illinois Economic and Fiscal Commission and the House Appropriations Committee. He has been mentioned as a potential candidate for speaker if the Chicago delegation tries to oust Speaker William Redmond, D-Bensenville. Lechowicz said when the Illinois Commission on Intergovernmental Cooperation tried to determine how much federal money the state got last year, it got different reports from the agencies, the Bureau of the Budget, the comptroller and the state treasurer. The various reports could not be reconciled, he said.

Mikva leading, are "unofficial, but 99.99 per cent accurate."

Kusper's petition will be reviewed by Circuit Court Judge Helen F. McGillicuddy at 2 p.m. Monday. Mikva and Young are expected to respond to Kusper's request then.

Kusper said he also intends to inform all other candidates who may be interested in the absentee ballots. While no other election contest appears to hinge on the count of the absentee ballots, Kusper said he wants all candidates notified.

He said he expects either Mikva or Young to contest the final court decision.

"It depends on whose ox is gored," Kusper quipped.

KUSPER EXPLAINED that the 2,669 uncounted absentee ballots were collected from the post office about 1:30 p.m. Nov. 2, but it was not possible to sort the ballots and deliver them to the polling places before 6 p.m.

Kusper said his office has never attempted to obtain, sort and deliver ballots that late on election day previously. He said that in past elections in similar situations, absentee ballots went uncounted.

Besides his court action regarding this election, he said he intends to ask the Illinois General Assembly to revise the election law to allow for a centralizied counting system for absentee ballots. He said the centralized system would eliminate the need to transport the absentee ballots to polling places for tabulation.

Young was not present for Friday's developments.

Mikva's aides said they did not plan to issue a victory statement based on the new vote totals in the race

Count absentee votes in 10th, Kusper says

County Clerk Stanley T. Kusper Friday said there are 821 uncounted absentee ballots from Wheeling Township that he wants counted and added to Tuesday's election results.

Kusper's announcement regarding the Wheeling Township ballots came as he attempted to unravel the confusing situation regarding the deadlocked 10th Congressional race between U.S. Rep. Abner J. Mikva and Democrat Samuel H. Young.

Kusper has received numerous calls from area election judges who complained they did not receive absentee ballots that they knew were cast before Nov. 2 in the polling places.

State election law requires the absentee ballots to be counted in the polling place by election judges.

Kusper went to court Friday seeking to have counted all the untallied absentee ballots received by his office by Tuesday and not delivered to polling places by 6 p.m. Nov. 2.

Another hearing will be held Monday on Kusper's court request.

Dist. 25 PTA in canvass of preschool children

Arlington Heights Dist. 25 PTA members are going door-to-door to count the number of preschool children living in the district.

The board of education will use the data in considering school closings in January, said Gerald Williams, Dist. 25 director of administration and planning.

The board hopes the head count will validate enrollment projections which show the district's current student population of 7,291 declining to 6,853 by the 1977-78 school year, Williams said.

THE DISTRICT'S PTA conducted a similar canvass last year and counted 2,890 preschoolers, 725 of whom started kindergarten this year.

"Their head count proved much closer to actuality than the enrollment projections we had, but we had no idea how well their figures would hold up for another year," Williams said. "This way we'll find out without waiting until next Labor Day."

Current projections show the district's enrollment declining 41 per cent in the coming decade with no end in sight. Supt. Donald Strong has said it is getting increasingly difficult to maintain all of the district's schools because of the enrollment drop.

If schools are to be closed, a decision will have to be made by March or April, Board Pres. Joan Klussman said.

Plans to be considered call for closing either one elementay school and one junior high school and maintaining current grade level organization or closing two junior highs and placing kindergarten through sixth grade students in elementary school and seventh and eighth grade students in junior high.

Mental health group to rent part of hall

The Northwest Mental Health Assn. will rent a portion of the new Wheeling Township Hall, 1640 N. Arlington Heights Rd., Arlington Heights, for the next 10 years.

Eighteen persons at a special public meeting Wednesday on the rental agreement decided to let the mental health association rent half of the second floor of the new building at a cost of $40,000 for 10 years.

Construction of the township hall will be completed in December.

Coach Small 'a pretty good guy'

Art Small

again." The boy made the catch on his second try, Yohe says, and scored his touchdown.

And then there's the story of Leadfoot Louie.

Louie, it seems, was a dedicated but ponderous lineman on offense. Art Small didn't think Louie was having enough fun, so he designed a special play.

Small would stack all of the Bear receivers and backs on one side of the field, leaving Louie at his tackle position at the other end of the line. When the defense countered by flooding one side of the field, Louie lumbered into the vacant territory to catch a pass. He usually gained a few yards.

MORE SOPHISTICATED fans might call it the tackle-eligible play, but it's known as the "Louie the Leadfoot play" around the neighborhood gridirons in Elk Grove Village.

Like any good coach, Small took pains to ensure that his boys were equipped properly, Yohe says. But he added his personal touch to that job, too, by hand-painting symbols on the helmets.

Last month, the football association dedicated a Saturday to Art Small, raised $415 in concessions and donations, chipped in $85 of its own money and set up a scholarship fund for Small's son, Kurt, a high school student in Chicago.

Beneath all the fond memories, though, lies one final mystery: What happened to Art Small, a 39-year-old tennis buff in apparent good health, on the day that he ran out of time to give to his boys?

Snuff boxes: lots of history in a small space

with Grace Carolyn

One of the vices many are trying to overcome is the use of tobacco, but this is a habit with roots not in antiquity. In fact, the use of tobacco for smoking, chewing, sniffing, etc., has been known for about only 400 years. Before that time (but only since about the Christian era) smoke from incense was used as offering to gods and for various other turn-ons, but as a social phenomenon, tobacco is a fairly recent happening.

Something else I learned in my research for today's column is that tobacco was once considered a curative — and for all things — cancer! It was also highly recommended for diseases of the respiratory tract. Recently I read, too, that tobacco may possibly become a source of food protein.

As one of those obnoxious persons who has quit and wants everyone else to do the same, I hope they can find some good use for tobacco. One interesting sidelight is the collecting of snuff boxes. Snuff is powdered tobacco, used by French court dandies as well as lesser folk, who snuffed it up the nostrils, thereby achieving, I suppose, some sort of euphoria or pleasant "high."

IN LATE YEARS SNUFF was chewed or held in the corner of the mouth rather like chewing tobacco. My husband's Swedish uncles swear by their Copenhagen "Snus" and their answer to the question "How are you?" is often answered "Feent sum snus," meaning "Fine as snuff." (The spelling may be wrong; any Scandinavians out there can correct me.)

The snuff box became a necessary accoutrement to the habit of snuff sniffing, both for home and pocket carrying. Snuff was enjoyed by both sexes, and that is probably why some of the elaborately decorated boxes are found today.

During the years of the mid-18th century, snuff dipping became an almost universal habit, outranking smoking in popularity. Even the undergraduates at Oxford and Cambridge gave up smoking in favor of snuffing. Snuff was purchased in the form of a solid roll called a carotte, and the roll was rubbed against a grater to produce the powder which was collected into the box.

Pocket rasps and boxes ranged from the very ordinary to the most elaborately decorated sort, made from every material imaginable, including wood, ivory, gold, pewter, horn, brass and silver.

THE VARIETY OF SHAPES is almost endless, too, and they are sometimes difficult to tell from other small boxes used for such items as ladies' face patches and cosmetics, pins, pills, and candies. Lids had to be tight, and so many ingenious devices were invented for fasteners to keep the snuff from drying out. Often a box was reportedly carved from the wood of a famous tree, such as Shakespeare's mulberry at Stratford or Robin Hood's oak. These stories are stretched beyond the point of credulity, rather like the number of beds George Washington slept in!

Apprentices of various trades made boxes in the shape of their product or profession, such as shoes by shoemakers, hats by haberdashers, barrels by coopers, etc. A famous innovation was the Laurencekirk snuff box with an internal flange hinge, making the box virtually airtight. A snuff mull was a length of natural horn with a pewter or other stopper.

I've always been intrigued with little boxes. There is a Pandora-like fascination always present when opening a box, and a collection of such miniature containers takes up very little space, may be found in a variety of shapes and types and may be the very thing you're looking for to collect. Prices have gone up, it's true, but an occasional bargain is still possible. May all your collecting days be "feent sum snus."

(If you have questions, please write Grace Carolyn Dahlberg, in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006, enclosing SASE.)

Weddings

Bonita Morgano-Richard Young

A 4 p.m. wedding Oct. 2 in Arlington Heights Evangelical Free Church united Bonita Jean Morgano of Schaumburg and Richard Alan Young of Palatine.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Young

The couple's parents are the Del Morganos and the Wilbur Youngs.

After the candlelight ceremony the newlyweds were feted at a dinner reception for 160 at Brookwood Country Club, Wood Dale. They then left for a 10-day honeymoon in the British Virgin Islands.

Now living in Palatine, Bonnie is employed by United Airlines, Elk Grove Village and Rick by Holst Construction Co., Lombard.

She is a graduate of York Community High and attended Texas Christian University. Her husband attended Palatine High and Buena Vista College in Iowa.

ON HER WEDDING day, Bonnie wore a white organza gown richly appliqued with a lily of the valley pattern of lace. The same lace was scalloped on the edge of her chapel-length veil, and a lace cap held the veil in place. She carried pink roses, white carnations, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Her attendants, all gowned alike in persimmon, included Mrs. Roger Erber, Des Plaines, as matron of honor and bridesmaids Lyn Young, Rick's sister; Mrs. Fred Hjerstedt, Lake Zurich; Mrs. Otis Jones, Austin, Tex.; and Mrs. Daniel Riordan, the bride's sister from Chicago. There was also a junior bridesmaid, Amy Recka of Lisle, who is a niece of the bride.

Two other nieces, Dawn Recka, Lisle, and Julianna Snowden, Dallas, were flower girls and Dawn's brother, Bradley, was candlelighter.

Serving the groom were Roger Erber, Des Plaines, as best man and as groomsmen John Schell, Des Plaines; Fred Hjertstedt, Lake Zurich; Paul Bambach, Elgin; and Donny Solin, Melrose Park.

Joy Agger–G. Mitchell

Joy Ann Agger's bridegroom, Greg A. Mitchell, is an intern minister at Calvary Temple in Denver, Colo., where she and Greg are now residing. A graduate of Forest View High and a '76 graduate of Metropolitan State College in Denver, Joy is employed at Colorado Christian School in Denver.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray K. Agger, Mount Prospect, and Greg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix A. Mitchell, Denver. While an intern, Greg is studying at Metropolitan State and also at Rockmont Bible College, also in Denver.

Their 7 p.m. double ring wedding and reception took place Sept. 25 in Calvary Temple, after which they honeymooned in Vail, Colo.

JOY CHOSE Judy Palmer, Rolling Meadows, as her maid of honor, and her sisters, Pamela Agger, Mount Prospect, and Diane Robertson, Houston, were bridesmaids. Nikki Mitchell, sister of the groom, and Donna DeRuiter, both of Denver, were also bridesmaids.

Cindy Dugger, 5, Denver, was flower girl, and the groom's cousin, Jamie Mitchell, was ring bearer. Best man was Ron Olive, and groomsmen were Douglas Holen, Bob Becker, Alan Anderud and Roger Anderson, all of Denver. Ushers were the bride's brother, Jay, and three Denver friends, Jim Tomlin, Dan Sabo and Steve Grasmick.

Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Bauske

Barbara Dickinson–Brooks Bauske

Long Grove United Church of Christ was the setting for the Oct. 2 wedding of an Arlington Heights couple, Barbara Dickinson and Brooks Bauske. The bride is the daughter of the Robert Dickinsons and the groom the son of the Norman Bauskes.

For the 5 p.m. candlelight ceremony, Brooks' brother, Brent, played the organ and piano, and his band played for the dinner reception for 200 which followed at the Camelot Restaurant, Des Plaines.

Six attendants preceded Barbara down the aisle, all attired in sky blue, matte jersey halter gowns with matching peplum jackets.

They wore horsehair picture hats trimmed with blue ribbons and carried blue-tipped carnations with yellow roses and baby's breath.

THE BRIDE CHOSE a white chiffon gown with pin-tucked yoke and full sleeves and with Brussels lace accenting the Empire lines. A picture hat edged in lace and a long veil completed her attire, and she carried a cascade of orchids, yellow roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Maid of honor was Lin Gerler, Arlington Heights, and bridesmaids included the bride's sister-in-law, Elyse Dickinson, Hillside; the groom's sister, Bridjet; and Jody Chambers, Connie Golbeck and Carol Kamps, all of Arlington Heights.

Ken Massa, Rolling Meadows, served as best man. Groomsmen were the bride's brother, Bob, of Hillside, and Ken Martin, Bernie Golbeck, Kerry Nielsen and Don Becker, all of Arlington Heights.

The groom's brothers, Brice and Brock, seated the wedding guests.

The newlyweds had a 10-day honeymoon in Hawaii before returning to make their home in Palatine.

Both are graduates of Arlington High and attended Harper College. Barbara works for Paddock Publications, Arlington Heights, and Brooks for Kar-go Repair Center, Elk Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. Vern K. Fish

Cynthia Regas–Vern K. Fish

Following their Sept. 25 wedding and a two-week honeymoon in southern California, Cynthia V. Regas and her bridegroom, Vern. K. Fish, are residing in Clarendon Hills.

Married in St. James Catholic Church, Arlington Heights, Cindy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hanley, Mount Prospect, and Vern is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Fish, Prairie View. Both Cindy and Vern are graduates of Wheeling High. Cindy also studied at Harper College and was graduated from Illinois State in '76. Vern was graduated from Northwestern University, also in '76.

FOR THE 2:30 p.m., double ring service Cindy chose her sister, Pamela, as maid of honor, and her sister, Victoria, as one of the bridesmaids. Judy Marciciak and Francine Spores, Mount Prospect, and Connie Dolan, Palatine, were also bridesmaids. Wayne Fish, Springfield, was his brother's best man, and ushers were his brother, Paul of Normal; Robert Feldmann, St. Louis, Mo.; James Ziah, Skokie; and Gary Lyp, Mount Prospect.

A reception for 160 guests was held in the Camelot Restaurant, Des Plaines. Vern is employed by Union Carbide, Hinsdale, and Cindy by National Tea, Northbrook.

Gail Gagliano-Wm. Seiler

Yellow and white was the color scheme for the Oct. 3 wedding of Gail Gagliano, daugher of Mr. and Mrs. Carmie Gagliano, and William Seiler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Venlos.

Both families reside in Arlington Heights, and both the bride and groom are graduates of Hersey High School. Gail is now a waitress at Eros Restaurant, Arlington Heights, and her bridegroom works for U. S. Messenger Delivery Service, Chicago.

They exchanged vows and rings at 3:30 p.m. in St. James Catholic Church and then greeted 150 guests at a dinner reception at Allegretti's Four Horseman in Rosemont.

THE BRIDAL attendants were gowned in yellow matte jersey with matching capes and carried yellow and white roses and carnations in a colonial arrangement. Ellen Mertz, Arlington Heights, served as maid of honor, with Donna Segretto, the bride's cousin from Chicago, Marcy Shavon, Chicago, Dawn Bays, Palatine, and the groom's sister, Pam, as bridesmaids.

Eight-year-old Sharon Ehrhardt of Glenview, another cousin of the bride, was flower girl, wearing a yellow organza dress trimmed in Venise lace.

Mr. and Mrs. William Seiler

Gail chose a bridal gown of white silk organza with an Alencon lace bodice and a fingertip mantilla veil edged in matching lace. Her bouquet was of light yellow roses with white carnations.

The groom's attendants included Gail's cousin, Richard Desimone of Arlington Heights, as best man and as groomsmen Gail's brother, Tony, the groom's brothers, Pete and Ray, and Bob Trampf of Palatine.

The newlyweds are living in Arlington Heights after a two-week honeymoon in Florida.

Lyn Walscheid–Scott E. Carter

After they were married Sept. 25, Lynn Walscheid of Barrington and Scott Edward Carter of Buffalo Grove left on a two-week auto trip to Florida for their honeymoon.

They exchanged vows and rings by candlelight in Bethel Lutheran Church, Palatine, and then greeted 150 guests at the Plum Grove Club nearby.

Parents of the couple are the Arthur Walscheids and the George Edward Carters. Lynn is a graduate of Buffalo Grove High School and Scott of Wheeling High.

THEY ARE living in Vernon Hills until their home in Cary is ready for occupancy. The bride works for Allstate Insurance Co., Northbrook, and the groom is self-employed as a painter.

Kim Stickrod, Wheeling, was Lynn's maid of honor for the 5 p.m. ceremony. Bridesmaids were Sandra Lee, Scott's sister; Chris Schumann, Deerfield; and Sandra Carter, Park Ridge, the groom's sister-in-law.

Leigh Carter, Park Ridge, was his brother's best man, and serving as groomsmen were Wayne Burditt, his brother-in-law from Vernon Hills; Bill Pickler, Wheeling; and Barry Birkholz, Arlington Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott E. Carter

Susan Goodling–Robert D. Mills

First Baptist Church in Cleveland, Miss., was the setting for the marriage Oct. 10 of Susan Marie Goodling and Robert Douglas Mills.

Susan Marie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Goodling, Mount Prospect, and a graduate of Forest View High School and Rhode Island School of Design, Providence, with a bachelor of fine arts degree.

Robert is the son of Otho S. Mills, Hattiesburg, Miss., and the late Mrs. Bobby Jean Mills. He also has a bachelor of fine arts degree from Delta State University in Cleveland, where the couple now are living and working.

FOR THE DOUBLE ring 5 p.m. ceremony Susan Marie wore an ivory chiffon gown with square neckline, capelike sleeves and fashioned in five graduated tiers. She wore no veil but carried a bouquet of red Sweetheart rosebuds.

Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Jeffrey Rueble of Island Lake, Ill., who wore an emerald green jersey knit gown with Empire waist and long sleeves. She carried white Sweetheart rosebuds.

Ronald Mills of Philadelphia Miss., was his brother's best man, and their grandmother, Mrs. J. C. Barrett of Philadelphia, was among the wedding guests.

A dinner at the Holiday Inn in Cleveland followed the wedding. The couple spent their honeymoon in New Orleans.

Cupid's Deadlines:

Engagements due at least six weeks before wedding date.

Marriages due three weeks after wedding for complete story; five weeks after wedding for brief story.

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Doctor gives facts on multiple myeloma

Four years ago the doctors discovered I had multiple myeloma. They explained there was no cure for this type of cancer, and I have been on chemotherapy since.

Sometimes I am on complete bed rest, either at home or in the hospital. Other times I can be up and around doing light housework. I have very little strength, getting tired to the point of exhaustion from very little activity. I have to get a lot of rest all the time. Even at my best I have to force myself. I have a lot of pain and nausea.

I understand the life expectancy is usually not much over five years. My white count is around 2800 to 3000 and my hemoglobin around 10. What happens at the end? Do I spend months in the hospital? Or do I just go into a coma? Anything you can tell me about this type of cancer would be appreciated.

Multiple myeloma is considered as a form of cancer. It is a lot more common than it used to be and the outlook is better, too. Some patients go into remissions without any problems for years. So just having the diagnosis does not mean that there is no hope.

Every case is different and your doctor, familiar with how you have responded to treatment, will have the best idea about your individual outlook.

Multiple myeloma does cause bone destruction. There is apparently a presymptomatic stage, perhaps as long as 20 years in some patients. In that stage the diagnosis is made on the basis of a type of protein found in the urine with this disease. The first symptom is usually bone pain, sometimes with a fracture. The typical bone lesions are discovered and the diagnosis made.

Anemia is a common associated finding. It is an unusual form as it does not respond to iron, B-12, folic acid or liver. Often the patient adjusts to a mild anemia and I would assume you have. With more severe anemias blood transfusions are sometimes necessary.

The white count may be depressed as in your case. The level you now report is no great threat. The white count can also be depressed from treatment with chemotherapy or radiation. Radiation is particularly useful for localized areas of involvement.

YOU CAN HELP prevent kidney complications. Because of the bone destruction there is a release of lots of calcium. This needs to be washed out. All patients with multiple myeloma should be sure to drink plenty of fluids. Be sure you are passing adequate amounts of urine around the clock and that you drink enough to be sure that you do.

Staying active is helpful. It is better to get back to near normal living, avoiding straining or lifting. Those who can stay active and keep the fluids moving do the best. Bed rest can be harmful. For more information on this I am sending you The Health Letter number 6-6, Effects of Inactivity, Including Bed Rest. Others who want this information can send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with 50 cents for it. Send your letter to me in care of Paddock Publications, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

The end can be by any number of complications. Sudden bleeding could occur as a complication. Kidney involvement can be a major problem. Most often an overwhelming infection, particularly pneumonia, occurs and the body isn't able to marshal its defenses. For this reason it is wise to avoid exposure to infectious illnesses if possible.

How to carry briefcase if you're on crutches

We're going to see crutches more in evidence as the unfortunate among the skiing set hobble about. So here's a tip for the men among them — those men, at any rate, who are going to be frustrated in handling both crutches and briefcases simultaneously. The brief case problem can be handled by getting a pair of paint hooks from a paint supply house — the hooks professional painters use on which to hang their brushes. They can be fitted over the bar of a crutch and any briefcase can be hung securely over the hooks. Here's hoping it doesn't happen in your family, but if it does . . .

Dear Dorothy: I was cleaning a hardwood floor — on which my dogs had slobbered — with a solution containing a degreaser and left for a break. Made the mistake of leaving the bucket on a towl on the floor. On returning, I found it had leaked. Wiped the area quickly with a damp cloth, but there is still a whitened section. Waxing hasn't helped. What can I do to restore the appearance to this floor? — Mrs. J. Edward Bader Sponge the area with a piece of toweling barely dampened with denatured alcohol (or rubbing alcohol), going with the grain. Allow to dry. Then go over the section again if it needs it.

Dear Dorothy: My daughter decided to re-do her room and get all the stickers off her door. Heard that salad dressing would work on this sort of thing so she spread it on the stickers. They peeled off easily, with not a mark left to tell where they were. — Helen Morrison.

Dear Dorothy: This is to add to everybody's lore on the care and handling of honeydew melons. Following all the "rules," I bought a lovely-looking one. The stem end yielded just a tiny bit. A week later the stem end hadn't changed and even though the melon was a bit more fragrant, I was uneasy about cutting into it. Consulted the co-operative fruit and vegetable manager. He said to shake the melon real hard — that if I could feel the seeds rattling it was ready to be refrigerated. He was right. Best melon we've ever had. — Jane Arneson

By coincidence, two letters arrived this week from readers who baked batches of brownies too long. The way to solve this kind of problem is to cut the brownies in squares, put them in a large cookie box and add a large leaf of washed lettuce (half-wrapped in a piece of foil). It will take several hours, but the brownies will emerge at the ideal state of softness.

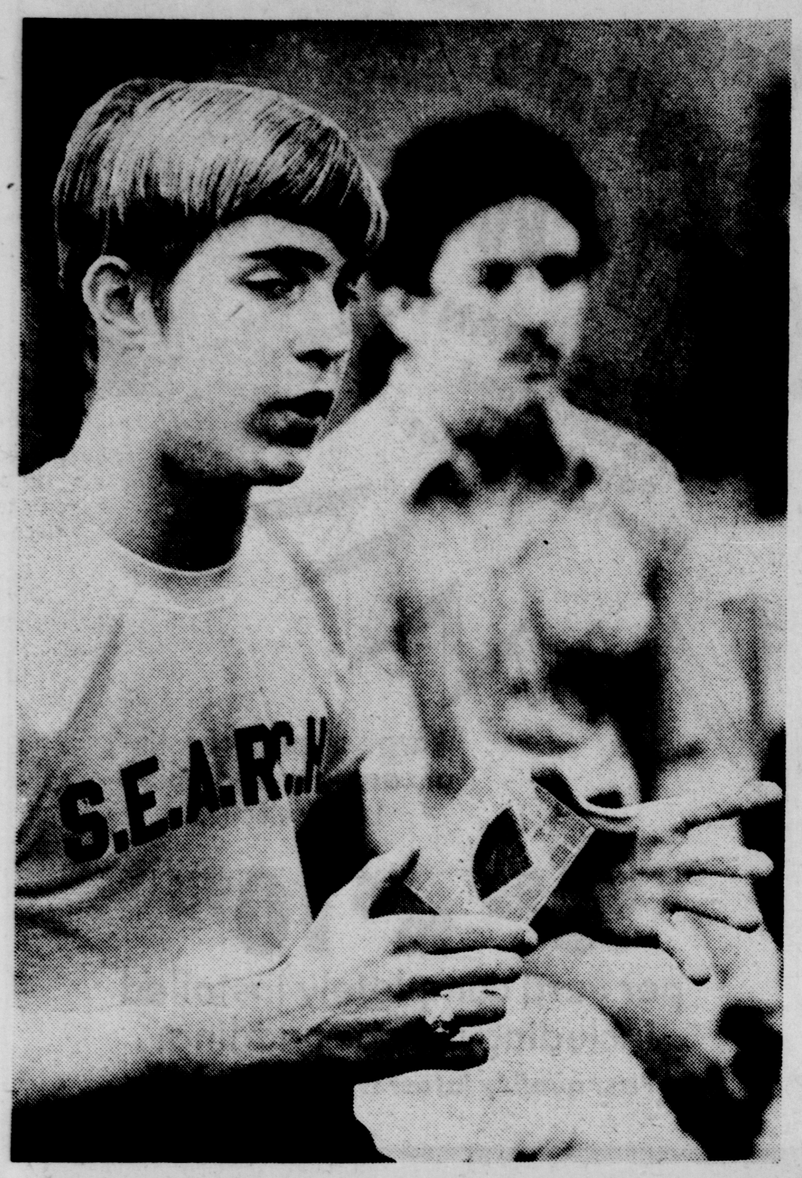
Group fuels search for solar energy



HARPER STUDENT Jeff Strnad is a solar energy buff who believes solar-heated homes could be built across the country if the federal government would provide the needed aid money. Strnad has started a solar energy club at Harper this year.

by JOHN N. FRANK

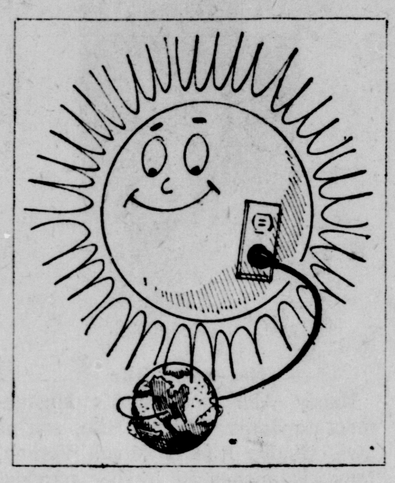
The sun has always held a fascination for mankind. The ancients worshipped it while humanity today seeks to harness its rays to replace a dwindling supply of fossil fuels.

At Harper College in Palatine, about 40 students are joining in the quest by forming a club which will provide information on solar energy and eventually build a solar house on campus.

"Since high school, I've seen fuel prices go up and up. There's got to be some way to cut that back," says club president Jeff Strnad.

Strnad became interested in solar energy while he was a chemical engineering student at the University of Tulsa. He worked on constructing solar-heated houses and decided to discontinue his engineering studies to learn more about solar architecture.

"Solar energy has always been a fascination of mine — now there's a good practical use for it," says Strnad. He says he believes homes can run on solar energy and not cost much more than today's homes.



"I've always been a hot water buff," Strnad says in explaining his theories on how solar homes can be built.

The sun's rays can be used to heat water which can be converted to steam and heat a home while at the same time charging batteries used as a backup system, Strnad says.

The Arlington High School alumnus plans to build solar homes when he finishes his architectural technology studies at Harper, but at the moment he's working to get the new club, the Solar Energy & Alternate Resources Club at Harper which members call SEARCH, — off the ground.

Club members already have taken part in solar energy seminars and are preparing a slide show and other visual aids for use in lectures.

Strnad says area schools have been contacted by club members offering to give such lectures. The club also is willing to speak to other interested groups.

"Our job is mainly to make the public aware of what solar is," Strnad says. Club members are contacting authors of solar energy literature to build a solar library, he says.

"There are unlimited possibilities and uses for solar energy," says John Lytle, club treasurer.

The club hopes to demonstrate some of the possibilities by building a model solar home and eventually constructing an A-frame solar house on Harper's campus, Lytle says.

Strnad says such houses could become commonplace if the government made a commitment to solar research.

"If the government allocated enough (money) we could have the whole United States covered with solar houses by the year 2000," he says.

Meanwhile, Strnad and his fellow solar enthusiasts will lobby their cause before community in pursuit of the day when they can build their solar houses and fulfill mankind's dream of harnessing the sun.

From Nevada 'pros'

Jersey to take gambling lessons

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Nevada, gambling capital of the United States, is worried about legal casinos in Atlantic City — not as a challenge to its lucrative position as chief dealer to the nation's moneyflingers, but as a potential embarrassment.

The worry here:

New Jersey's experienced gangsters might get the jump on its inexperienced state government.

Nevada officials and gambling operators say they have little to fear financially from establishment of legal gambling on the East Coast.

BUT THEY WORRY about criminals getting into New Jersey's gambling operations — which a top Nevada official described as "pretty hairy" now — and tainting the entire industry, possibly provoking a federal crackdown that would engulf Nevada.

That possibility also appeared to have occurred to New Jersey officials, who say they are going to ask for advice from some experienced hands — Nevada's.

The concern voiced by Nevada gambling regulators was only one reaction to the passage by New Jersey voters of an initiative to legalize casinos in the faded resort on the Atlantic.

Others included joy in such widely separated places as Wall Street (stock in slot machine companies took off) and Hollywood (Atlantic City will be a new market for the many entertainers who make most of their money playing Las Vegas.).

The National Commission on Gambling gave Nevada's closely regulated industry "a triple A report card," noted Peter Echeverria, chairman of may bring the national authorities into the picture."

In Trenton, the New Jersey Commission of Investigation, at the urging of Gov. Brendan Byrne, Thursday said it has already begun investigating organized crime figures the Nevada Gaming Commission.

BUT, HE SAID, "If some other state goes into it half baked they can cause a lot of adverse publicity and they that may try to move into Atlantic City, and intends to consult both Nevada and foreign authorities for advice on how to police legal gambling.

"New Jersey has to assume a tremendous responsibility now," Echeverria said. "I don't think they should be operating for some time until they get some kind of control."

"FROM EVERYTHING I read and hear about it the operators are moving faster than the state of New Jersey . . . They've apprently got people buying hotels and things like that and I'm not aware of any investigations going on. It looks pretty hairy to me."

Hotel and casino operators doubted Atlantic City would hurt their business, noting that only 12 per cent of gamblers arriving in Las Vegas last year were from the east coast. California alone provides 55 per cent of Las Vegas' tourists.

Thompson confesses dream to be president

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican Gov.-elect James R. Thompson of Illinois said Friday he is from a generation in which "every boy's dream" was to become president and that he's no exception.

"I'm not reticent about that," he said.

Thompson, who overwhelmed a Democrat, Michael J. Howlett, who was backed by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley in Tuesday's election, said his goal would be to be "a good governor" with the hope that "the system" would reward him with higher office.

"Unless I'm a good governor of Illinois, I'm not going anywhere," he said. "If I am a good governor and the system moves me along, that's fine."

Thompson, who will become the Republican official with the largest constituency, was asked about his presidential ambitions after speaking at a meeting of the Political Affairs Council.

WHILE HE MADE no secret of his hopes to win the GOP presidential nomination in 1980, Thompson said his first task would be to succeed in his two-year term as governor.

"I can't be a good governor in Illinois, if I have one eye on the White House," he said.

In his speech, Thompson gave much of the credit for his victory to the fact Howlett was not only closely linked with Daley but closely resembles the mayor.

"The issue this year was Daley," Thompson said. "Daley has been an issue for 20 years, but no Democratic candidate has ever looked, walked, and talked just like Daley until this one."

Thompson came to public attention in Chicago when, as a U.S. attorney for four years, he won convictions of many of Daley's closest associates.

THOMPSON TOLD reporters the defeat of Howlett and other Daley candidates had "wounded" the 74-year-old mayor.

"But don't count him out," he said.

Thompson said he had no interest in trying to get rid of the Daley organization, saying "dismantling the Daley machine isn't gong to help the Republican party."

He said, however, he would try "to dismantle wasteful state agencies . . . that are not responsive to peoples' needs."

In describing his successful campaign, Thompson said he had made "no promises," but had tried to identify with the people — particularly in Southern Illinois, which he noted as "closer to Mississippi than to Chicago."

IN DOING SO, he said, he had carefully avoided creating a "phony image."

The effort, he said, included trying to "symbolize" his views.

As an example, he said, he tried to symbolize his opposition to gun control legislation by buying a shotgun and a dog and "making sure everybody knew about it."

Cop applicants show high degree of previous pot use

HOUSTON (UPI) — Finding qualified police applicants who have not smoked marijuana is becoming more difficult, according to Houston's chief police recruiter.

"Asking a guy who has come back from Vietnam if he smoked marijuana is like asking him if he smoked Salems," said Deputy Chief Harry Caldwell.

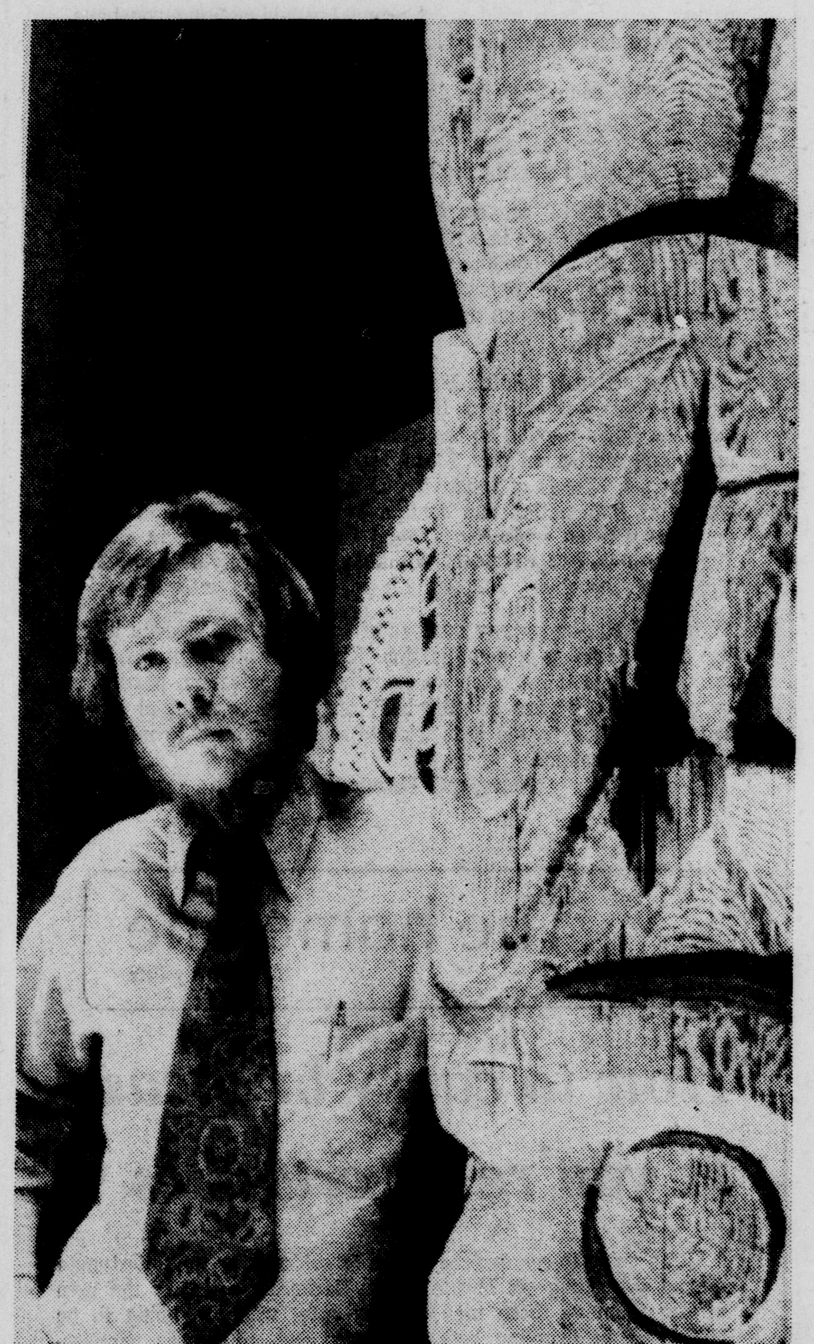
Caldwell, who said he had no official figures, said the number of police applicants who admit they have had some experience with marijuana has increased markedly in the past few years.

HE SAID THE department, which historically has frowned on men and women who admit ever having smoked pot, is adjusting acceptance guidelines to reflect the change.

"The past restrictions were much more stringent than they are now," he said. "They are being modified continuously to try to reflect the country's social mores.

"Just because a kid has experimented with marijuana does not necessarily mean he would not be selected for the academy. The percentage of applicants who have used marijuana would reflect the same percentage from the general population."

Caldwell said the department automatically excludes persons with drug-selling convictions or who admit redcent and continuing experience with pot or any experience at all with hard drugs.



TOTIN' IT HOME must have been a chore, but Troy Armstrong, a social science instructor at Mundelein College, and his wife Judy can boast about having what is believed to be the Midwest's only Nootka totem pole. Armstrong's wife found the 20-foot, 300-pound conversation piece at an antique shop in Franklin, Ill.

Happy wanderer's travels end

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — They buried Maud Parrish the other day. What she died from was 98 years of living. But it was a life to remember.

"Oh, what a grand party!" she said often of her fearless gallivanting — in which she played banjo for prospectors in Alaska saloons in the 1890s, ran a gambling club in Peking at the turn of the century and rode a wooden springless bus across Southeast Asia in her 70s.

Broke and sick in Persia in 1939, she took up an offer by publisher J. B. Lippincott to write her memoirs, and titled them "Nine Pounds Of Luggage" — the most she ever carried.

MAUD WAS BORN on San Francisco's Russian Hill in 1878 when "there was nothing much there but goats," and, as a young dark-haired beauty, her family wanted her to marry well and be a concert pianist.

There were two problems. Her hands were too small for a serious piano career, and her marriage at 16 to a "rich man's boy" bored her stiff, "so I packed up my banjo and headed for the Yukon."

, MAUD PARRISH

A liberated woman from then on, Maud circled the world 16 times, made and spent fortunes recklessly and played piano "in all the dives of the world" when money ran out.

She once wore a wreath of gold nuggets from the Yukon in her tresses. The nuggets went to further her travels. "Pawned in Monaco, as I remember," she said.

ANOTHER TIME, in Egypt, two friends gave her $10,000 to return home to regain her health. "I boarded a boat and traveled up and down the Nile until the money ran out. Then out came the banjo."

The wanderlust never left her. And mysterious places attracted her most, Inner Mongolia. The Galapagos Islands. Samarkand. The Brazilian jungles. The Burma Road.

Five years ago, she told a friend, "I could weep with sorrow when I see people with money who only keep it in a bank. What interest they could draw till their dying day from vivid memories of nature's handiwork."

Maud Parrish died in a convalescent home with a fortune in memories.

Increase nationwide

State jobless rate drops to 7.4%

The unemployment rate in the state and the Chicago metropolitan area dropped .2 per cent to 7.4 per cent during October from September.

These figures contrast the .1 per cent increase in the national unemployment rate to 7.9 per cent, state and federal labor departments reported Friday.

The Illinois Labor Dept. said 375,600 persons were unemployed in Illinois last month compared to 384,500 in September. The statewide unemployment rate for October was down from 7.6 per cent in September, the department said.

Unemployment in the six-county Chicago metropolitan area also stood at 7.4 per cent, with 236,000 persons on unemployment rolls. The area reported 7.6 per cent unemployment — with 241,900 persons out of work —in September.

The state's highest unemployment rate — 8.7 per cent — was in the East St. Louis area, where an estimated 21,800 persons were out of work. The figure was up from 8.4 per cent in September.

ROCKFORD reported 8.2 per cent unemployment, up substantially from the 7.4 per cent rate reported for September.

The unemployment rate remained unchanged in Bloomington-Normal at 4.2 per cent — lowest in the state.

Champaign-Urbana reported 4.4 per cent unemployment — up three-tenths of 1 per cent from September.

The U.S. unemployment rate has held stubbornly high over the past four months, fluctuating in a narrow range between 7.8 per cent and 7.9 per cent. October's .1 per cent increase boosted it again to the year's highest level set in August.

"The pause seems to be lasting longer than we anticipated," Press Sec. Ron Nessen said at the White House.

JULIUS SHISKIN of the Bureau of Labor Statistics acknowledged in testimony before the Joint Economic Committee that a continuation of this "pause" could lead to another recession.

He was asked by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., "Isn't it the inescapable conclusion that we've made no real progress fighting unemployment this year — in fact, we're sliding backward?"

"I think that's right," Shiskin replied.

The administration has consistently opposed government-financed measures to stimulate hiring. Although President-elect JimmyCarter expects to change that policy, he faces many pitfalls as he seeks to fulfill his promise of full employment by 1980.

One of the problems is the threat of renewed inflation apparent in a Labor Dept. report Thursday showing that industrial prices rose a full 1 per cent in October.

About 7.6 million persons were unemployed last month, an increase of around 185,000 caused in large part by several major industrial strikes. About 100,000 persons were on strike, almost half of them employes of the Ford Motor Co.

JOBLESSNESS among adult men rose to 6.3 per cent, higher than any previous month in 1976. Males in the 20-24 age bracket bore the brunt of that increase.

Blacks, women and teenagers also suffered increased unemployment. Yet joblessness remained steady for household heads and declined slightly among married men.

The number of Americans forced by economic hardship to work in part-time jobs also increased slightly to 3.5 million, the highest level since last January.

About 87.8 million American workers held jobs, but there was continued evidence in October that a rapid expansion of employment had cooled. More than 200,000 jobs have been lost over the past two months.

Factory jobs declined by 145,000 in October, wiping out an identical gain during September.

Chrysler, UAW agree on contract

Chrysler Corp. and the United Auto Workers union announced agreement just minutes before a strike deadline Friday on a tentative national contract for 109,000 production workers in the United States and Canada. They extended a 6 p.m. strike deadline and continued neogiations on a separate pact for 9,000 salaried employes in both countries.

UAW Vice President Douglas Fraser and Chrysler Industrial Relations Vice President William O'Brien said the new three-year agreement closely followed the pattern-setting contract worked out in a four-week strike against the Ford Motor Co. Both said it was a fair agreement. Job-saving protection was the key UAW goal for Chrysler workers who saw layoffs climb above the 50,000 mark — 44 per cent of the firm's labor force — during the company's two-year slump. Fraser said the new pact corrects many of the "frailties"in the old contract.

Gas production prices hiked

Saying it is to the consumers' benefit, the Federal Power Commission adopted sharply higher natural gas production prices Friday, changing only slightly the rates first announced in July. "We remain firmly convinced that the net impact of this decision is to benefit energy consumers by fostering the development of additional supplies of still relatively inexpensive natural gas," the FPC said. Because the producers' price is only a fraction of the householder's gas bill, the impact on the average gas consumer is relatively low. The commission estimated the average home's bill will go up by $15 to $19 over the next 12 months. Specific information on the projected change in customer bills following the new order should be available Monday, a Northern Illinois Gas Co. official said Friday.

UAW, Deere reach initial pact

Negotiators for the United Auto Workers and Deere and Co. reaced tentative agreement in Moline, Ill., Friday on a new contract covering 27,000 workers who have been on strike for 36 days. The agreement was announced by UAW Vice President Pat Greathouse, who said exact contract language had yet to be worked out. He said he anticipated no trouble on the wording. Once the wording has been settled, the new three-year pact will be submitted for rank-and-file ratification Sunday and Monday, he said.

'18 million jobs needed'

An industrial executive said Friday the nation needs to create 18 million new jobs by 1985 to keep the unemployment rate at 5 per cent, and increased spending on research and development is essential to reach the goal. Dr. Thomas A. Vanderslice, vice president and group executive of General Electric's special systems and products group, said expenditures for research and development, "the 'seed corn' of our technology, have been declining for nine straight years, and are continuing to decline relative to our gross national product." In a speech prepared for delivery to the Executives Club of Chicago Vanderslice said the products of research and development are the factors which create new jobs and better living conditions for all.

Blue-chip selling drops Dow by 21

NEW YORK (UPI) — With blue-chips bearing the brunt of the selling, prices fell this abbreviated week in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange amid uncertainties over President-elect Jimmy Carter's economic policies.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which had gained 26.18 points the week before, lost 21.86 to 943.07. This included a 17.37-point setback Friday, the worst in five weeks, and a 9.56-point decline Wednesday, the day after Carter beat President Ford in the race for the White House.

The NYSE common stock index lost 0.95 to 53.94 and Standard & Poor's 500-stock index, which includes some over-the-counter stocks, dropped 2.08 to 100.82.

Declines topped advances, 911 to 831, among the 2,053 issues crossing the tape.

Volume for the four-day week totaled 80,211,940 shares, compared with 78,537,680 the week before and 74,899,590 traded during the corresponding week a year ago. The market was closed Tuesday for the presidential election.

Gives sheltered feeling

Canopy bed—now look in sleeping

Here's a neat idea for a now look in sleep. And it gives the sleeper the feeling of being sheltered under a canopy, without the heavy furniture one ususally has to settle for.

The concept was conceived by the staffers at Simmons Co. You know, they make and sell mattresses, box springs, hideabeds and lots of other upholstered things. But they are rather service oriented and enjoy giving design ideas to readers.

Your home

by Carolyn Murray

Here's how they suggest you make your wood and fabric canopy:

THE BASE IS constructed with side and end rails cut to fit your particular sleep equipment. Boards are 3/4 -inch thick by 6-inches wide. These are simply nailed together with side rails tucked in behind front and back rails.

To these are nailed four wood blocks — 2 by 2 by 5½-inches high. Called box spring corner supports, they should be placed within the basic frame. Then one supporting board for the center of the box spring should be cut and attached within frame . . . ¾-inch thick, 5¼-inches high.

Once this basic frame is finished you can plan the vertical supporting elements.

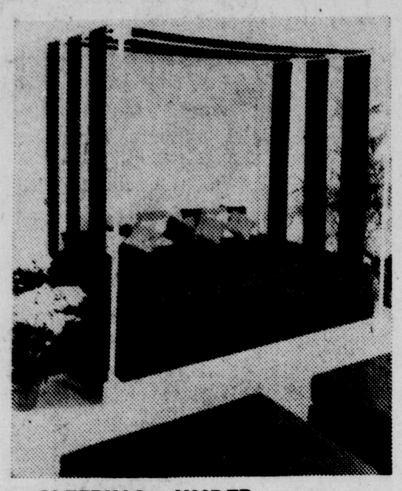
Wood dowels are used vertically and horizontally around all sides. Simmons recommends a 1¼-inch diameter pole or dowel. Obviously they should be cut to the height and widths needed for your room.

These dowels must be connected. So you'll need eight wood blocks into which holes are drilled. You can see in the photograph how these connectors work. Four are nailed to the outside of the floor frame; four are "floating" above. Each of the four floor blocks needs a single hole in the top. The overhead blocks require three holes each to accept the poles.

THIS KICKY PROJECT could work over a twin bed and with additional side poles, or it could become a canopied daybed with piles of pillows.

If any weight is going to be put against the canopy, double up on the nails. And always nail away from visible side; countersink nailheads for a neat finish.

Okay, now you've got the structure — why not create your own canopy? Simmons' people used three strips of 11-inch wide cotton duck. But you may want to try theatrical gauze in a rainbow of colors, or recycle some older sheets. They may be dyed, tie-dyed or stencilled to just about any motif you choose. A heavy-duty staple comes in handy for securing the fabric to the base.



SLEEPING UNDER your own canopy has its charm and Simmons Co. staffers know the feeling. So they devies this clever do-it-yourself idea to show how little it takes to create a canopy when you begin with a Simmons box spring and mattress.

Buyers can have choice at Governor's Village

Governor's Village, a new townhome development at Barrington Square in Hoffman Estates, has been officially opened, giving buyers a choice of two-and three-bedroom homes in an established community.

Announcement of the opening was made by Stephen I. Hershoff, marketing director for Kaufman and Broad Homes, Inc., which began developing Barrington Square in 1969.

The roomy new homes are priced from $39,990 to $45,990 and represent a solid value, according to Hershoff. "What buyers find here is not only good value in terms of space and construction but all the advantages of a well-developed community as well," he said.

There are three furnished new-home models, all featuring brick and low-maintenance aluminum siding exteriors and attached garages with private entrances. Patios, an attractive landscaping package and private courtyards add a dimension of outdoor living to the homes. Lots average 24 by 75 feet.

The models include the Adams House, a three-bedroom ranch with 1,200 square feet of living space, priced from $39,990. Blair House is a two-story home with two bedrooms, 1½ baths and 1,500 square feet, priced from $42,990. Collins House is another two-story home with three bedrooms, 2½ baths and 1,700 square feet, priced from $45,990.

Adams House keys versatile ranch-style living throughout its floor plan. The master bedroom is located at the end of a hall, far away from the living room. Other bedrooms come with floor-to-ceiling, sliding wardrobe closets and bay windows. The third bedroom has double-door access to the living room, making it ideal as an attractive den, library or study.

DINING AREA FEATURES insulated-glass sliding doors open onto a private patio. On the other side of the dining room is the well-appointed kitchen with its own breakfast area.

Standard items in all Governor's Village kitchens include continuous-cleaning oven and range, dishwasher, disposer, double stainless-steel sink, white formica self-edged countertops and quality wood cabinets.

THE COLLINS, a two-story, three-bedroom home with an attached garage, is one of three new townhome models offered by Kaufman and Broad Inc., at Governor's Village, Hoffman Estates.

AN ATTACHED GARAGE with a private entrance to the home provides extra storage space for lawn equipment, tools and all the things that seem to accumulate. Other standard features include aluminum storm windows and screens, underground utilities, 40-gallon water heater, non-peeling gutters and downspouts, gas forced air heating and wall-to-wall carpeting throughout the home.

Blair House has many of the same features as the Adams but the floor plan is different. The kitchen and living areas are on the first floor and a lofted family room is on the second floor with the two bedrooms. This places the family's more private living quarters in a quiet, convenient arrangement.

The master bedroom has its own large, closet-lined dressing area with vanity, a private entrance to the family bath and a private balcony accessible through sliding, glass double doors.

Downstairs, a private patio extends the view of the living room. Off the kitchen are a utility room and a powder room.

COLLINS HOUSE HAS ample living space on the first floor including living room, formal dining area and a family room at the rear of the house. The kitchen has convenient serving counter/breakfast bar. The family room also has access to a private, back yard brick-walled garden through insulated sliding-glass doors.

Upstairs are two full baths and three bedrooms. The master bedroom has two walls of sliding-door wardrobe closets, a private bath and its own sitting room with a double-door entry.

Energy-savers abound at First Federal branch

The new $2 million, 11,500-square-foot Mount Prospect office of First Federal of Chicago — the prototype for future First Federal offices — contains a number of energy-efficient features which may not be apparent from a casual glance.

The full-service office replaces a temporary facility which was housed in mobile trailers at the same location since November 1973, says George Niccolai, vice president and Mount Prospect branch manager.

The new building at 111 East Rand Rd. looks something like McCormick Place. It features an open contemporary design wih an overhanging open-truss roof supported by a minimum of steel columns.

THE OVERHANGING lattice roof is built that way not only for appearance sake, but for saving energy. It partially shades the glass walls of the building from the direct sun, making it cheaper to cool in the summer.

The glass walls themselves — which are thermal pane, double-thick glass — all face east and south to maximize the use of sunlight in the winter.

Where glass walls have not been installed, thick, insulated masonry walls have been built to keep the building cool in summer and warm in winter.

The large, open spaces within the building allow for the free flow of air and more efficient cooling and eating. In addition, the mercury vapor and fluorescent lighting as opposed to incandescent, are pleasing to the eye and energy efficient.

ELECTRICITY, not gas or oil, is used for heating and air-conditioning because it is less polluting than other fuels — and more efficient.

Lighting and temperature controls also have been designed to conserve energy. The use of multi-zone units for controlling purposes enables the shutdown of one part of the building while keeping another part fully operational with heat and lights.

Because of masonry walls, coated fire-proof structural steel columns and the glass walls, the structure is as fireproof as possible. Included in the fireproofing is a system of interior—as well as exterior—sprinklers that protect adjacent property as well as the building itself.

One feature of the interior is a 5 by 8-foot tapestry by well-known artist Leonardo Nierman of Mexico. The all-wool, hand-dyed piece in vivid reds, greens, blues, and black hangs near the reception in the lobby.

Other highlights of the new building include private counseling offices, First Federal rose garden and parking area for handicapped persons with special ramp leading to office.

THE NEW OFFICE also features four drive-up stations, and 12 teller stations in the lobby. Initial customer parking for 36 cars — with more spaces coming — also is available.

One feature of the drive-up stations — which will be ready as soon as the temporary office building is removed — is an advanced digital traffic control system.

The way we see it

Budget choices face Lake County

The Lake County Board is considering a proposed $57.2 million budget whose chronic problem area, the corporate fund budget, projects expenditures more than $1 million higher than revenues.

From the corporate fund come the budgets of Lake County's elected officials, including the sheriff's department, the state's attorney, the circuit court clerk and the county clerk.

The sheriff's department this year felt it necessary to ask for a tax referendum to raise badly needed funds.

Lake County Director of Finance Robert Morrison feels the county board should take a hard look at some of the services the county offers. Many services instituted when the county's financial picture was brighter are now offered at the expense of the departments that the county is required by law to support.

The most visible "extra" in the county budget is the Winchester House nursing home in Libertyville, which accounts for $800,000 of the deficit in the proposed budget.

Winchester House has won many awards for its high level of care and probably offers the best nursing care in the state at a very low cost. The question has been raised whether the county can afford to offer the best, or whether it should offer nursing home care at all.

Morrison suggests that the county raise rates to meet the costs at the home, hope for a favorable resolution of the suit to get public aid for the townships to pay the full fee for indigent patients, cut service, or sell the home to a private operator.

Another expensive county service is the health clinic located in the old TB Sanitorium in Waukegan. The health clinic's projected budget is more than $610,000, while Morrison estimates the clinic will generate $360,000 in fees.

It is difficult to suggest that the county drop these "people oriented" services, though similar services are offered by the private sector.

In better times, the county could afford to operate a nursing home which offered better care at a lower cost, health clinics for poor people and drug or alcohol abuse treatment at a lower cost than a hospital could.

But when these services are offered at the expense of good police protection or the prosecution of crime, the county may face a painful reassessment of its priorities — or the need for new revenues.

Thanks, RTA, for the new Wheeling bus service

It's going to be possible to get from Wheeling to Des Plaines, with a stop at the Randhurst shopping center, without taking a car, thanks to the Regional Transportation Authority.

Since the RTA was created in 1974, there haven't been too many opportunities for Northwest suburban residents to say thanks, but the new regional bus service approved today is a welcome addition to the area.

The bus route will be operated by the North Suburban Mass Transit District (NORTRAN) and will run from Milwaukee Avenue and Dundee Road to Randhurst, the Mount Prospect train station and the Des Plaines train station.

The bus will connect with three commuter trains during rush hours and operate at two-hour intervals during the middle of the day. The service is modeled on a bus route that has been running successfully between Buffalo Grove and the Arlington Heights train station.

The bus route is a good example of the kind of service the suburbs need and deserve from the RTA. Properly promoted, it should succeed.

RTA officials now say they are looking at Palatine for a similar kind of service. That, too, would be a welcome development, particularly if the route included such popular stops as Woodfield Mall and Harper College.

The final test of the success of suburban bus service will be ridership. Once reasonable and useful bus routes are established, it will be disappointing if they fail for lack of interest.

However, establishing routes such as the one from Wheeling are an important first step in building the habit patterns that suburbanites will have to have to make bus service succeed. RTA subsidies will ensure that the service will not be here today and gone tomorrow, as has been the case too often with suburban mass transit.

Bus service in the suburbs deserves a fair chance to succeed. It is a welcome sign that we'll have that chance.

Some post-election thoughts – judicial and absentee problems

I am 19 years old and consider it a privilege to have a voice in choosing the people that run this country, by voting. However, statistics show that the 18 to 21 year olds have the poorest voter turnout of any age group. After working in this last election, I come closer to understanding this kind of apathy.

I served as an election judge in Wheeling Township and was impressed, as was everyone, with the voter turnout.

The precinct I worked in received their absentee ballots early in the afternoon, and everything ran smoothly. But soon after I arrived at the local election headquarters, I found that not every precinct had received their absentee ballots. And it wasn't only a few but a substantial number of precincts that never even saw their absentee ballots. I know for a fact that the precinct I vote in never received its ballots, which would have included my sister's and one of the judge's sons, both students away at college. Absentee voting is the only way most college students may vote.

MANY PEOPLE, including, I'm sure, many of the 18 to 21-year-old college students, made an effort to vote in this very important election, but have been disenfranchised and for apparently no reason.

Perhaps a few ballots were not received in time to be counted, but in as many as 30 precincts, I don't believe for a minute that the majority of those ballots were not in fact received on time and should have been delivered.

This should not have happened and is the kind of incident that contributes to the apathy in the youth of today and Americans in general.

I will continue to exercise my right to vote in every election to come, but because of this disgusting display of inefficiency, or fraud, or incompetence, or whatever the reason, I can understand better the reason people say, "my vote won't count anyway," because in this election it really didn't.

Kudos to the staff at The Herald for their excellent summary of the candidates for judge in the past election. It is an extremely important area, and the elector is in a very difficult position by not having enough information about these candidates.

Hopefully, we can now contact our state legislators and urge that they start the process of amending our state constitution to include the merit selection of judges. Let's not forget the long lists of unknown names that we were faced with at the polls last Tuesday.

We have excellent representation in Springfield from this area, but they have to know how you respond to this issue. Call or write them; I know they will be responsive.

The lighter side

Voters apathetic to indifference

by DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — By far the biggest surprise in this week's election was the last minute collapse of apathy. As late as election eve, television pundits were predicting a strong and perhaps decisive outpouring of voter indifference. Some newspapers featured that angle in election day editions. It never happened.

In the actual balloting, apathy took a beating. Although the voter turnout set no records, it was clear that indifference had little if any impact on the outcome.

As a political upset, apathy's impotence ranks with Thomas E. Dewey's defeat in 1948.

Seeking an explanation for this startling turnabout, I sought out Dr. Luigi V. Populi, a political scientist who specializes in rationalizing misinterpretations.

"What went wrong:" I asked. "Why were you experts so badly fooled?"

"I wouldn't say we were fooled exactly," Populi replied. "Most of us were aware that apathy was losing momentum in the final stages of the compaign. Our mistake was failing to recognize the slump as a snowballing trend rather than a minor fluctuation in apathy power.

"But we can't be blamed for that. The switch began so late it was impossible to detect its true dimensions."

I said, "What brought about the sudden change?"

"In my judgment, it was a matter of a lot of people taking indifference for granted. They kept hearing that large numbers of eligible voters planned to sit out the election, so they figured they didn't have to bother staying at home."

I said, "Are you saying that people became apathetic about apathy?"

"Something like that. In the beginning, people were genuinely dispassionate about the two candidates and were sincere in their intentions to remain on the sidelines. But this campaign lasted a long time and it's difficult for people to keep up a full head of torpor for extended periods.

"After awhile, their lassitude begins to wear thin and they start losing that fine edge of inertia. Eventually, they find themselves leaning toward one candidate or the other.

"When election day finally rolls around, they say 'Oh, why not?' and head for the voting booth."

I said, "That very well may be why the wave of apathy failed to materialize, but that doesn't absolve you experts of responsibility for your erroneous predictions.

"What we have now is a question of credibility. After midjudging public apathy, how can pundits be trusted to give us the right dope in future elections?"

Populi assured me the method he and his colleagues use to measure public lethargy is scientifically sound and basically accurate under most conditions.

"Occasional slip-ups only sharpen our perception," he said. "The next time there's an 11th hour drop in listlessness, we'll know what to look for."

Reporters' 'malady'

Election lingers on and on and...

Dorothy Meyer's column

As far as the general public is concerned Tuesday's election is history, but for newspaper people the malady lingers on.

On election night in a newspaper plant everybody gets into the act. Nobody gets any sleep, but we all come in to work the next day anyway. ("Come in" means that bodies appear in the usual places at the usual hour — "to work" is another matter.)

With very little sleep, we were of course slightly punchy around here Wednesday. However, the adrenal glands were still in gear and we could at least giggle hysterically and respond to simple questions like, "Hi, how are you?"

A REPORTER WHO got his foot stuck in a wastebasket knew what to do about it after he pondered awhile.

A secretary, when told to take a letter, said, "Yes, sir," after the boss reminded her which end of the pencil to use.

With a little prompting, the switchboard operators remembered what to do about a flashing light on the console and vote tabulators from the accounting department could tell you that two plus two equals four.

Men in the shop, after juggling hot lead for 18 hours straight, knew when they had burned themselves and eventually yelled, "Yeeoooooowwwww."

BUT THURSDAY WAS another story. The last drop of adrenalin was gone. It was Zombie Time.

When somebody asked, "Hi, how are you," I looked at my watch and said, "It looks like Schwartz in the Third District."

The young reporters whose calls I was tabulating Tuesday night tried to dial the coffee machine, started talking in numbers and couldn't stop until somebody stuffed a peanut butter sandwich in her mouth.

When the one with his foot in the wastebasket did it again, somebody said, "Get your foot out of the wastebasket," but neither one could figure out how to accomplish the act.

THE SECRETARY, when told to take a letter, looked at her boss and said, "Where, sir," but he scarcely noticed because he was so busy trying to sharpen his ballpoint pen.

The switchboard operators pulled plugs out of the board and then sat there staring at them, guys in the shop stood dumbly with handsful of hot lead and folks in the accounting department began counting on their fingers.

Yesterday, though, there were a few hopeful signs of recovery.

"Hi, how are you," immediately got a "What's it to you." Wastebaskets were almost free of reporters. Secretaries said "Go-to-copy-machine" and their feet obeyed. The switchboard and accounting department made sense and the guys in the shop were able to get the lead out.

Me? I'll be fine as soon as I remember how to dial this stupid coffee machine.

Independent review of defense plans in danger

Watch on Washington
by Clark Mollenhoff

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Buried in the voluminous congressional report on the Condor missile program is a disturbing story of Ford Administration moves that could destroy the independent review of major defense programs by the Office of Defense Sec.

The scandals that come bubbling forth periodically from the military services prove beyond doubt that the defense secretary needs every possible independent monitoring tool on annual spending that tops $100 billion.

In 1970, then Deputy Defense Sec. David Packard established a secretary-level Defense System Acquisition Review Council (DSARC) to provide for independent monitoring by the highest civilian appointees below the deputy secretary level.

THE COUNCIL was to examine service weapons system programs at three stages to determine if they were being properly managed and ready to move to the next stage.

If a program failed to pass any of the stages — (1) initiation and validation, (2) full-scale engineering development, and (3) production and development — it was to be held back until all difficulties were resolved, or canceled.

The intended outcome was a series of independent reviews and decisions by the Office of Defense Sec. concerning justification, management and readiness of the Army, Navy and Air Force to proceed with acquisition.

The Joint Committee on Defense Production in exploring the conflicts of interest of Dr. Malcolm Currie in the report on the Condor program has related the manner in which Deputy Defense Sec. William P. Clements, Jr. with support from Defense Sec. Donald Rumsfeld, is slowly but surely cutting into the independence of council.

AND, AS CLEMENTS has been crippling the council, he is turning back to the Army, Navy and Air Force the monitoring of their own progress, while continuing Dr. Currie in a key procurement review spot despite admitted "bad judgment" in accepting a weekend at Bimini Island with a major defense contractor.

The major focus of the report of the investigations subcommittee of Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., was the "conflict of interest" of Dr. Currie, director of defense research and engineering, who with his daughter and a woman companion spent a weekend at the Bimini Island home of Robert N. Anderson, president and chief executive officer of Rockwell International.

Rockwell International was the prime contractor on the Navy's Condor air-to-surface missile system, and Dr. Currie had a major role of responsibility with regard to whether the Condor program should be continued or canceled.

In the wake of critical news stories on the entertainment of admirals, generals and other military procurement officials at goose hunting lodges, Dr. Currie accepted an invitation for a Labor Day weekend at Anderson's Bimini Island home in the fall of 1975.

IN MARCH, 1976, when Sen. Thomas Eagleton, D-Mo., learned of Dr. Currie's Bimini weekend, he wrote to Rumsfeld asking for an investigation and termed Dr. Currie "the architect" of a plan to approve production of the Condor, but to delay production pending missile reliability tests.

Rumsfeld, on March 16, wrote to Senator Eagleton stating he had issued a "severe reprimand" to Dr. Currie, and that Dr. Currie had admitted he had used "bad judgment" in accepting the Bimini weekend.

Rumsfeld also said that Dr. Currie had agreed to reimburse Anderson and Rockwell for the flight to and from Bimini in a Rockwell plane for himself and his daughter, for other costs, and to forfeit four weeks pay.

But, Rumsfeld contended there was no "conflict of interest" in Dr. Currie's action "because there is no evidence of any improper influence as a result" of Currie's activities on the weekend in question.

THE DEFENSE SECRETARY rejected Eagleton's characterization of Dr. Currie as "architect" of the Condor plan, and declared that the Currie plan was to limit work on the Condor program until tests had been completed, which was "contrary" to the business interests of Rockwell International.

Not satisfied with Rumsfeld's response, Eagleton had asked Proxmire's group to conduct the full investigation that brought the overall defense procurement monitoring problem under the scrutiny of the committee.

Dr. Currie was not just another of the hundreds of defense department officials with limited procurement responsibility. He was a member of the council review committee and chairman of the council review process during the program's first two phases.

Dr. Currie, an outspoken advocate of the Condor program, contended that the record of support for the Rockwell International project predated the Bimini visit and so his subsequent support of Condor was not related to the visit.

HOWEVER, DR. CURRIE'S Bimini weekend visit occurred more than nine months after defense procurement scandals had resulted in Clements reissuing a directive against accepting any gifts, things of value, or entertainment from defense contractors.

In the light of that January 1975 warning by Clements to defense department personnel to avoid the appearance of conflicts of interest, Dr. Currie, his 13-year-old daughter, and his woman companion, were taken to Bimini in a Rockwell International plane.

In May, 1976, only two months after Rumsfeld's letter of reprimand, Clements created a single acquisition executive for the entire department of defense and named Dr. Currie to this post.

At the same time, Clements directed that Dr. Currie would serve as permanent chairman of council.

Later in the summer, Clements appointed himself as acquisition executive in place of Dr. Currie because of congressional complaints.

The understanding treatment accorded to Dr. Currie by Rumsfeld and Clements and the steps to turn the monitoring of programs back to the sponsoring services, are not indicative of a tighter rein on standards of conduct or on defense spending.

It is putting the foxes in charge of the various chicken coops.

One of these is Buffalo Grove's largest financial institution. Can you pick which one?

Things aren't always what they seem. For instance, the small, neighborhood Home Federal office in the center is Buffalo Grove's largest financial institution, actually more than ten times the size of the next biggest one in the area. That's because it's a branch of our main office downtown at State Street and Adams—one of Chicagoland's top savings and loan associations, with more than $650 million in assets.

So your Buffalo Grove Home Federal can offer some very excellent and up-to-date services.

For example, an account here is an account at all our offices. You can make deposits and withdrawals in Buffalo Grove, downtown at State and Adams or at any of our other convenient locations.

You'll also find your money is worth more at Home. It grows with the magic of daily compounded interest, paid from the day of deposit to the day of withdrawal. Also, any funds deposited by the tenth of the month earn from the first, if you leave them on deposit until the end of the calendar quarter.

For long-range investing, you can choose from several savings certificates with interest as high as 7¾% a year. That's an annual yield of 8.17%—more than any bank can pay.

So stop in, or use the convenient coupon in this ad to open an account at Home Federal Savings today. You'll never be far from your money; because now you're never far from Home.

Switch! A's trade manager for player

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates obtained Oakland Athletics manager Chuck Tanner, a native Pennsylvanian, in exchange for catcher Manny Sanguillen and $100,000 Friday night.

The Pirates also sold the contract of utility infielder Tommy Helms to Oakland, but club officials stressed the deal was not connected to the one bringing Tanner to the Pirates to replace Danny Murtaugh, who retired.

Pirates' vice-president and player personnel director Harding Peterson said, "Tanner is the man I've wanted all along for the job."

Chuck Tanner

TANNER HAD two years remaining on a three-year contract with the A's and had asked Oakland owner Charlies Finley to tell him flat out if he wanted him to return as manager in 1977.

Tht reason for Tanner's insistance on an early answer was because the Pirates were interested in naming him as their skipper. Tanner lives in western Pennsylvania, not too far from Pittsburgh.

A couple of weeks ago the Pirates had asked Finley if he would accept $100,000 to turn Tanner free. Later they changed their offer to an even-up swap for Sanguillen, a good-hitting but weak-armed catcher. Finley said he wanted both the money and Sanguillen for Tanner.

Finley was in New York for the reentry and American League expansion drafts.

FOLLOWING THE announcement in Pittsburgh, Tanner bounded to the podium and declared his delight with returning to Pittsburgh, which is about an hour's drive from his home in New Castle, Pa.

"I've been on a 14-year road trip," Tanner said. "I was in Quad City, I suffered two years in Hawaii, then I went to Chicago. Now I'm where I want to be in Pittsburgh. I'm in one of the finest organizations in all of baseball.

"Pete and I are going to do what Joe Brown (the retired general manager) and Danny Murtaugh have done in the past, and that's give Pittsburgh quality baseball."

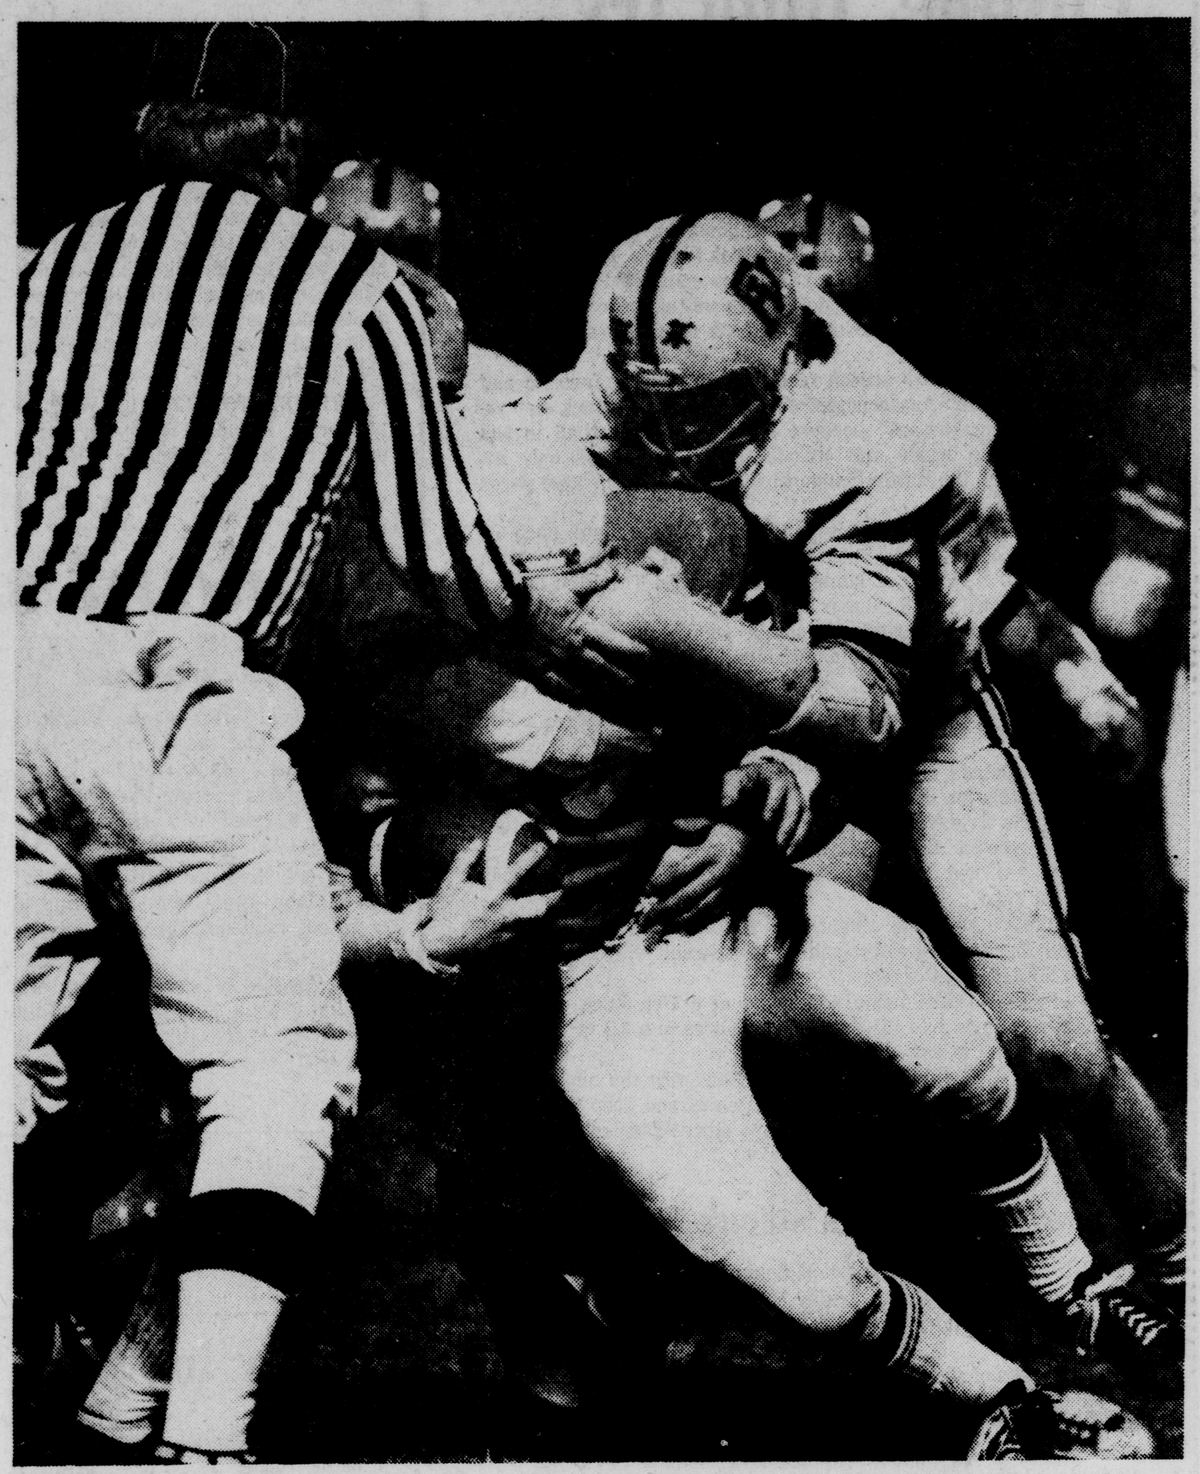
Tanner said when Peterson called him to talk contract Thursday night he quipped: "I have three requests that must be granted before I sign.

"I WANT A RABBI, a priest and a minister to be present, and then I want Danny Murtaugh to take an oath that he has really retired."

Tanner was referring to two previous times Murtaugh came out of retirement to manage the Pirates.

Peterson said he had interviewed many candidates for the job, both people he called first and people who called him.

"The man that we are having as our manager for the 1977 season is a manager I feel is the best manager in major league baseball today. He is an enthusiastic, personable and emotional type manager."



DEFENSE AT ITS BEST. This Forest View Falcon smothers an Arlington Cardinal runner during a Mid-Suburban game Friday night at Arlington. The Falcons' defense was too much for its hosts as Forest View took home a 3-0 victory and a fine 7-2 overall record.

Sox lose four in AL draft

From Herald Wire Services

NEW YORK — Infielder Bill Stein and pitchers Pete Vukovich, Jesse Jefferson and Roy Thomas of the White Sox were selected Friday in major league baseball's first expansion draft in eight years.

Stein, a versatile performer who saw extensive duty in 1976 with the Sox, was the third pick of the Seattle Mariners. Minor league pitcher Thomas was also tabbed by the Mariners.

Vukovich, a part-time starter and long relief man, and Jefferson, who saw limited duty after experiencing severe control problems, were selected by the Toronto Blue Jays.

THE MARINERS and Blue Jays are looking to build for the future and went heavily for youthful, but unproven, pitchers instead of shop-worn veterans.

Outfielder Ruppert Jones of Kansas City, only 21 years old, called potentially a great player by Royals manager Whitey Herzog, was the first player selected by Seattle in the American League draft.

Toronto took shortstop Bob Bailor, 25, of the Baltmore Orioles' organization as its top pick.

Jones, a fleet-footed center fielder, hit .262 with 19 homers and 72 RBIs with Omaha. Bailor, left unprotected by Baltimore because of the presence of two other minor league All-Star infielders in their system — Rich Dauer and Kiko Garcia — hit .311 with Rochester in the International League.

There were a few big names picked in the 7½-hour marathon grab-bag. Rico Carty, the Cleveland Indians' 36-year-old designated hitter, and pitcher Bill Singer were taken by Toronto while Seattle picked up Minnesota Twins outfielder Steve Braun, a .288 hitter last year, and one-time California Angels power-hitting outfielder Leroy Stanton in later rounds.

Toronto also selected veteran right-hander Al Fitzmorris from the Royals, but moments after the draft concluded, swapped him to Cleveland in exchange for catcher Alan Ashby and infielder Doug Howard.

MEANWHILE, the name of the drafting game was most definitely youth. The average age of all the players taken was under 25 while of the 16 pitchers selected by each club, five of Toronto's are not yet 22 and eight of Seattle's are 22 or younger.

(The first 24 selections for each club in the draft are listed in the scoreboard.)

Meadows rolls over Hersey, 33-0

by JIM COOK

Rolling Meadows and Hersey, the eyes of both teams cast to the future, assumed different postures Friday night in the raw cold at Hersey.

The junior-laden Mustangs, looking ahead to next season, may have caught the 6-3, but playoff-bound Huskies gazing to the opening round Wednesday with a sobering 33-0 blitz.

The triumph was the biggest landslide in Rolling Meadows' six-year history while the defeat was the worst for the Huskies in recent memory.

"THEY MAY NOT have been as sharp as they were last week when they had to be (in clinching the North Division title and a playoff berth against Fremd)," Rolling Meadows head coach Art Klein said, "but our kids showed them we play ball in the South, too."

"I hope we were looking ahead," Hersey coach Joe Gliwa answered. "Rolling Meadows came to play and we didn't. It's that simple."

The Mustangs dominated in every facet of the game — unleashing the inside-outside backfield duo of fullback Gary Adams and tailback Rick Sutton behind the determined blocking of guards Dave Molge and Roy Miller, tackles Bob Chauncey and Bob Lamick and center Scott Jennings. Meadows' defense, meanwhile, had the Huskies on a leash, limiting them to just 85 total yards.

Sutton rushed 26 times for 162 yards, including a 62-yard sprint on the first play of the second half that inflated a 13-0 Mustang lead into a 20-0 Hersey backbreaker.

BUT WHILE SUTTON was sweeping the ends and pinballing through gaping holes in the line, Adams was pounding out tough yardage (19 carries for 69 yards) inside with touchdown bursts of four and five yards.

Meadows' quarterback Dennis Drolet burrowed for the first touchdown early in the second quarter from one yard away and Ken Sadowski capped the scoring in the fourth period with a one-yard plunge.

The Mustangs were able to sustain a number of long-time-consuming drives. Meadows ran 42 plays to Hersey's 17 in the first half alone to flaunt its superiority.

Hersey played without linebacker Tom Hogen and later lost Mike Iskierski to a leg injury. "I hope we decide to show up Wednesday," Gliwa prayed.

The Mustangs, in posting a 6-3 record (best in their history) wish they had the same date.

Elk Grove marches along

by KEITH REINHARD

A patched-together Elk Grove lineup stormed from behind with three third period touchdowns to down visiting Bufffalo Grove 25-12 Friday night in their regular season finale.

Obviously missing the services of star backs Shawn Murphy and Jim Meyer, the Grenadiers were nearly stampeded in the first half by a suddenly revived Bison offensive attack.

Coach Don Schnake's troops rallied big after intermission however to ring up their eighth straight triumph whlle sending Buffalo Grove down to defeat for the third time in their last four starts.

MURPHY AND MEYER watched from the sidelines, injured.

With two stalwarts out, Schnake turned to veteran dynamo Tim Roberts to churn out a ground game while quarterback Dave Champa was going more to the air than he had in the previous four games combined.

They were in a hole before they had a chance to start, though. Burly Bison John MacIsaac lumbered 62 yards on the third play into the contest and scored three plays later from the two.

MacIsaac ripped off another 50 yarder a short while later that was wiped out by a penalty and capped an awesome first half with a 23-yard jog and then a second TD run.

ELK GROVE, in the meantime, chanced upon a score when Ralph Souder's fumble was picked up by teammate Tom Monro. Together they combined for a 53-yard scoring play but Buffalo Grove still dominated the first half and owned a 12-6 lead.

The second two periods belonged almost entirely to the hosts. Mike Sargent led an inspired defense that limited the guests to 10 yards on the ground and he personally recovered a pair of fumbles and figured in a pair of sacks.

Meanwhile Champa found a jolly green giant to play catch with in the form of 6-5, 200-pound Mark Smith. Champa zeroed in on Smith eight times, netting over 100 yards, including a touchdown strike.

Roberts teamed with Souder to run roughshod over the enemy in the third and fourth stanzas. Each scored a TD and it was the hard-charging Roberts, who finished with 149 yards rushing, diving over from the three at 4:53 of the third period to put his team on top to stay.

Records fall as 7 area girls make state swim finals

by BOB GALLAS

Six state records, two broken by Maine South's Kim Lindstrom, fell Friday night in preliminaries of the state girls' swimming meet at Downers Grove South High School.

Seven area products qualified for today's finals, which will begin at 1 p.m. at Downers Grove.

Arlington's Sue Cripe headed local entries, by qualifying in the top six in two events and leading Arlington's 400-yard freestyle relay team to fourth place in qualifying action Friday.

CRIPE TOOK sixth in the 50-free with a time of 25.599 and fifth in the 100-free with a 54.979 clocking. Arlington's free relay team came in fourth with a time of 3:48.246, well behind winner Glenbrook North's state record time of 3:45.923.

Prospect's Barb Larsen also qualified in two spots in today's finals, both in the consolation bracket. Larsen took 7th (2:19.449) in the individual medley and 12th (1:02.773) in the butterfly. Elk Grove's Sharon Bird finished eighth in the butterfly.

Three area entries qualified in diving led by Arlington's Kelly Holland who came in fourth with 254.9 points. Her teammate Donna Wasielewski, came in sixth with 245.73. Maine West's Mary Koy Gerhardt qualified for the consolation bracket by taking 10th with 234.21 points.

Hersey's Linda Walkowiak qualified

Falcon kick kicks Cards

by PAUL LOGAN

"Old Lonnie Reitz' toe came through," chortled Forest View Falcon coach Fred Lussow as he walked past the south goal posts at Arlington High School's field Friday night.

Just about an hour earlier, specifically with 1:16 left in the second quarter, Reitz kicked a 24-yard field goal. After a second half of hard-hitting Mid-Suburban League play, that slim three-point margin had held up — Forest View 3, Arlington 0.

The Falcons trotted off the field with a 7-2 record and slim hopes of gaining a wild card berth into the state football playoffs. But even if their record (tieing the most wins ever) isn't good enough to continue their season, they had one satisfaction, as Lussow pointed out:

"WE FEEL THAT since we beat St. Viator, Prospect and Arlington, we kind of won the intra-city title. Forest View is in Arlington Heights, but nobody knows that."

Those Arlington Cardinal fans who sat shivering in the freezing weather knew this south Arlington Heights team had been there. The Falcons shut out a very fine Cardinal team (which finished with a 5-4 record) with an outstanding defensive showing. Lussow didn't want to single anyone out in that regard, but added, "It has to rank with the best defensive efforts of the season."

The Cardinal offense was held to just 32 total yards in the second half, finishing with an over-all total of 164 yards. Although Lussow ranked Arlington's defense on a par with St. Viator's (a team that's state playoff bound), his Falcons moved everywhere but into the end zone.

John Miscevich accounted for most of the 209 yards rushing with 164 yards in 29 carries, including a 68-yarder.

FOREST VIEW'S only score came after the Falcons took possession on the Cardinal 49. Setting up the field goal was a 37-yard pass from quarterback Bill Payne to Steve Miskovetz. After a five-yard run by Miscevich, Reitz kicked his first field goal of the season on his only try.

Arlington's best scoring opportunity came late in the second quarter when the Cards marched to the Falcon 11 only to have a pass intercepted by Tom Smith. The Falcons also had another picked off pass. They allowed flanker Tom North only four catches (69 yards), double and triple teaming him.

Purdue, Illini try Big Ten's big two

Purdue has to get ready to stop a "super offense" today when it plays No. 1 ranked Michigan, and compounding the Boilermaker problem will be Wolverine quarterback Rick Leach.

In each of the last two games Leach has completed four of four passes, throwing for two touchdowns in each of the contests, and last year against Purdue he completed six of nine passes for 218 yards.

Michigan, with an 8-0 season record, was a heavy favorite and Purdue Coach Alex Agase described the Wolverine attack as "super, with no weaknesses" because it uses option football to run successfully both inside and outside. Rob Lytle needs only six yards to become the third Michigan back ever to reach 1,000 yards in a season.

The Wolverines share the Big Ten lead with Ohio State, each 5-0 in the conference, and the Buckeyes are favored to keep pace with Michigan with a victory at home against Illinois. The Illini have a 3-2 Big Ten record and Purdue is 2-3.

In other Big Ten games, Minnesota will be at Northwestern, Iowa at Wisconsin and Indiana at Michigan State.

Maple Leafs, Barons, Sabres win

Lanny McDonald rifled home two goals and rookie goaltender Mike Palmateer recorded his fourth win in five National Hockey League starts Friday night to lead the Toronto Maple Leafs to a 4-2 victory over the Atlanta Flames.

Palmateer turned aside 35 Atlanta shots as he won for the fourth time on the road.

Bob Murdoch and Mike Fidler each scored two goals to help the Cleveland Barons snap a five-game losing streak with a 6-4 victory over the Philadelphia Flyers.

Jim Lorentz blasted home a rebound of a Don Luce shot with 2:02 left in the game to lift the Buffalo Sabres to a 3-2 victory over the Washington Capitals.

Lorentz beat Washington goalie Ron Low with the shot to give Buffalo its second road victory in five games and keep the Sabres unbeaten in 11 games against the Caps since Washington entered the league.

Orantes stretches streak to 22

LONDON — Manuel Orantes of Spain stretched his record winning streak to 22 matches Friday when he downed Mark Cox of Britain 6-4, 6-4 to reach the finals of the $100,000 Dewar Cup tennis tournament.

Orantes' run of success is a record in "modern" men's tennis.

Orantes was followed onto court by a player with an even greater winning streak — Chris Evert. The 21-year-old Floridian has been unbeaten since April when she lost to Evonne Goolagong in the final of a Virginia Slims tournament.

Evert's seven-month spell continued with a 6-3, 6-0 victory against fellow American Rosie Casals and it put Evert, who earlier this fall became the first woman player to top $1 million in prize money, into the final as well.

McGee, Miller lead by one stroke

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla. — Jerry McGee and Allen Miller put together a seven-under-par 65 Friday to take a one-stroke lead after two rounds of the $200,000 Walt Disney World Golf Classic-National Team Championships.

McGee had six birdies, including five on the first seven holes, and Miller got one to put them at 16-under-par 128 for 36 holes.

Joe Porter III and Bob Zender were one stroke back at 15-under 129 after a second-round 65, which featured an eagle by Zender.

The 33-year-old Chicagoan holed a 168-yard seven iron shot on the par-five fifth hole on the Magnolia course, one of two courses used by the 104 teams in this best-ball competition.

Earnhardt earns Dixie 500 spot

HAMPTON, Ga. — Dale Earnhardt drove his Chevrolet to a speed of 158.840 miles per hour Friday to lead the field in the second day of qualifying for Sunday's Dixie 500 stock car race at Atlanta International Raceway.

Earnhardt earned the 16th starting position while Frank Warren had the second fastest speed of 157.752 mph in a Dodge for the 17th slot.

Buddy Baker will be on the pole position after setting a track record Thursday in his Ford of 161.652 mph over the 1.5-mile speedway.

Heavyweights Young, Lyle battle

SAN FRANCISCO — Jimmy Young and Ron Lyle, a pair of high-ranking heavyweights with impressive losing performances against retired champion Muhammad Ali, meet for the second time today in a scheduled 12-round nationally-televised fight on ABC-TV.

The winner will undoubtedly be included in any elimination series which will determine Ali's successor. As things stand now, Young, who decisioned Lyle in Honolulu early last year, is listed as the No. 3 challenger with Lyle ranked fifth. Each has made it clear that if he wins, he wants a shot at the title.

Galloway collects PGA club title

PINE MOUNTAIN, Ga. — Bob Galloway fired a 71 Friday to overcome third-round leader Jim Ferriell and capture the ninth annual PGA Club Professional championship by one stroke.

Galloway, of Rock Hill, S. C., was three strokes off the pace when Friday's round began, but he collected five birdies during the final round and ended the day with a 280 total. Ferriell, of Milford, Ohio, finished the $110,000 tourney with 75 for a 281, dropping into a tie for second with George Lanning of Tacoma, Wash., and Larry Gilbert of Brandenburg, Ky.

Philippe leads Fremd to victory

by ART MUGALIAN

Mike Gavigan, Tom Philippe and the boys played keep-away from Hoffman's John Staback at Fremd Friday night as the Vikings rode a 16-13 victory to their most successful football season in four years.

Gavigan, a 5-10, 165-pound junior making his first start in place of injured Tom Moffett, directed Fremd's offense to a pair of second-half touchdowns after a 27-yard Dave Edwards field goal stood up for a 3-0 Viking halftime lead.

PHILIPPE TOTALED 129 yards in 17 carries, including a 20-yard scamper to the Hawk 24 late in the third quarter that set up a 13-yard TD run by Gary Gunderson. Edwards' conversion attempt was wide and Fremd owned a 9-0 lead.

Not too much later, though, Gunderson fumbled and Mr. Do Everything Staback picked up the ball and sprinted 70 yards for Hoffman's first score. The kick was wide and the Hawks trailed just 9-6.

Fumbles had hurt Hoffman earlier in the game, starting on the Hawks' first series at the Vike 39 after a Staback interception. Fullback Bob Kearley ripped off a 12-yard gain to the 27, but then lost the ball on the next play after toting it to the 10. Fremd's Greg Lombard recovered.

In the second quarter, Staback and Kearley picked up the important yardage on a 50-yard drive that stalled at the goal line when QB Staback fumbled the ball just before scoring on an option run. Curt Hacker pounced on the ball in the end zone for a touchback.

ANOTHER HOFFMAN fumble at the Fremd 27 killed a third-quarter march before Staback's defensive gem put the Hawks back in the game.

Philippe got the key yardage and the points as Fremd marched 62 yards to paydirt in the fourth quarter. The speedy, 170-pound tailback scored from five yards out.

But a 15-yard pass from Staback to Bill Strawn and a personal foul against the Vikings set up a 5-yard TD pass from Staback to Bill Armstrong. Staback's kick made the score 16-13 with about 4:30 to play.

SO THAT STABACK wouldn't have a chance to work his magic again, Gavigan contrived to keep possession of the ball — mainly by handing off to Philippe, who personally accounted for four first downs while killing the clock.

Frem's 6-3 record was their best since 1972 when they were 6-2. Hoffman finished at 3-6.

Conant smashes Maine North, 34-6

by RICK CHRISTOPHER

The Conant Cougars settled back in the driver's seat early and never once looked back. Controlling the tempo, ball and statistics from the outset, the Cougars stormed by a visiting Maine North, 34-6, Friday evening.

"We only had one thing in mind," Coach John Ayers said. "We wanted to go out as sinners. And we did just that."

The Cougars set precedent early in the first quarter as they controlled the ball for nearly five minutes enroute to their first score.

JUNIOR ROCKY Pugliese was the Cougars' workhorse as he capped a 60-yard drive in 10 plays on a 21-yard run off left tackle. It was his first of two scores.

"There wasn't much doubt that we could dominate them. We have played better competition through the season than they had and it showed," Coach Ayers said.

Conant's barrage continued with a 26-point outburst in the second quarter. Quarterback Scott Shafer led the way with two touchdown runs.

Leading 14-0 behind fullback Jeff Johnson's 13-yard run, Schafer faked right and then reversed his field untouched for a 68-yard scoring run.

THREE MINUTES later, Schafer pulled off the same identical play for a 23-yard touchdown run and a 27-0 Conant lead.

The graduating senior quarterback finished with 155 yards on eight carries before being replaced by backup Dan Fasig late in the third quarter.

Conant's first team offense amassed 253 yards in the first half to Maine North's 14 while capitalizing on three Norseman fumbles.

Pugliese, who started for the injured Tony Stompanato, capped Conant's scoring late in the first half with a 23-yard run up the middle. The speedster gained 108 yards on 12 carries.

MAINE NORTH finally broke the ice in the final 16 seconds of play as reserved quarterback Steve Hittel hit end Ray Glassman with a 20 yard pass.

Statistics heavily favored Conant as the Cougars outgained Maine North in total offensive yards, 383 to 132.

Bulls bow to Denver, Thompson

David Thompson scored 36 points to lead the Denver Nuggets to their sixth straight victory, a 99-85 triumph over Chicago Friday night for the Bulls fourth straight loss.

Thompson scored 13 points in the first quarter, 11 in succession, as he built up a 15-7 lead for Denver. The Nuggets led 28-25 after the first quarter.

Denver held a 48-41 lead when Chicago scored the final 13 points in the second quarter to take a 54-48 lead. Mickey Johnson scored seven of his 15 points in this streak and he wound up with 30 points for the evening.

THE BULLS held a 70-69 lead going into the final period.

A basket by Bobby Jones put Denver ahead for good, 78-77. Thompson had a streak of eight consecutive poists in the closing minutes and wound up with 11 points in the final quarter. He was supported by center Dan Issel with 21 points and Jones with 19.

Artis Gilmore had 19 points for Chicago.

In other NBA action Friday night Pete Maravich scored 20 of his 24 points during the third period to lead the New Orleans Jazz to a 127-119 victory over the San Antonio Spurs, and defensive-minded guard Brian Taylor hit a pair of quick baskets late in the third stanza to break a tie and send the Kansas City Kings to a 112-103 win over the Indiana Pacers.

ELVIN HAYES sank 13 of his game high 28 points in the third period and rookie guard Larry Wright added 23 points as the Washington Bullets held off a late surge to dump the Boston Celtics, 107-104.

Bob McAdoo scored 30 points to lead eight Braves in double figures to help the Buffalo Braves hand Detroit a 122-108 setback, and guards Nate Archibald and John Williamson carried the New York Nets for most of the game with 42 points between them in a 95-91 victory over the Houston Rockets.

Fieldhouse, DuPage top N4C run; Harper in 3rd

The College of DuPage put four runners in the top 10 and went on to win the N4C Junior College cross-country championship hosted by Harper at Palatine Hills Friday.

Despite the impressive DuPage showing, Harper's Wil Fieldhouse captured the conference individual title by covering five miles in 26:37. The Hawks were third as a team.

Fieldhouse's nearest pursuers were Raul Valdez of Triton, who finished 16 seconds behind, and DuPage's Lou Agnew, who was third in 26:57.

"I EXPECTED Agnew to be up there," said Fieldhouse, who will run in the Junior College nationals Nov. 13. "I don't think he ever led. I figured he'd go by me at the two-or three-mile mark but he didn't and I wasn't going to argue with him about it."

Agnew was followed into the chute by DuPage teammates Mike Miller, fifth; Paul Wilhite, sixth; Don Imhoff, seventh; and Dan Payne, 11th. The winning total was 32.

Triton, keyed by Valdez and Greg Katsion, who was fourth, finished second behind DuPage with 46 points.

Harper's second man was Tim Blechl in eighth place. Also counting for the Hawks were Mike Fischer in 12th, Augie Ziccarelli in 14th and Rich School in 16th. Harper had 51 points.

Wright was fourth with 96 and Illinois Valley was last with 121.

Crystal Lake offers top sectional run

by ART MUGALIAN
Cross-Country Editor

The IHSA will bring Peoria to Crystal Lake today.

It sounds like a disgusting idea, but it's only for one day.

If you can't make it to the IHSA Class AA cross-country finals in Peoria next weekend, then you should get out to Crystal Lake's Veteran Acres Park today at 11 a.m.

That's when just about all the state's top harrier teams clash in the Crystal Lake Sectional. They will do battle for the five state-meet berths — and the order of finish is anybody's guess. But the odds are awfully good that one of those five teams will eventually emerge as the Class AA champion Nov. 13.

THE FIVE TEAMS are Fremd, Palatine, Deerfield, Maine West and Maine East. Making allowance for downstate power Alton, darkhorse candidate Wheaton North, and perennial contender York, these are THE TEAMS.

Each one has been prominently mentioned and highly touted as championship material this season. Each one has been ranked in the top three among Class AA schools at some time during the year.

And each one is overly glad that five teams will be advancing from the sectional, instead of three as had been the rule until the IHSA this year split the classes and changed the rules.

The other 10 teams at Crystal Lake today — including Mid-Suburban representatives Hoffman Estates, Rolling Meadows, Arlington and Forest View — are all district qualifiers. But it would take a magnificent effort for any of them to make it into the top five.

Deerfield, back in first place in the Timely Times poll this week, may be the favorite, led by twins Todd and Mark McCallister. But coach Len Kisellus isn't emphasizing victory in his team meetings until next week.

"MY CONCERN is that we get through the sectional healthy," said Kisellus, whose team is undefeated in 1976. "Naturally, we'd like to win it, but Crystal Lake is a tough course and it's easy for a runner to get hurt there.

"We just want to get downstate without any injuries," Kisellus added.

The hilly, picturesque Veteran Acres course is pitted with obstacles, making it one of the state's most challenging layouts.

"I think both Fremd and Palatine are real tough," said Kisellus, sizing up the titanic field of opponents in the sectional. "Fremd will run better than they did last week. And Maine West, Maine East and Hoffman are tough too. It's got to be one of the toughest — if not the toughest — sectional in the state."

KISELLUS ALSO likes Todd McCallister's chances of claiming a sectional championship for himself. The junior harrier was beaten by Forest View's Darryl Robinson in the Maine East District meet.

"Maine East is a sprinter's course and Robinson is a sprinter," said Kisellus. "Whether it's two-and-three-quarters or 2.8, it's a short course. The Cyrstal Lake course will tell us more. I think you can look for Todd to run a good race."

Robinson and Conant District champ John Filosa of Fremd will have plenty of additional competition for the individual title. Among them will be Conant's Dan Cummings, Meadows' Tom Choice, Prospect's Mark Smith, Wheeling's Ben Sanchez, Buffalo Grove's Joe Schmidt, Hoffman's Tim Jorgenson, St. Viator's Dave Efken, Palatine's Tom Johnson and Chuck Elliott, Maine West's Brian Tolan and Wauconda's Ray Cardinal.

At the Glenbard West Sectional, Elk Grove's Joe Cullen will be competing individually for a shot at a state-meet berth. He needs to finish among the top five individuals who are not a part of a qualifying team.

"Joe has been running real well," said Elk Grove coach Gerry Woolard. "I don't think people realize how much he's improved in just the past three weeks."

Gillen powers St. Viator to impressive 21-15 win

by DOUG PALM

The St. Viator Lions successfully completed an undefeated East Suburban Catholic Conference season Friday night with a 21-15 victory over Marist at Rolling Meadows.

With the outright ESCC championship in hand, the Lions must now await today's drawing for their first round opponent in the IHSA 5A playoffs next Wednesday. The Lions, 7-2 in the regular season, will open the playoff competition on the road.

Friday's victory was more decisive than the final scores would indicate, as three fumbles prevented the Lions from inflicting further punishment upon the Marist defense.

SENIOR FULLBACK John Gillen was most impressive on offense for St. Viator with two touchdowns and 167 yards total offense, 124 on the ground.

Following a scoreless first quarter, Marist took advantage of a Lion fumble to gain a quick 7-0 lead, when it gained possession at the Lion 27-yard line.

With a third and 16 at the Viator 22, Marist's fine senior quarterback, Mike Hall, handed off to halfback Kevin Hayes, who, in turn, threw back to Hall. Hall ran virtually unmolested into the endzone for the touchdown.

If the Lions were shaken by the visitors, they regrouped in a hurry.

QUARTERBACK John Josten engineered a four-play, 69-yard scoring drive with two completions on his first two attempts of the night.

Josten hit Dan Bucaro for 19 yards and a first down at midfield. When two running plays lost yardage, Josten teamed up with Gillen on a screen pass down the right side for a 43-yard touchdown play.

Head Coach Jim Lyne elected to go for the two-point conversion and succeeded, when Gillen blasted off right tackle for Viator's 8-7 lead.

Neither team was able to muster any serious scoring threat before the half, but the Lions scored on their first possession of the second half.

FOLLOWING A FIRST down pass from Josten to Bucaro, Gillen burst through the left side of his offensive line and went 66 yards for a touchdown.

The Lions opened the final quarter in similar fashion, when Josten skirted right end from 35 yards out.

Marist closed to within the final six-point margin, when Hall, virtually a one-man show throughout the evening eluded three Viator defenders on a 15-yard jaunt with 1:22 remaining.

PALATINE running back Brad Bouwman (34) tries to keep his balance Friday night as Bruce Peterson (45) watches. Bouwman rushed for 78 yards but the Pirates fell to Prospect's Knights 18-0.

Prospect closes out 5-4 year with 18-0 triumph

by CHARLIE DICKINSON

The Prospect Knights shook off a pesty Palatine squad in the second half Friday night to give head coach Gary Grouwinkle a 5-4 mark in his first year with an 18-0 win.

Palatine closed its season with a 2-7 record.

Both defenses bottled up the opposition in the first half of the cold and windy contest, sending the clubs to the lockerroom warmth in a 0-0 knot.

A PALATINE fumble early in the third quarter finally turned the Knights loose.

Pirate running back Brad Bouwman, who shined on the ground with 78 yards in 10 carries, was separated from the ball and Prospect defensive end Tom Wabik scooped it up and returned it five yards to the Palatine 10 yard line.

Two plays later halfback Terry Reed swept the right side, from the seven outstepping the Palatine defenders into the end zone.

Palatine almost got back into the game on the very next series when fullback Jim Luzinski wiggled free from the Pirate 27 yard line for a 24-yard gain. Defensive back Mike Frushour, the last defender between Luzinski and the end zone, cut the legs out from under the Palatine runner to save the score.

PROSPECT QUARTERBACK Tom Franson, who completed seven of 14 passes for 101 yards, began a seven-play drive to the Knights' second touchdown with a 34-yard pass play to Reed.

Fullback Pat Murphy, the Knights' leading rusher with 77 yards in 19 carries, lugged the ball three times for 15 yards on the 65-yard march with Franson finally punching over from the one.

Palatine put up another threat with 6:50 remaining in the game when quarterback Craig Long pumped a 45-yard pass to John Commerford.

A two yard loss and a pair of incomplete passes stalled Palatine on the Knights' 38-yard line and prospect went right to work for their final touchdown.

WITH MURPHY and Dave Peterson chopping out solid yardage on the ground, the Knights moved to the Palatine 37.

Franson then went to Brad Millar, who led all receivers with four catches for 83 yards, for a 10-yard advance.

Three plays later the Knights worked a double reverse, Andy Loos capping the play with a 49-yard touchdown pass to Millar.

Lindstrom also broke the record that she already owned in the individual medley by posting a 2:12.496, bettering the mark of 2:12.518 she set last year.

Naperville North posted the best time in the medley relay, coming in with a new state record of 1:55.006. That bettered Wheaton North's record of 1:56.089 set last year.

Liz Hobbs of University High in Normal won the 50-free with a record of 24.330, bettering the 24.972 set by St. Charles' Lori Stauffer last year.

Paula Hummel of Joliet West beat Stauffer's record 55.148 time in the 100-free by posting a 54.159 to take the event Friday. Glenbrook North's team won the free relay in a state record time of 3:45.923, besting Northbrook's 1975 mark of 3:47.923.

IN OTHER EVENTS, Kathy Hemmer of Lake Forest won the 200-free in 1:57.362. Hemmer's teammate Karen Eklund, leads in diving with 278.64 points.

Gretchen Fricke of St. Charles posted the best time in the butterfly with a 1:00.376. Hinsdale Central's Diane Griebel topped the field in the 500-free with a time of 5:12.346 and Maine East's Dawn Jensen finished first in the breaststroke with a 1:10.141.

Warriors fall to Niles West, 34-12

by JIM O'DONNELL

The Maine West Warriors closed out a disappointing season with a 34-13 loss to the visiting Niles West Indians Friday night.

The game was like a three-round fight. The first round encompased the game's opening two quarters, during which the Indians piled up a decisive 21-0 edge.

The Warriors dominated the next round, the opening 15 minutes of the second half. During the period, two Bob Aslan-touchdowns enabled Maine West to narrow the visitors' lead to 21-12.

DURING THE FINAL round, the game's last nine minutes, Niles West completely shut off the Warriors' offense and turned two interceptions into 13 points. Although the referees didn't stop the bout, the Indians walked away with the split decision.

As has been the case so many times during the last three Maine West football seasons, Bob Zuccarini paced the Warriors. The senior quarterback-safety completed eight of 13 passes for 108 yards, including a 32-yard scoring hit to Aslan. Zuccarini also intercepted a Niles West pass on the opening play of the fourth quarter that led to Maine West's second touchdown. But it all went for naught as the re-charged Indians picked off two of Zuccarini's catch-up passes in the game's waning minutes to seal the decision.

Aslan, in addition to scoring twice, rushed for 45 yards, caught three passes for another 58 yards, and completed a pass to Ken Kunze. Forrest Wantroba led all Maine West ball carriers with 65 yards.

For a brief moment midway through the second half, the Warriors appeared to be knocking at victory's door. Trailing 21-12 with seven minutes remaning, Maine West forced the Indians to punt from their own 38. Unfortunately for Warrior boosters, Aslan juggled the kick and it was recovered by Indian Chuck Closer. Three minutes later Niles West's Joe Hanrahan scored, and the stands started to empty as the fans sought relief from the blustery autumn air.

THE WARRIORS did notch 11 first downs compared to the victor's nine. Particularly outstanding for the Maine West defense were linemen Dave Anderson and Tom Frazier.

The loss capped a roller coaster week for the Warriors. They dominated Niles East last Saturday, 43-0. But it was a different story Friday night. Maine West ends it season with a 2-7 mark.

Polluters facing 'cost of dying' increases

Is any fish dinner worth $57 a pound?

It is if a rare sturgeon comes floating to the polluted surface of a lake or stream and you are the polluter.

The bill is $3.99 a pound for northern pike, $2.85 for largemouth bass, $1.14 for catfish and only 17 cents per pound for the ubiquitous carp.

The price of raw fish absorbed a cost of dying increase of 14 per cent. The fines will be levied against water polluters who cause the fish die-offs.

THE ILLINOIS Dept. of Conservation, in an effort to crack down harder on pollution violators, has raised the ante and called it "simple inflation."

While discouraging polluters, the increased charge will be poured into the Illinois Game and Fish Fund and all monies collected from the fines will be used to the fisherman's benefit.

Major fish kills, many of which go unpublicized, occur at the rate of about two per month, according to Conservation Dept. figures.

To date this year, 19 fish kills attributed to pollution have destroyed 377,000 fish valued at $50,000.

IN 1975, $28,000 WORTH of fish made an unscheduled appearance belly-up on the surface of various lakes, streams and rivers in Illinois. One-half of the damages have been collected from parties responsible for the fish kill.

The state was rocked by the largest die-off in recent history when 170,000 fish valued at $24,635 were discovered at Queens Lake in Clinton County in February.

The cause of the kill was traced to a pipeline that was dripping ammoniated liquid fertilizer into the lake. The $24,635 poisoning is still in the process of being collected with both the Conservation Dept. and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency pursuing the guilty party.

Pollution, a major cause of a fish kill, is not the only one. Disease takes a heavy toll as well.

RECORDS INVOLVING fish die-offs have been kept since 1962. During these 15 years, 259 fish kills have been investigated.

Not all reports of dead fish floating to the top or washing on shore are considered die-offs. All but the smallest kills are estimated with the average number of fish killed from at least three 200-foot sections of a stream is used in estimating the death toll.

At least every mile of a stream in which a kill has occurred is sampled to determine the average.

Almost one-third of the 259 die-offs recorded are still listed as causes unknown. Another one-third were due to industrial pollution in the form of acids, paints, lye or other toxic substances.

FIFTEEN PER CENT of those cases were attributed to agriculture-related problems such as fertilizer or manure runoff of poisons, an equivalent 15 per cent were traced to municipal sewage plants and a final 15 per cent blamed on transportation-related incidents such as spills and wrecks.

The end result?

Over 10 million fish valued at $619,000 have been killed. That's a lot of dinners and an expensive food bill.

And it doesn't even include the tip.

WATER POLLUTION is a silent killer, but a killer nonetheless. Even these carp, which have a high tolerance for dirty water, can't survive. Polluters are now facing stiffer fines.

Low water conditions hit hunters

Duck hunters at many of the state managed hunting areas will find low water. However this should be offset somewhat by one of the largest expected fall migrations in years.

Due to drought conditions hunters may have to pole their boats to many blind sites, while some cases the water level is so low they will have to walk part way.

"We are pumping water into the hunging areas where it is possible, but in some cases that is not enough,"

The majority of Illinois hunting seasons open at sunrise and end at sunset on a daily basis. The following times, according to the Old Farmer's Almanac, are applicable for the week of Nov. 6-13.

Sunday 6:31 a.m. and 4:35 p.m., Monday 6:32 and 4:34, Tuesday 6:33 and 4:33; Wednesday 6:34 and 4:32, Thursday 6:35 and 4:31; Friday 6:36 and 4:30 and Saturday 6:38 and 4:29.

said John McGuire, Director of the Illinois Dept. of Conservation. "We recommend hunters telephone the areas prior to the hunt when they are in doubt about water conditions."

BLINDS ON the Mississippi and Illinois rivers may experience some problems, especially those along Calhoun County. Carlyle Lake will be lower than normal this year. However walk-in hunters should find an adequate amount of water for hunting.

The Fishhook Area at Lake Shelbyville shows low water which has decreased the hunting acreage. Hunters may find crowded conditions and should telephone ahead for a report of the water condition.

Waterfowl hunters at state managed daily draw areas must report to the check station two hours before sunrise to register for the drawing. Areas affected include Sangchris, Lake DePue and Mermet Lake.
ue and Mermet Lake.

"Although we are experiencing water problems at many areas, there are several bright spots to report," McGuire said. "Biologists expect one of the largest waterfowl migrations in years this fall, and both natural and planted food conditions are almost ideal. We expect the visiting waterfowl to remain in Illinois longer, and hunters should have an excellent season."

Caution loaders using steel shot

A word of caution is being issued to handloaders. Waterfowl hunters in the Mississippi Flyway will be required to shoot steel shot loads beginning next year and many gunners are probably planning to handload their own.

However, acceptable steel shot loads are unavailable to reloaders at this time and handloaders should wait until these products are on the market.

Some steel shot pellets are harder than the barrels they would be fired through. They could badly score barrel walls and distort chokes. Special wads and sleeves are also needed when shooting steel pellets.

Hybrids may prevent pond stunting

Hybrid sunfish specially bred for rearing in small ponds are being experimentally stocked in 20 Illinois ponds this fall by the Illinois Dept. of Conservation.

Small ponds often have too many bluegills and not enough bass. The solution might be to cross-breed bluegill and sunfish for a hybrid which would reproduce at a lower rate than either parent, according to Thixton Miller, staff management fishery biologist for the Illinois Dept. of Conservation.

Most of the 73,000 ponds of six acres or less in Illinois are man-made and on private rural property. The typical farm pond owner pays little attention to aquatic weeds or how many bass are removed from his pond.

TYPICALLY, when too few bass feed off the bluegill, the pond is inundated with tiny bluegills or sunfish which never attain normal adult size. "In a year, bluegills often get ahead of you so far you never catch up," Miller said.

Killing all the fish in a pond and starting over is often the only feasible solution to correcting an overbalance of bluegills once they become too numerous.

The idea of developing a hybrid is to take advantage of the fact that hybrids usually lack the fertility of the species from which they were bred. The lack of fertility results from hybrid combinations of bluegill and sunfish which usually produces a disproportionate number of male fish. The challenge is to find a hybrid combination which will produce enough females to maintain the species as a forage base for bass without producing so many that they take over.

The hybrid sunfish to be used in this fall's experimental stocking is the offspring of a union between male green sunfish and female bluegills — a hybrid combination that usually produces approximately 60% males in subsequent generations. The combination of female green sunfish with male bluegills yields a hybrid that reproduces about 90% males, which is considered by Miller to result in a breed not able to maintain itself in conjunction with predator species.

NEXT YEAR, Milleer said, more ponds probably will be experimentally stocked with other hybrid combinations of sunfish.

Another variable to be studied is the proportion of sunfish to bass in each stocking. Proportions of 10 to 1, 15 to 1, and 20 to 1 will be used in various ponds, Miller said, to determine which mix is the most successful at achieving balanced populations of adult fish.

In return for free stocking of the hybrid sunfish and bass, the pond owner is expected to keep records as to what is taken out of the pond and to allow sampling of the pond twice yearly for five years by Department of Conservation fishery biologists. One sampling each year would be to monitor fish population balance, the other to verify reproduction.

Ponds picked for the study were usually new ponds with no previous fish populations, Miller said.

Besides encouraging more stable panfish populations, the hybrids have another bonus for pond owners; they grow to a larger size and do so much faster than the average bluegill or sunfish.

Bears, Raiders in rare battle

The Chicago Bears have played the Oakland Raiders only once before, losing 28-21 in 1972, and few of the Bears' team or staff have any idea what to expect on Sunday other than things their film studies show.

Yet Coach Jack Pardee believes his team, with a 4-4 record in the National Football Conference, could turn in a win over an American Football Conference leader with a 7-1 record. Two of the present Bears, linebacker Ross Brupbacher and defensive tackle Jim Osborne, started in 1972 against Oakland.

"I haven't been on a team that's ever faced Oakland," Pardee said. "But I know their personnel from the films, and they have an excellent running game. Then with Fred Biletnikoff and Cliff Branch and Ken Stabler, they've got a bomb threat right up there with Los Angeles, Dallas and Minnesota.

"STILL, I THINK we can give them problems. I don't think they can play defense like the Bears, and their defense has had to juggle with three new defensive linemen and a rookie. They give you an odd man defense and they do things on defense that are hard to pick up, like Ted Hendricks on the blitz."

The Bears, though, have juggled a bit on defense themselves. Last week against Minnesota four defensive linemen, Wally Chambers, Ron Rydalch, Osborne and Mike Hartenstine, played 90 per cent of the time.

This week, Pardee left no doubt, he'll be doing the same thing since the moves were fairly successful against the Vikings. The shifts hinge on Chambers, playing tackle or end, and switching from one to the other.

CHAMBERS LIKED the shift last week, from a technical standpoint, but he affirmed he was "happier" playing inside where he's closer to the ball and can get to it easier.

"It's easier to pursue because you're closer," he said, "or else they have to come back at you."

Because of the respect the Bears have for Stabler's passing, there may be some changes in the defensive backfield. These would put more pass defense responsibility on the linebackers and give cornerbacks Alan Ellis and Virgil Livers less responsibility up close so they can stay with Bilenikoff and Branch on the bombs.

Pardee wants to produce a more varied offense, but his chances may be hampered by an ankle sprain which has slowed Walter Payton for two games. He said he wanted Bob Avellini to pass more, but added he didn't want to throw "30 or 35 times a game because that's the way you lose."

THE BEARS, who have met playoff teams, Washington, Minnesota twice, Los Angeles and Dallas in the last five games, now face a sixth playoff club, but still had hopes of making the playoffs themselves.

"We've probably got to win all the rest ourselves to do it," Chambers said. "But we think we can."

If they can beat Oakland, he might be right.

Harper hosts Rams

Wright challenges No. 6

by CHARLIE DICKINSON

The Harper Hawks will attempt to stall the conclusion of their season today at 1:30 p.m. when they host the Rams of Wright in their final regular season game.

A win would have the Hawks, ranked sixth in the nation, with an 8-1 record and, according to athletic director John Gelch, "a possibility of being invited to the Wool Bowl."

The Wool Bowl will be played Nov. 27 in Rosswell, N.M. and Gelch remarked, "A lot of things have to happen. The most important, of course, is that we have to beat Wright."

THE RAMS only losses are to Joliet and Concordia, both of which Haprer has beaten in the past two weeks, but Harper head coach John Eliasik said, "I think they're better than Joliet."

Wright is a large, physical team and the Hawks will be meeting them at something less than full strength.

"We had a lot of people knocked around in the Concordia game," Eliasik said, "and we won't know until Saturday who will play and who will be out."

Defensive backs Chet DeKing and Tim Twitchell and defensive end Kevin Koppari are probable starters after sitting out all or part of the Concordia game.

TACKLE STEVE LONG is, according to Eliasik, "very doubtful" and defensive end Jim Broderick has a knee injury.

Most major colleges would like to have typical players the size of ends Ed Stefanowicz (6-1, 245) and DeMar Sims (6-1, 220) and tackles Ron Lewis (6-4, 265) and Judd Campbell (6-3, 254).

"In the Wright-Joliet game (which Joliet won 8-7)," Eliasik said, "Wright was the more physical team."

HARPER WILL try to negate the effect of all that beef with a direct bypass through the air.

"No doubt about it," Eliasik said, "we've got to pass."

The Harper passing attack fell on hard times in last weeks' 21-19 win over Concordia, quarterback Jim Atkinson hitting just seven of 27 passes for 87 yards on a wet afternoon.

"The rain hurt our passing game," Eliasik said. "If we have another day where we can't pass, we'll be in trouble."

THE WRIGHT offense will feature a familiar face to Harper fans. Mike Amundsen, who once hauled the ball for the Hawks, is the Rams' starting left halfback.

Filling out the backfield will be quarterback Charlie Bliss, fullback Ben Gray and halfback Jeff Gruber.

"We haven't thrown much this year," Wickstrom said, "because our running game has usually worked. We like to think we're balanced and take what the defense gives us."

Bliss has thrown for over 400 yards and six touchdowns. Gray, Gruber and Amundsen have totaled nearly 1,400 yards on the ground with Gray the leader at 647.

HARPER HAS beaten nationally ranked teams the last two weeks. Wright is not ranked but they could be the toughest of the three.

"If we win," Eliasik said, "we could move into the top five. After that, we'll just have to wait and see."

Catholic bishops to study church 'experiment' results

When the Roman Catholic bishops meet in Washington next week, foremost on their minds will be the Church's experiment in democracy — an experiment whose results startled and, in some instances, displeased the hierachy.

The experiment was the climax of the 50-million-member Church's observance of the American Bicentennial — a three-day "Call to Action" meeting in Detroit during which 1,340 delegates were to map the church's strategy for justice in the Church and society for the next five years.

But the delegates, the most diverse group of Catholics ever assembled, went beyond the expectations of the bishops who are not rushing to implement any of the more radical resolutions.

ARCHBISHOP JOSEPH L. Bernardin of Cincinnati, president of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, labeled the results of the Detroit meeting "mixed" and was critical of the haste with which some resolutions were passed and the role of what he termed "special interest groups."

At Detroit, the delegates covered eight major topics, ranging from ethnic concerns to the role of the family, together which, Bernardin said, "overwhelmed the conference."

Among the recommendations the conference made that will be most troublesome to the hierarchy were a call for ordination to the priesthood of women and married men, changes in the Church's view toward divorced and remarried Catholics, ending their automatic excommunication and an easing of the Church's traditional teaching banning all forms of artificial birth control.

BERNARDIN ALSO WAS critical of the role played by organized groups advocating particular issues, such as those groups pushing for opening the priesthood to women.

Bernardin said the bishops will use some very stiff criteria in judging the resolutions, including the teaching of the Church and its laws and disciplines, making it clear that there is unlikely to be any drastic action on the part of the bishops with regard to the most radical resolutions.

Ask Andy

Nation gets nickname 'Uncle Sam'

Andy sends the Encyclopaedia Britannica's 1976 Yearbook of Science and the Future to Karen Saeger of Allentown, Pa., for her question:

COULD YOU PLEASE TELL ME ABOUT UNCLE SAM?

A man by the name of Samuel Wilson started the idea which grew up to be Uncle Sam, our most popular national symbol. Wilson lived in Troy, N.Y., and was the official inspector of food and other supplies purchased for the U.S. Army troops in the War of 1812. Following inspection, all the shipments were branded "U.S." by Wilson, whose nickname was "Uncle Sam."

People in New York and Vermont who opposed the war began using "Uncle Sam" as a nickname for the government. In 1813 the nickname appeared in a Troy, N.Y., newspaper, and three years later a book came out entitled "The Adventures of Uncle Sam."

In 1834 Uncle Sam's human form was pictured in the familiar costume of stars and stripes. Originally he was a young man, without a beard or gray hair. The stern but kindly looking older man with formal top hat made his debut during the middle 1800s. And except for slight changes in his outfit, this favorite poster subject has remained pretty much the same.

His image has appeared on armed forces and defense poant recruitment posters, and, in countless cartoons all over the world. Sometimes cartoonists opposed to government policies will characterize Uncle Sam unflatteringly, as a greedy, power-hungry or foolish old man, for example. Most often, however, people associate Uncle Sam with patriotism and good citizenship.

A few people regard Uncle Sam an inappropriate symbol for a country so modern and complex. They complain that America's broad cultural background is hardly symbolized by this crude stereotype. Yet he has endured, probably because of the combined genius of cartoonists who continually refer to the thriving young country with his tall forceful figure. Famed cartoonist Thomas Nast featured Uncle Sam in countless cartoons during the 25 years following the Civil War.

HOLIDAY CANDLE RING

Here's a great way to use all those small pine cones, seed pods, sweet gum balls, and acorns you've collected this fall! You can also add clean peach and plum pits and nuts in the shell.

Cut a 7-inch circle of heavy cardboard. Put a big candle in the middle. Draw around it, then remove the candle. Glue a circle of pine cones and other dried things around the outside rim of the cardboard with brown linoleum paste. Then glue things around the inside circle. (Be sure to leave enough room for the candle.) Continue until the whole circle is covered.

Add a perky bow. Set the candle in the center. This candle ring looks great on a holiday table. It also makes a nice gift for someone special.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE – Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Program on bald eagle at Audubon meet Nov. 18

by LEA TONKIN

A decline in the eagle population during the past 20 years has caused concern among environmentalists, including the Northwest suburban-based Prairie Woods Audubon Society.

The group has invited naturalist Terrence Ingram to present an "Eagle Country" program at its Nov. 18 meeting, open to the public. The session will be at 7:30 p.m. at the Arlington Heights Memorial Library, 500 N. Dunton Ave.

Ingram is among the founders of Eagle Valley Environmentalists Inc., a nonprofit Wisconsin organization dedicated to the preservation of the eagle. The group is conducting fundraising campaigns to preserve eagle habitat in the United States.

THERE ARE TWO races of the bald eagle, chosen as the U.S. national emblem in 1782. Southern bald eagles are found in Gulf coast states. The northern bald eagle primarily nests in Northern Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan, Canada and Alaska. Although bald egale nesting sites are protected in national forests, the eagle population has declined. Hunting, and pesticides are believed to account for the decline.

The Prairie Woods Audubon Society has more than 800 members in Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Buffalo Grove, Hoffman Estates and other nearby communities.

A NEW INFORMATION center has opened at Illinois Beach State Park near Zion. Displays in the center offer information on the ecology of sand dunes. The center is open from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Friday through Sunday during the fall and winter months. Wednesday hours will be scheduled in May.

THE ILLINOIS Prairie chicken population continues to suffer setbacks, reports Glenn Sanderson of the Illinois Natural History Survey's wildlife research section. Fewer than 500 of the birds, an endangered species, remain in the state. Increased predation, the arrival of pheasants at prairie chicken habitats and cold spring weather are cited as causes for the problem.

PRESERVATION OF the bald eagle will be discussed at the Nov. 18 meeting of the Prairie Woods Audubon Society in Arlington Heights.

College fair at McCormick Place

The Chicago National College Fair will be at McCormick Place Friday, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and 6 to 10 p.m. and Saturday, Nov. 13 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Representatives from colleges, universities, military academies and career colleges will be on hand to discuss their institutions' programs and facilities. Information also will be available for adults interested in continuing education, veterans and minorities.

Admission is free.

Premarital course offered at hospital

Engaged couples are invited to a pre-marital institute at Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge, from 7:30 to 10 p.m. Monday and on Nov. 15, 22 and 29.

Lectures and discussions about the physical, emotional, spiritual and social aspects of marriage will be directed by a physician, psychiatrist, social worker, hospital chaplain and financial adviser.

The tuition is $20 per couple and covers the cost of materials that include a "Sex Knowledge Inventory" and various textbooks. Couples may enroll by calling the hospital's pastoraa care division at 696-6395, or by contacting their clergyman.

Obituaries

Bertha C. Trimble

Services for Bertha C. Trimble, 68, of Des Plaines, will be at 11 a.m. Monday in Oehler Funeral Home, Lee and Perry streets, Des Plaines. Burial will be in Towne of Maine Cemetery, Park Ridge.

She died Thursday at Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge.

Survivors include her husband, Loren; son, Loren C. Trimble; brother, Harvey C. Schroeder; sisters Elsie Kusander and Edna Pevarcyk; and two grandchildren.

Visitation will be from 3:30 to 9:30 p.m. Sunday in Oehler Funeral Home. Memorials may be made to the Chicago Heart Assn.

Nell M. Shawhan

A private memorial service for Nell M. Shawhan, 85, of Arlington Heights, will be today in Lauterburg and Oehler Funeral Home, 2000 E. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights.

She died Friday in Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights.

Survivors include a son, Robert Shawhan; brother, Howard Simpson; three grandchildren; and one great-grandchild.

LeRoy L. Gittings

Services and burial for LeRoy L. Gittings, 38, of Palatine, will be Tuesday in Youngtown, Ariz. Arrangements are being handled by Lundberg Mortuary, 11211 Michigan Ave.

He was dead on arrival early Thursday morning at Condell Memorial Hospital, Libertyville, apparently from injuries sustained in a car-truck accident on Ill. Rte. 12 north of Wauconda. He was employed as a bartender at Magilla's Club, Island Lake.

Survivors include his parents, Samuel and Matilda Gittings.

Visitation will be from 3 to 9 p.m. Sunday in the McMurrough Funeral Home, 101 Park Pl., Libertyville.

490378...loves...341205...

by Laura Schmalbach

At a large, well-appointed home in suburban Winnetka, an enterprising young man calls for "lights, camera, action" six days a week. He's filming potential love stories, and while the finished product doesn't have a chance of making Hollywood, the actors and actresses don't mind — they come away with plenty of their own action.

The scenario looks like this: open to a Rush Street singles bar on a Friday night, and slowly pan the crowd of lonely professionals mouthing the same old lines and walking out with what-am-I-doing-wrong looks of despair.

Enter Gary Orman, a commercial artist who's had a hankering to get into the dating business ever since a computer date bombed out his freshman year at the University of Illinois. Orman sets up a videotape system which records a 10-minute interview with each lonely single, and presto-chango, the tapes turn into dates for the poorer participants (men shell out $89 for the six-month service, women get off at $49).

Cut to a rosy sunset as the TV couples fade away arm in arm, and you've got a pretty good idea of the ambitious script of Visual Dates, Ltd.

So far, it seems to be working. Since Visual Dates opened up shop four months ago, it has attracted 200 singles from Lake Shore Drive to Libertyville, all eager to meet new faces without the hassles of singles bars and blind dates.

While decidedly unorthodox, Visual Dates' approach is a far cry from computer dating, which could easily match you with a "great guy" who loved sailing and poetry and then turned out to be a 250-pound slob in real life. That unknown factor isn't in the picture at Visual Dates, says Orman, and as a result, "the people who join this don't need help getting a date . . . they just want to be selective about it.

"We're not providing a matchmaking service here," he adds emphatically. "Most of our clients are good-looking professionals who want to meet new people, and we're giving them that opportunity.

"Let's face it, if you're a blimp you're not going to expose that fact on tape," Orman says. "A lot of men are shocked when they see how attractive the women are, but that's natural for this kind of approach."

A stroll down Orman's lover's lane starts with the videotape interview, which lasts from less than five minutes to a half-hour, depending on the client's glibness before the cameras. As the client leans back and tries to look natural, Orman (off camera) fires a string of queries ranging from the standard "What do you look for in a man?" to "Why did you come here in the first place?"

The tone of the quiz is kept on the light side; the happy-talk atmosphere is permeated with self-conscious giggles and nervous smiles as Orman shifts from sports to music to horoscopes. If it all sounds suspiciously like an encounter at Butch McGuire's, it's supposed to be.

Explains Orman: "There's too much sobriety in this world already . . . you can't cover someone's life in 10 minutes, so I don't try. By keeping a relaxed mood, people can see how well a potential date copes with a conversation. Besides, most people are nervous anyway, and a heavy discussion wouldn't help it all."

Once the interview is completed, the clients attend a private, once-a-month screening with Orman to scan potentials like Craig, a nervous 28-year-old CPA who likes cross country skiing and "Women who aren't gamey," and 27-year-old Mary, a divorcee who says she's "sick and tired" of singles bars.

The monthly screenings include two sets of tapes — those of men or women who have viewed your tape and are interested, and new batches from which you chose your own promising candidates. If a man or woman like each other's tape, Orman hands out phone numbers and his end of the deal is completed.

Theoretically, both sexes are free to make the first move, but it's usually the male who sets up the meeting. Bad apples are often weeded out in the initial phone conversation, says Orman, and by the time the couple gets together, "it's a relaxed kind of thing . . . they've already got something to go on."

Whether or not Orman's clients need his help, the Big Question remains: why would a glamorous stewardess or handsome stockbroker (Visual Dates has had both) join a dating service when they seem to epitomize the carefree life of a swinging single?

At this point, Orman's eyes light up and the artist-turned entrepreneur waxes eloquent.

"Oh, I know the stereotype . . . that anyone who joins that kind of thing is some kind of deviate," he shrugs with a glance out to the quiet residential street. "But it all comes down to the fact that unless you have the type of job where you're meeting a lot of new people, it's damn hard . . . these people are often older, and they've had it with the singles bar bit.

"Women don't want to walk into a bar and be treated like a piece of meat. And singles complexes are kind of hoaky in my book — the air is filled with hair spray and big smiles."

Has the popularity of "Looking for Mr. Goodbar," the recent bestseller about the dangers of the singles life, played a role in the success of his business?

"You bet," he answers with conviction. "In a singles bar, a woman could walk out with a potential rapist. On a lower level, how do you know a guy hasn't got a wife and kids at home? Here, everyone is screened before the taping, and a deviate wouldn't want a permanent record anyway."

The non-deviates who come to Visual Dates run the gamut from college professors and business executives to stand-up comedians and hot air balloonists, with most in the 25-39 age range. Orman says 90 per cent of his male clientele are college grads, but that figure is slightly lower for the women, of which many are employed in "traditional" fields like nursing and teaching.

Whether they own a company or answer its phones, most of the first-timers at Visual Dates are a wee bit apprehensive about the experience. Many affirm on tape that "Honestly, this is the first time I've ever done anything like this," and a few admit that the ribbing from friends and coworkers gets annoying. But the benefits of the service — "Where else could you go and meet 30 new men in a half hour?" queries Orman with a grin — outweigh the drawbacks for satisfied customer Mary Ellen Svetich, a registered nurse.

Mary Ellen chatted about the service in the middle of the day because she was "too exhausted" to work that afternoon. The reason?

"Well, this week alone I had lunch with one guy, drinks the same night with another one, and dinner with another. I can't keep this up much longer."

A member since September, Mary Ellen has gone out with five men from Visual Dates. She's still seeing three, and says the service has done wonders to spike a sagging ego.

"I joined after seeing it on television because I was finding it very difficult to meet new men. I was dating sporadically, but they were all old friends. I didn't have any social contacts at work, and the bars are full of 19 and 20-year-old kids."

These days, Mary Ellen is finding she has more dates than she bargained for, and admits, "It would be natural to limit it to one or two . . . if Gary called me with a new group of men, I'd put him off for a while."

Biting off more than one can chew is also a dilemma for Mike Phillips, 37, divorced and

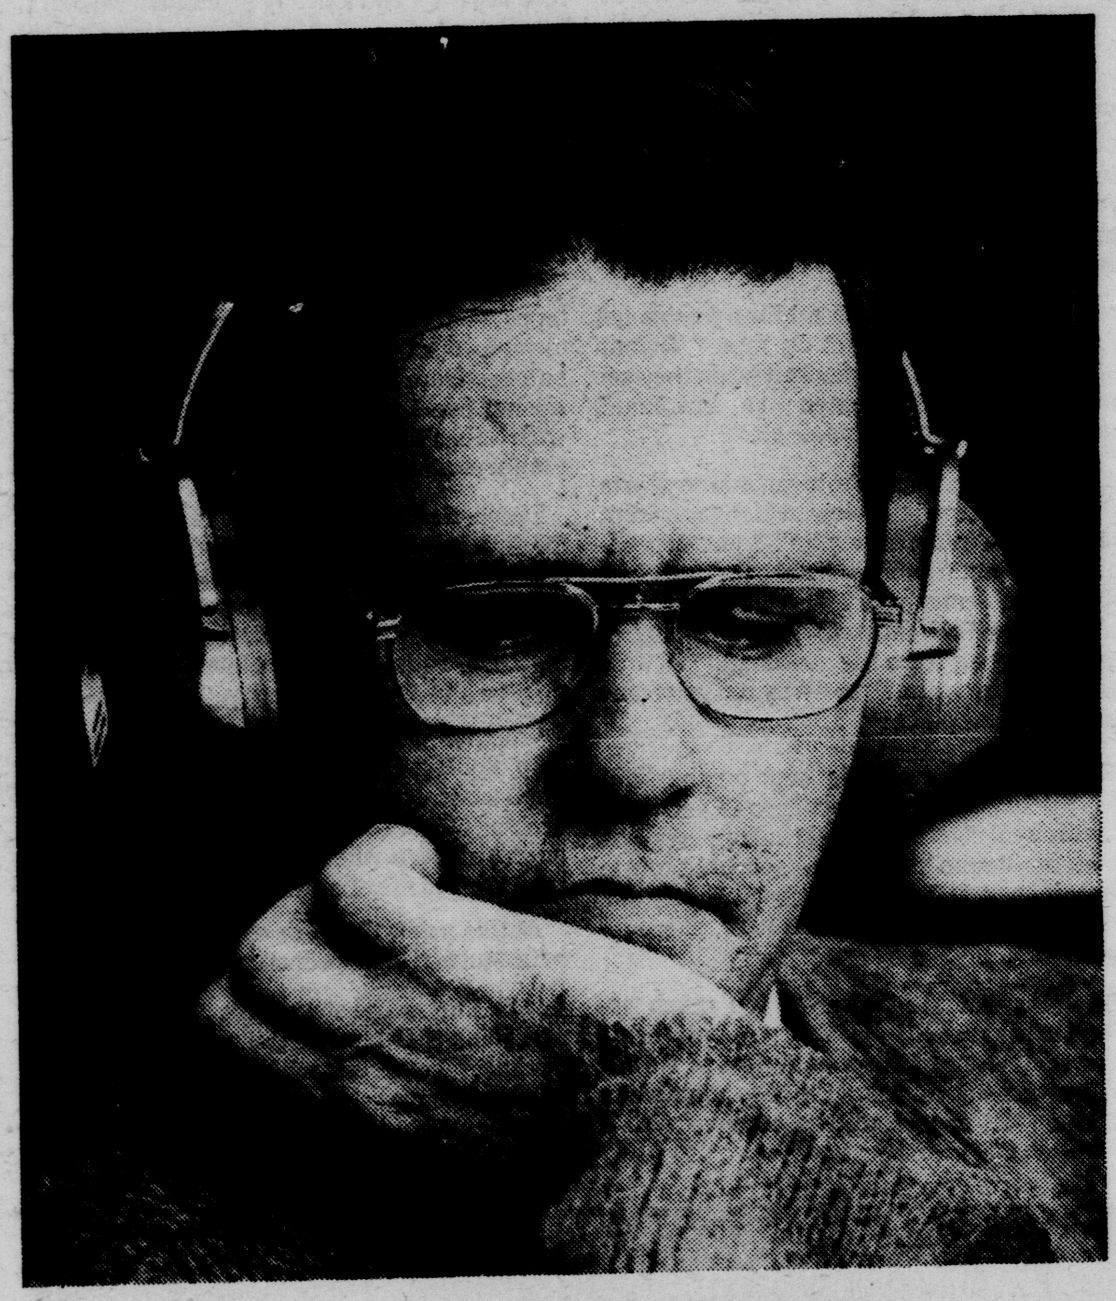
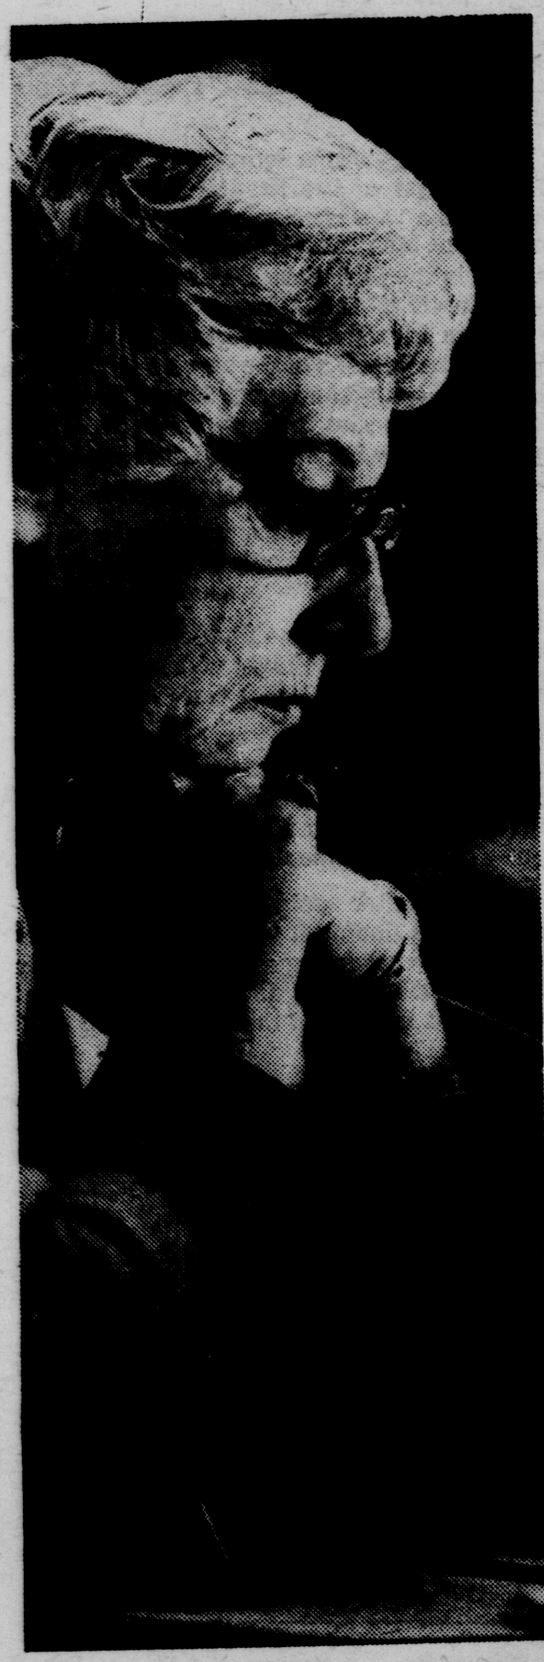
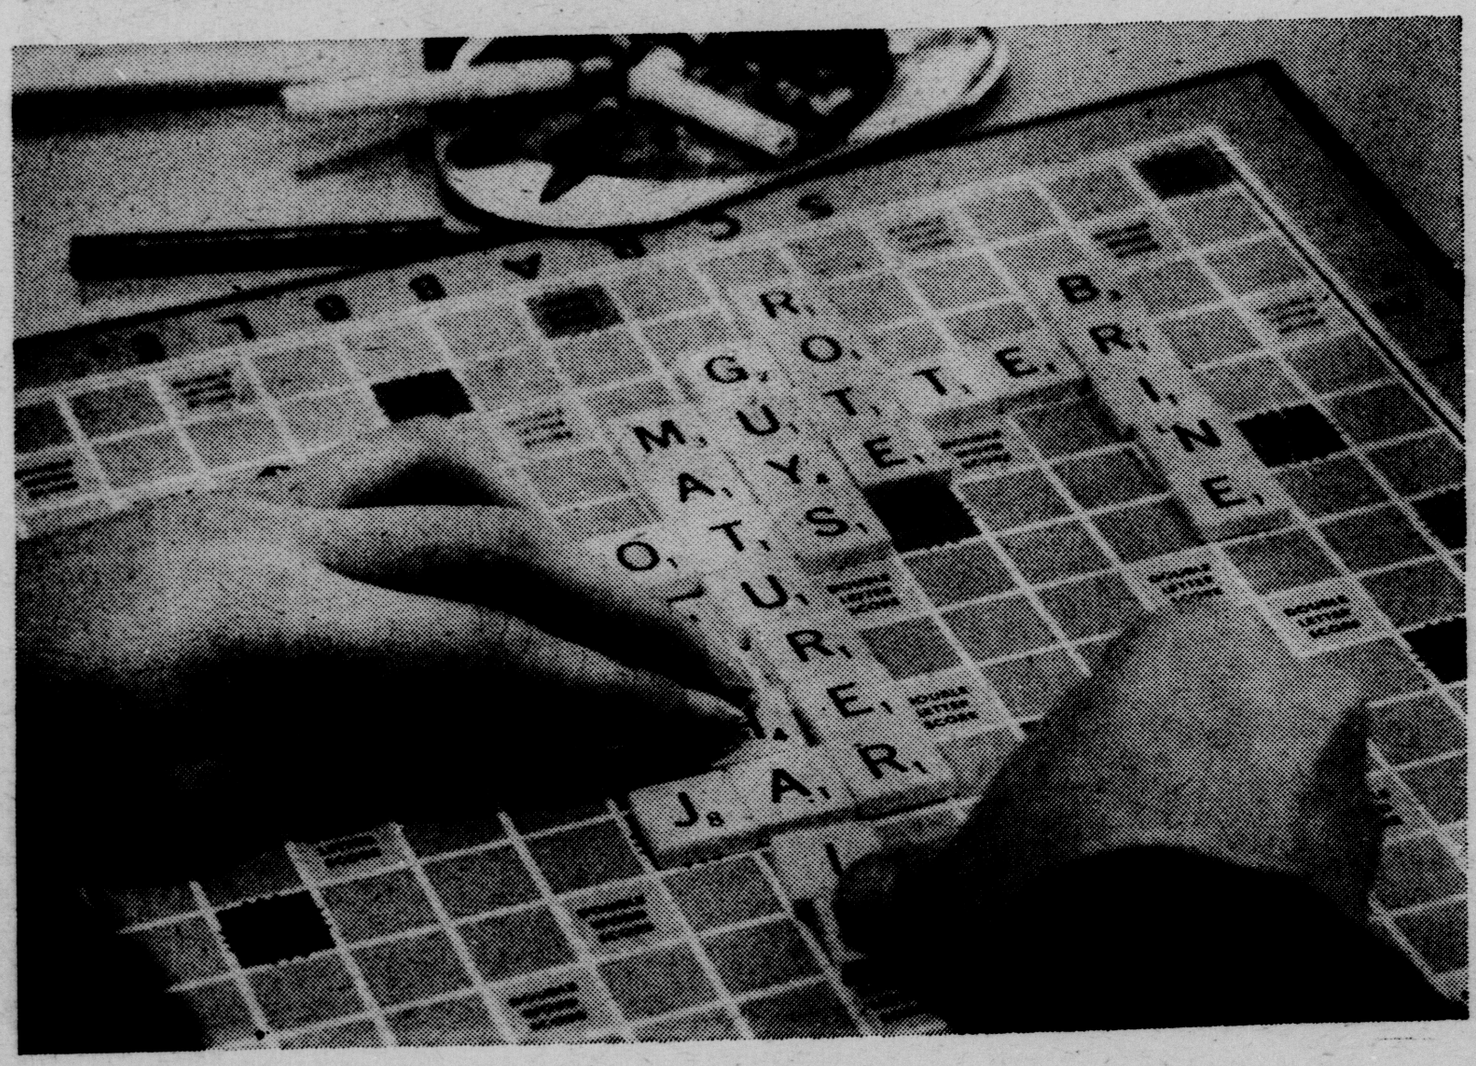
SCRABBLE FOR TYMOLOGISTS CONTESTS







Photos by Dom Najolia

by Diane Granat

There's an old joke about the people who read phone books. "Not much of a plot, but it's got a great cast of characters."

What about people who read dictionaries? If they are devoted Scrabble players, there is no joke.

Herb Laney of Des Plaines is one of those dictionary readers. Laney has been playing Scrabble since the early 1950s when the popular crossword game began its climb up the ranks of parlor games to sit beside Monopoly and Parchesi, even competing with chess and bridge for the attention of game fanatics.

With a huge unabridged Random House dictionary perched on his lap, Laney recently flipped through the pages, reciting some of the odd, but valuable, words which are vital to a good Scrabble player.

"Ozaka, snark, fatwa, zein," read Laney, 63. "Zareba — there's a zinger."

Laney, 535 Jon Ln., said he is not particularly interested in the meaning of the words he studies in the dictionary. What matters more to him is their point value.

The number of points assigned to letters and tallied in words are important in this board game in which two to four players place wooden tiles on a gridded board to form interlocking words — a la crossword puzzles.

"Z's are good to know about," Laney said. Z's, like the letters "Q," "X," "J," are worth the most points—between eight and ten points a piece, compared to one-point "A"s and "T"s.

In the past few weeks, Laney has been boning up on new words in preparation for the second annual Chicago-area Scrabble Players tournament. The tournament holds its second round of preliminaries today at Northwestern University in Evanston.

Last year about 120 Scrabble lovers came out of the parlor to compete in Chicago's first tourney. Northwestern student Allen Beach organized the tournament, anxious to bring about a "return to intellectualism" in college game-playing.

There were all sorts of word experts at last year's meet, some traveling from as far as Milwaukee to match tiles with other Scrabble die-hards.

Three "compulsive Scrabblers" from Joliet who played last year described their notion about the players who would enter the tournament in a letter to Beach:

Bob Burns tries to stump his opponent, while also beating the egg timer in the race to place a new word on the board.

"(Our) collective nightmare is to be defeated roundly by three old ladies, corseted, polka-dotted, straw-hatted and chain smoking, their palsied hands upsetting the board as they make "quetzal" for 288 points, who have played Guts Scrabble daily at a nickel a point to augment their bleak existence on social security."

The three old ladies, or similar prototypes were there, along with a dozen or so college students, an unemployed teacher, a retired laundry man, a secretary and a defense department worker.

The top winners of the tournament scored as high as 424 points, remarkable to a mere Scrabble buff who ordinarily gets about 250 points in a game.

Chicago's tournament was one of many Scrabble tournaments and clubs springing up around the country. A club even exists within the walls of the Kentucky State Penitentiary.

The local clubs belong to a national organization called Scrabble Crossword Game Players Inc., a subsidiary of Selchow and Righter Co., the game's manufacturer and owner of the Scrabble trademark.

The appearance of bona fide clubs for Scrabble devotees indicates the status the game has acquired since it was invented during the Depression by Alfred Butts, an unemployed architect. Butts was looking for an entertaining game for adults, one which might also make him rich.

He succeeded at both. The game has amused millions of people since it was mass-marketed by James Brunot in the late 1940s. Brunot sold the rights to Scrabble to Selchow and Righter in 1971, and now more than one million sets are sold annually. The game brought in a bundle for Butts, Brunot and the whole gang at Selchow and Righter.

The original Scrabble Crossword Game, its official title, spawned a whole slew of other word games: Scrabble Cubes, R.S.V.P. and R.P.M. are some of its offspring. Scrabble itself has come in many different versions — Russian, German, Arabic, French and other foreign editions, as well as one version with the board inlaid in a rug.

The Northwest suburbs does not yet have its own Scrabble Players club, but some of last year's tournament participants are eager to start one.

Bob Burns, 216 W. Wilson St., Palatine, has offered to direct a club in the Northwest suburbs if enough people are interested.

Burns discovered Scrabble two years ago when he and his wife were confined to a hotel without television or telephones. The couple became so dedicated to the game that they keep a record of every game they have ever played.

"We're both highly word-oriented," Burns said. His wife, Jean, sharpens her Scrabble skills by working crossword puzzles and anagrams and Bob uses his word skills in his job in advertising.

The Burns own eight dictionaries, including the tournament's official bible, the 1973 edition of the Funk and Wagnalls Standard College Dictionary. "Even if it's not in Funk and Wagnalls, we go into the depths of Webster's or Oxford to see if something is a word," Burns said.

Last year's tournament gav the Burns a chance to take on some new opponents, since playing each other lets them get soft, they said. But Mrs. Burns said too many of the pros were out for blood, and the tournament got a little too intense.

Another Northwest suburban couple who plays Scrabble and entered last year's tournament is Anne and Joe Rieber, 800 W. Rand Rd., Arlington Heights.

Joe, who grew up playing Scrabble on California beaches, enjoys playing the game to learn new words. "Sometimes you recall words you haven't used in your vocabulary in years," he said. Of course, some of the words are so obscure, they may never be used in conversation.

One of Scrabble's weaknesses, Anne said, is "you can't carry your Scrabble board around with you, like you can a deck of cards."

But the game is still portable enough to be found on a park bench with two elderly men pondering their next move, or in a sixth-grade classroom during a vocabulary lesson. The game has caught on — for those who like competition and have inquiring minds, and mostly, who love words.

Concentration and patience — together they might produce a winning word.

"To be a good Scrabble player you have to be a certain peculiar type," says Herb Laney, a Scrabble enthusiast from Des Plaines.

This "peculiar type" must be devoted to the dictionary and willing to memorize words which would never be used in everyday, even intelligent, conversation, Laney says. "A good memory is really the deciding factor in winning."

Some Scrabble pros will not divulge the secret to their success. But the word got out about two years ago when the national Scrabble organization first published "The Official Scrabble Players Handbook." The handbook offers pointers and strategies to win this popular word game.

Although some players, like Laney, prefer to be flamboyant and just try to accumulate lots of points, the handbook advises against this tactic.

"It is useless to score 400 points a turn if an opponent will, as a consequence of that play, score considerably more," the handbook says. The good player "constantly maneuvers for advantage and concedes as little as possible to his opponent."

One of the key strategies to learn is how to use all seven of your tiles. When a player uses all of his tiles in one turn he receives a 50-point bonus. These words, call "bingos," may appear only once in a game but they can change the entire complexion of a game by catapulting a trailing player to the lead.

A strategy knowledgeable players use to form seven-letter words is known as the "Satire Strategy." The word "satire" contains letters which will combine with 18 of the 26 letters in the alphabet to form more than 50 seven-letter words. For instance, the six letters in "satire" combined with another letter, can form baiters, raciest, hastier, veritas and misrate among other words.

Some of the playing tips offered in the players handbook and in "The Scrabble Book" by Derryn Hinch are:

- To extend words already on the board, use plurals, add endings (er, est, ing, or es) and create new words by adding letters movie guide

Designed to help readers decide which movies they want to see, this guide includes a listing of movies currently playing in the Northwest suburban area plus capsule summaries and comments based on reports of the Independent Film Journal, for selected films of interest to readers.

"The Front" — An entertaining, informative and thoroughly involving comedy-drama about the entertainment industry's infamous "black-list" of the early 1950s, with Woody Allen outstanding as a none-too-bright cashier catapuled to fame by submitting the scripts of banished TV writers under his own name. Though it's essentially a fantasy — Allen becomes a committed martyr to free speech — the film maximizes both the beginning absurdity and underlying destructiveness of the era to great effect. (PG).

"Marthan Man" — Dustin Hoffman stars as a graduate student dangerously immersed in an international intrigue involving Nazi war criminal Laurence Olivier. The film never really meshes because the plot is just too difficult to understand. Even Hoffman's character is week. (R).

"Shout at the Devil" — Epic adventure based on a true story of the destruction of a disabled World War I German warship hiding out in the innards of Africa, undergoing repair. Stars Lee Marvin, Roger Moore and Barbara Perkins. (PG).

"Carrie" — A hated high school girl develops supernatural powers and uses these powers to get revenge. Stars Sissy Spacek, Amy Irving, Piper Laurie and John Travolta. (R).

"Man Who Fell To Earth" — Director Nicolas Roeg lavishes his dazzling bag of visual tricks on a dramatically disappointing science fiction film about an alien's unhappy stay on earth. Stunning performances from David Bowie and Candy Clark and a wry script help, but the purposely disjointed story-telling allows for too much ambiguity to be truly satisfying and stimulating. (R).

ARLINGTON — Arlington Heights — 255-2125 — "Shout at the Devil" (PG).

MOUNT PROSPECT CINEMA — Mount Prospect — 392-7070 — Theater 1: "Sex With A Smile" (R); Theater 2: "Man Who Fell To Earth" (R).

DES PLAINES — Des Plaines — 824-5253 — "Midway" (PG).

GOLF MILL — Niles — 296-4500 — Theater 1: "Alex and the Gypsy" (R); Theater 2: "Shout at the Devil" (PG); Theater 3: "Carrie" (R).

PROSPECT — Mount Prospect — 253-7435 — "Silent Movie" (PG).

RANDHURST CINEMA — Mount Prospect — 392-9393 — "The Front" (R).

WOODFIELD — Schaumburg — 882-1620 — Theater 1: "Marathon Man" (R); Theater 2: "Alex and the Gypsy" (R).

PALWAUKEE MOVIES — Prospect Heights — 541-7530 — "Midway" (PG).

TRADEWINDS — Hanover Park — 837-3933 — Theater 1: "Man Who Fell to Earth" (R); Theater 2: "Sex With a Smile" (R).

Scrabble:

before or after words already played on the board.

• Place words on premium squares, which give double and triple letter scores and double and triple word values. Don't open up these squares for your opponent — play defensively as well as offensively.

• Fishing, or looking for a particular letter, is a bad strategy, the handbook says. It's a risk and if you don't get what you want you have wasted a turn in searching. However, passing a turn to trade in letters can be helpful when your rack is filled with duplicate letters.

• Keep track of the four "U"s, four "S"s and two blanks in the game.

• Don't waste "S"s. Count the number already on the board and save the ones you have to use in adding to high-point words already on the board.

• Watch out for "U"s. These are essential if you have the "Q". If several "U"s are played and you draw the "Q", you could get stuck with this 10-point letter at the end of the game.

• The blanks, or "jokers", may be used as any letter in the alphabet alhough a blank alone is not worth any points. But combined in a word, a blank can be most useful in forming seven-letter words.

• Learn two-letter words — not just "to" and "do" but "ai," a three-toed sloth, and "jo" a Scottish word meaning sweetheart. Two-letter words allow players to fit into tight spaces, especially toward the end of the game. A complete list of two-letter words, including the notes in the musical scale and Greek letters, is included in the handbook and Hinch's book.

• Become familiar with words containing "Q," "X," "J," "Z." There aren't many of these words around, but knowing them helps you use these high point-getters to your advantage.

• Practice anagrams, creating words from a random set of letters. Know prefixes, suffixes and common letter combinations such as "ea," "ch," and "ph."

• Try to go out first at the end of the game, leaving your opponent with high-valued tiles. His leftover letters are then added to your final score and subtracted from his own score.

Much of the answer to winning at Scrabble comes down to luck. Scrabble is not only a game of skill but also a game of chance, and if you draw poor letters, it just might not be your day. Good players say, though, you should be able to salvage even the most uninspiring rack to come up with a winning game.

In the end, it also comes down to practice. Like most games, the more you play the better you get. §

Scrabble tournament

There is still time to enter this year's Chicago-area Scrabble tournament at Northwestern University in Evanston.

Today is the second round of preliminaries, which began last Sunday and continue Nov. 14. Each participant will play three games of Scrabble, beginning at 12:30 p.m. in the Louis Room at Norris University Center, 1999 Sheridan Rd., Evanston.

Tournament rules are slightly different than the normal living room game. Each game may only last one hour and each play is limited to three minutes — with an egg timer as the judge.

In tournament Scrabble a player may challenge his opponent's word if he thinks the word does not exist. He writes the questioned word on a "challenge slip" which he passes on to a monitor who checks the word in the dictionary. If the word is acceptable, the challenger loses his turn. If the word is not in the dictionary, the person who played it loses his turn.

The 32 top players from the three initial meets will play off in a final round Nov. 21 at the same location.

The 10 or 11 high-scorers from each week will receive a Scrabble Players T-shirt. T-shirts will also be awarded to the player who gets the highest score in one turn and to the winner of the day's secret word. The tournament director selects a secret word, such as "rain" and if a player used this word in a game, he will get a T-shirt.

The top two players in the finals will receive a deluxe Scrabble game, complete with a revolving board.

There is no fee to enter the tournament. To enter today's round or sign-up for next Sunday's match, call tournament director Allen Beach, at the Norris Center Programming Council, 492-5068. For more information, call the Norris information desk, 492-5400.

Residents of the Northwest suburbs who are interested in forming a Scrabble Players Club may contact Bob Burns of Palatine at 359-7416.

Burns has reserved space at the Palatine Public Library, 500 N. Benton St., Palatine, on Sunday afternoons for the next six months to hold a Scrabble Club. Burns says he hopes the library will become a "home base" for Northwest suburban scrabble enthusiasts owner of a chemical sales company. When Mike made his tape a month ago, he hadn't had a date in a good six months. This month his screening session included 19 women who had seen his tape and were willing to give it a whirl.

"It's nice, but what am I going to do with 19 women," he asks plaintively. "I'm totally wrapped up in my business right now, and I only have time to go out socially once a week or so . . . I'm not interested in a lot of different dates."

So why did he join? For Mike, the answer is simple: "It was just to meet someone — I was fairly new to the area and hadn't made many contacts. And I know your next question — why couldn't I get my own dates, right?

"Where do I find them? You grow tired of Rush Street after a while, and that shallowness starts to get to you. I didn't have the time to go out looking every week, and this seemed like a good way out."

Most of the dates Mike has made have been enjoyable, but he does object to the fact that, women's liberation notwithstanding, he makes the first call and always pays for the evening's entertainment.

He would also like to see "more in-depth, psychological interviews . . . it's only fair to let a woman know that I'm very close to my children."

Still, the price tag for Visual Dates ia a reasonable one, said Mike, While he picked only one of the 19 availables, he doesn't regret joining because, "I can't get away with a hot dog at the corner these days . . . you'd easily spend half the fee on a nice date.

"Besides, one of the nicest things in life is a halfway decent relationship with someone. If those 80 bucks would lead to that, it would be well worth it." §

Ghost dance exhibit debuts today at Field

An exhibit of ritual garments, artifacts, photographs and tapes of the original Ghost Dance is now on display at the Field Museum of Natural History, Roosevelt Road at Lake Shore Drive, Chicago.

Ghost Dance was a religious movement that swept more than thirty Plains Indian tribes in the United States. The ritual was created around 1889 by a Paiute in Nevada named Wovoka, who began passing on to his people messages he believed he received from God: "Live peacefully, do not lie, work hard." Wovoka said God gave him directions for dancing the Ghost Dance and said if Indians would live and act in the appropriate manner they would experience a remaking of their world.

The exhibit will remain open to the public through Feb. 6.

Railroaders open house

The Lake County Model Railroad Club in Wauconda will celebrate National Model Railroad Month by holding an open house Sunday from noon to 8 p.m.

The club is located at 107 S. Main St., in the basement of Pari's Dress Shop. Entrance to the club is in the rear of the building. Admission is free.

The club layout is 30 by 56 feet and features more than 1,100 feet of track and as many as five trains operating at one time. Club members will be available to answer questions on model or prototype railroading.

Road rally Sunday in Elk Grove Village

The Northern Rays Ltd., Corvette Club is sponsoring a "Fun Road Rally" Sunday.

Registration begins at 12 p.m. and cars will take off from Hoskins Chevrolet, Inc., Elk Grove Village. Participants do not need to own a Corvette to enter. Entry fee is $5 for club members and $6 for non-members. Trophies will be awarded to winners.

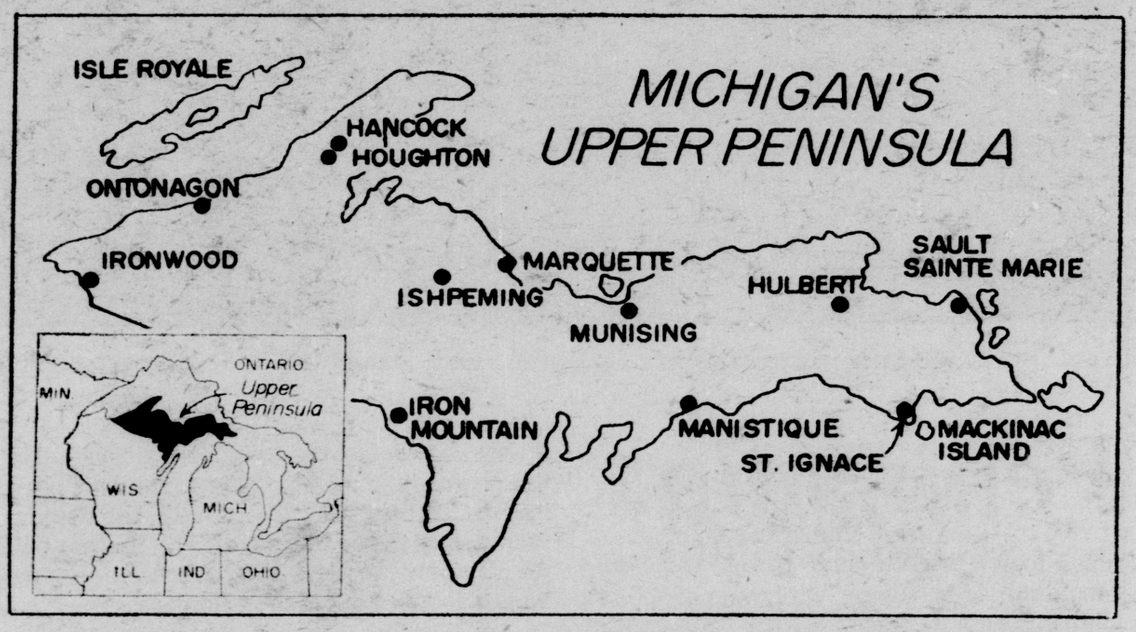
The 'forgotten' peninsula

'America's most varied vacationland' promotes year round recreation



by Katherine Rodeghier

There's a chunk of land nestled amid the Great Lakes that is easily overlooked by beginning students of geography.

And those who have discovered this place sometimes wish the rest of the Midwest would forget about it entirely so they can keep this remote vacation retreat all to themselves.

Michigan's Upper Peninsula, which divides Lake Superior, Lake Michigan and Lake Huron, is separated from the rest of the state by five miles of water at the Straits of Mackinac. Roughly half of its southern border is shared with the state of Wisconsin and the Upper Peninsula connects with Canada over the two mile International Bridge linking Sault Sainte Marie, Michigan and Sault Sainte Marie, Ontario.

But it's more than simple geography that sets the Upper Peninsula apart. This is north woods country, remote and relatively untouched by man. Although it is greater in size than Massachusetts, Connecticut, Delaware and Rhode Island combined, its population numbers slightly over 300,000 which figures out to about 18 persons per square mile.

The Upper Peninsula is so far removed and so unlike much of the rest of the state that from time to time the natives talk of seceding from Michigan to become the nation's 51st state, the State of Superior.

And those Midwesterners who have explored the Upper Peninsula can perhaps be forgiven for wanting to keep it a jealously guarded secret. Their love of this natural wilderness is easy to understand.

More than 90 per cent of the peninsula is forested and its hilly terrain contains all but two of Michigan's 150 waterfalls. There are 4,000 inland lakes, 12,000 miles of streams and more than 1,700 miles of Great Lakes shoreline.

Its pollen-free climate, tempered by the lakes, makes for slush-free, invigorating winters and sleep-under-the blanket summers. Its abundant wildlife lures hunters and fishermen and its crisp clean air and variety of flora and fauna brings out the nature lover in the most urbanized city slicker.

Like most of the Great Lakes region this glacier scarred territory was first settled by the Indians. It was a stop on the route of the French fur traders and Jesuit priests Father Marquette and Father Menard traveled here and preached the White Man's religion.

Once the center of a booming lumber industry, the Upper Peninsula's great pine forests were nearly stripped away during the timber cutting period of 1870 to 1890 when Michigan lead the nation in lumber productions. Many of the forests have now been taken over as state and national parks.

But the Upper Peninsula is noted not only for its north woods but for its precious mineral resources. Discovered by the Indians, the peninsula's copper ore was first mined commercially by the White Man in the mid-1800's. Some of the abandoned mines and accompanying ghost towns are now an attraction for tourists.

Today travel and recreation is the largest revenue-generating industry in the Upper Peninsula, generating more than $227 million a year to the economy and creating some 5,000 full-time jobs.

Promoted as "America's most varied vacationland" the peninsula offers something for the man of all seasons. Springtime is for strolling in the peninsula's blossoming world of nature. Summer is for boating and basking in the sun on one of the sandy shores. Fall is for leaf lookers who are inspired by the magnificent colors of the peninsula woodlands.

And then, of course, there is winter. For ski bums and snowmobile cruisers this is the best time of the year on the peninsula.

From mid-November to the end of March a blanket of snow covers the 10.5 million acres of the Upper Peninsula. Downhill skiers will find 17 developed ski areas scattered from one end of the peninsula to the other. Facilities range from gentle slopes for beginners to hills that challenge the skill of expert skiers.

The peninsula's eight major ski areas are Big Powderhorn Mountain, Bessemer, with 16

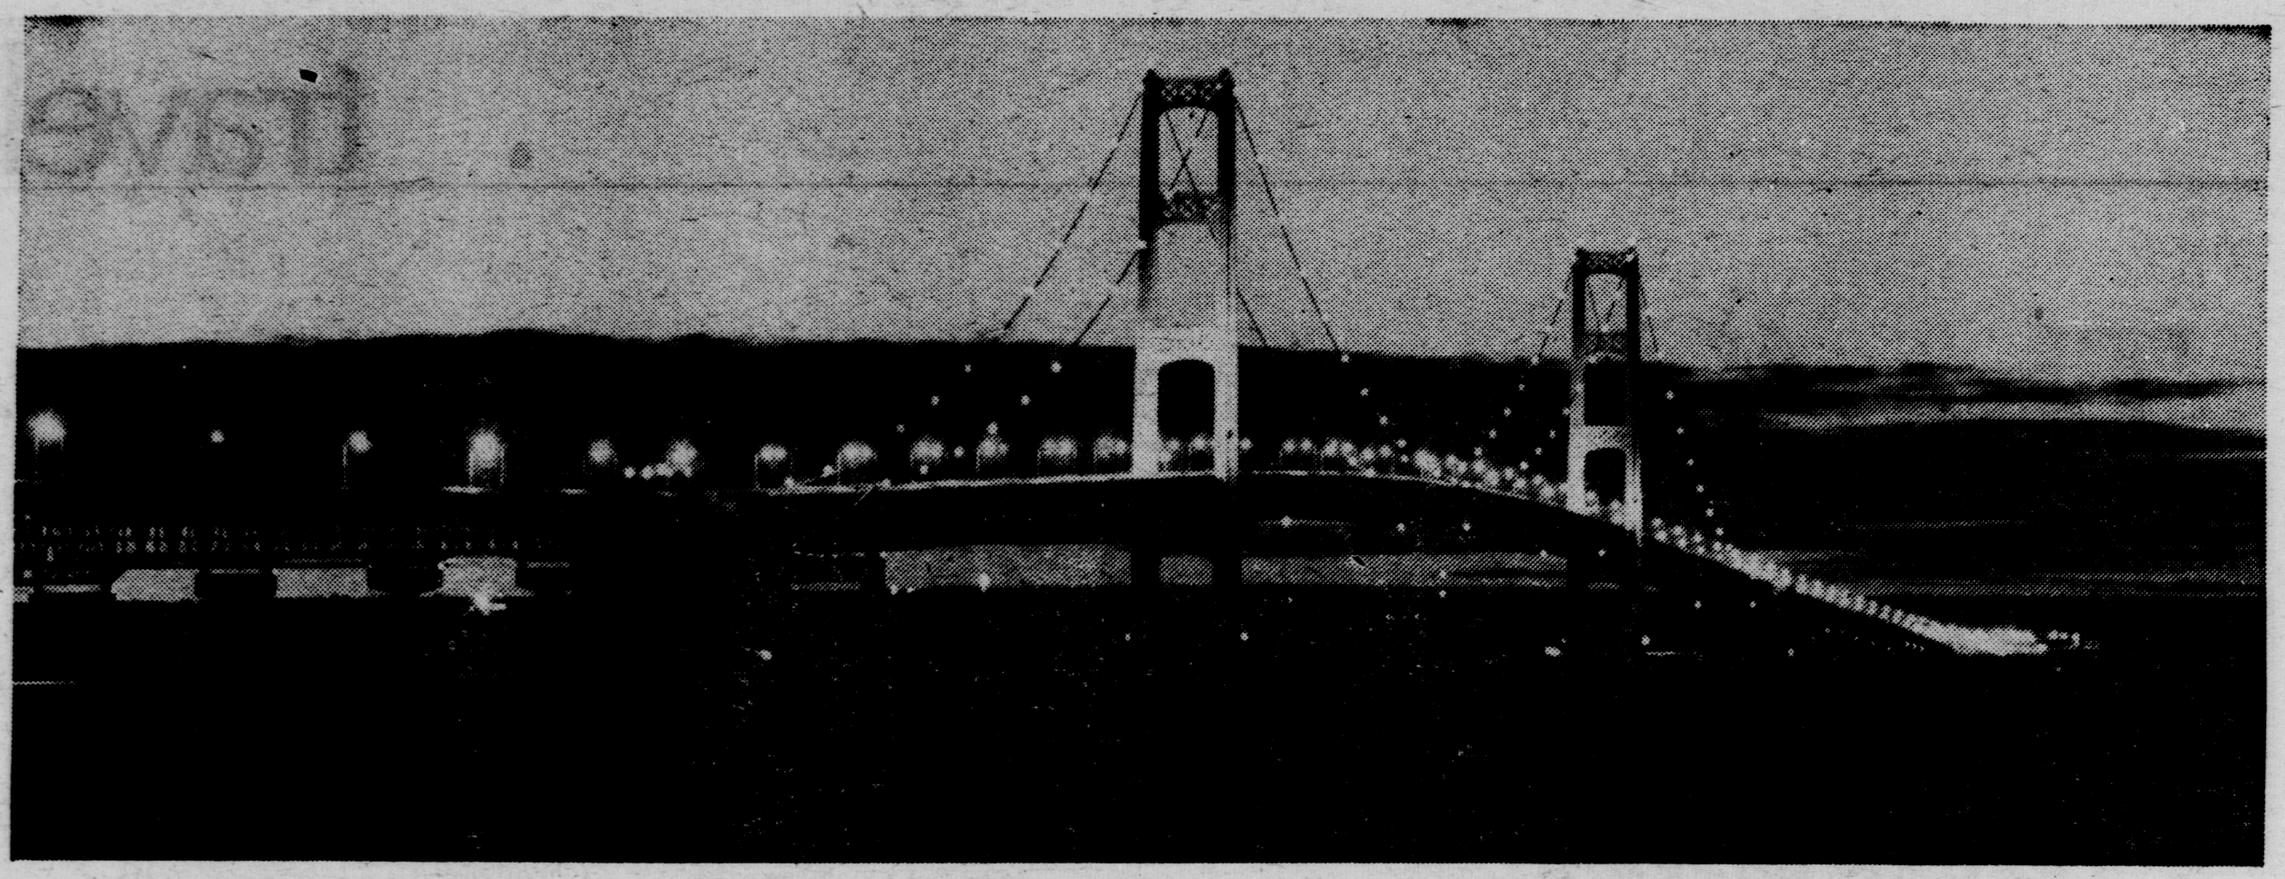
Sightseers find more than 1,700 miles of Great Lakes shoreline to explore along Michigan's Upper Peninsula.



One of the man-made wonders of the world, the Mackinac Bridge spans five miles of water linking the Upper Peninsula with the rest of Michigan.

runs, four chairlifts and two tows; Brule Mountain, Iron River, with nine slopes, a chairlift and a T-bar; Cliffs Ridge, Marquette, with eight slopes, four runs, two T-bars, two tows and a chairlift; Indianhead Mountain, Wakefield, with eight runs, five slopes, two T-bars and several chairlifts; Mont Ripley, Houghton-Hancock, with six slopes, a chairlift, T-bar and tow; Pine Mountain, Iron Mountain, with 12 slopes, three chairlifts and five tows; Porcupine Mountain, Ontonagon, 10 slopes, one chairlift, T-bar and two tows; and the year-old Vulcan USA, Vulcan, with nine slopes, two chairlifts, and one tow.

Many of the ski areas feature ski shops, ski schools, lodges and entertainment.

The Upper Peninsula's network of unplowed country and township roads, old logging trails and abandoned railroad grades also make for excellent ski touring and cross country skiing. A few prepared ski touring trails are also laid out in the area.

The Upper Peninsula is the home of the National Ski Hall of Fame. The two-story building, located in Ishpeming, was dedicated 21 years ago and is made up of three sections. One contains pictures and biographical sketches of those elected to the hall of fame, another is a museum housing skiing memorabilia and the third is a library of skiing. Among the most unusual items on display is the world's oldest known skis made more than 4,000 years ago.

The Ski Hall of Fame is open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily from mid-June through Labor Day and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday the rest of the year. There is no admission charge.

Ishpeming is known as the birthplace of skiing in the United States. The National Ski Association, now called the United States Ski Association, was organized there in 1904. The town is also home of Suicide Hill, one of the world's finest ski jumping hills. Ishpeming has hosted many ski jumping tournaments over the years.

Snowmobiling, another popular winter sport in the peninsula, can be enjoyed on thousands of acres of open land as well as some oval tracks maintained by snowmobile clubs for racing. There are more than 59 developed snowmobile trails on the peninsula in state parks, state and national forests and on private land. Trails vary from runs of five miles to those extending 50 miles or more.

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources has been expanding its trail system in the peninsula ever since the state developed its first trail in 1966. Eventually, the department hopes to develop a trail system that will permit snowmobilers to traverse the entire length and breadth of the peninsula.

One of the most popular snowmobile trails runs from Paradise on the Lake Superior shore to Tahquamenon Falls near Hulbert. When snow conditions are good thousands of snowmobilers will make this trip on a weekend. Another popular run is the Haywire Trail, a 26-mile route extending north of Manistique to Shingelton over the old Manistique & Lake Superior Railroad grade. The flat terrain permits high speed travel.

The Seul Choix Point Trail in Schoolcraft County is one of the most challenging in the peninsula. The route follows Lake Michigan for 13 miles featuring spectacular shoreline scenery. What promises to become one of the peninsula's outstanding trails was developed just last winter in Copper County. The 47-mile trail follows the abandoned grade of the Copper Range Railroad from Houghton to McKeever with a spur running to Freda on the Lake Superior Shore. There are three bridges that tower across the Firesteel River, adding variety to the scenic trail.

Other winter activities that attract tourists are ice fishing and sightseeing. Villages of ice fishing shanties dot the bays of Lake Michigan, Huron and Superior and the inland lakes attract hundreds of anglers each year. Sightseers find the peninsula a land of exceptional beauty in winter with its spectacular views of the snow-covered pine forests and ice-locked shorelines.

When the snow melts on the Upper Peninsula, Mother Nature's annual miracle occurs once again bringing with it a bounty of activities for nature lovers. May brings out a colorful array of dogtooth violets, bloodroot, Dutchmen's britches, marsh marigold, Jack-in-the-pulpit and many other wildflowers. For the mushroom hunters, the inviting aspen stands harbor generous quantities of delicious morels.

The peninsula's waterfalls are particularly spectacular in spring when they are swollen with the payload of the winter snows. Spring water levels are also the most favorable for canoeing.

Spring is an ideal time for camping in the peninsula when warm days and cool nights make for refreshing living in the out-of-doors. By avoiding the summer rush campers have their pick of choice campsites.

Many of the state and national parks and forests on the peninsula offer excellent recreational and camping facilities. Hiawatha National Forest, which forms two vast green belts along the eastern half of the peninsula, offers many campsites, picnic grounds, lakes and forest trails over its 1.26 million acres. Ottawa National Forest, located in the western part of the peninsula, has Lake Superior at its doorstep. The forest has several river systems, more than 32 waterfalls and a chain of lakes. A three day canoe and portage trip beckons the adventurous at Sylvania, a wilderness tract of virgin woods and pristine lakes.

Isle Royale National Park, a 45-mile long island located about 40 miles off Keweenaw County in Lake Superior, has 50 lakes, more than 30 types of orchids, a wolf pack and the largest moose herd in the United States. Visitors may reach the park by boat from Houghton and Copper Harbor.

Seney National Wildlife Refuge just north of Germfask, was developed in the 1930s and contains an intricate system of dikes, ditches and roads impounding more than 7,000 acres of water in 21 pools. The Visitor Center at the refuge headquarters is open from April 1 through October 31 and a 1.4 mile nature trail around one of the smaller pools is open to visitors, weather permitting. During the summer auto tours and self-guided wildlife drives are available.

Summer attracts the sun and water lover to Michigan's Upper Pensinsula.

More than 600 water access sites are available for small boats and protected marinas dot both Superior and Michigan shorelines. Explorations of shipwreck locations has become a fascinating and rewarding experience for skin diving experts. Visitors can tour the 100-year-old Mystery Ship, a sailing vessel now riding in Menominee harbor, which was located and salvaged by an enthusiastic group of divers.

Sun lovers can walk barefoot on the beach and wade in the lake off the sand dunes along U.S. 2 near St. Ignance. Cruises along the 20-mile Pictured Rocks National Shoreline, located east of Munising, are available in summer and early fall for sightseers who wish to view the unusual colors and formations of the weather-carved shoreline.

Another popular attraction with tourists is Tahquamenon Falls between Newberry and Paradise. Known as "little Niagara," the Upper Falls is a thunderous flow of water while the Lower Falls are a series of cascades flowing around an island. Trips to the falls are available during summer and early fall by boat and narrow gauge railroad.

Kitchiti-kipi ("Mirror of Heaven") Spring, located in Palms-Book State Park 14 miles east of Manistique, features a rare underwater fantasy of water plants, fishes, and clouds of boiling sand. The big spring pours forth more than 16,000 gallons of water per minute with a temperature of 45 degrees year around.

At Sault Sainte Marie, Michigan's oldest city, are the world's longest and busiest locks. More tonnage passes through the Soo Locks than the Panama and Suez Canals combined. Boat cruises through the locks, linking Lake Huron and Lake Superior, are available May 25 to October 15 and during the summer visitors can also view the locks from a tour train crossing International Bridge.

One of the Upper Peninsula's most popular vacation spots, especially in summer, is Mackinac Island in the straits of Mackinac. The island, where automobiles are not permitted, is a world all of its own. The island offers a wealth of historical attractions, plus two golf courses, sandy beaches, a swimming pool, horse-drawn carriage tours, and mile after mile of trails for bicycling or horseback ring riding.

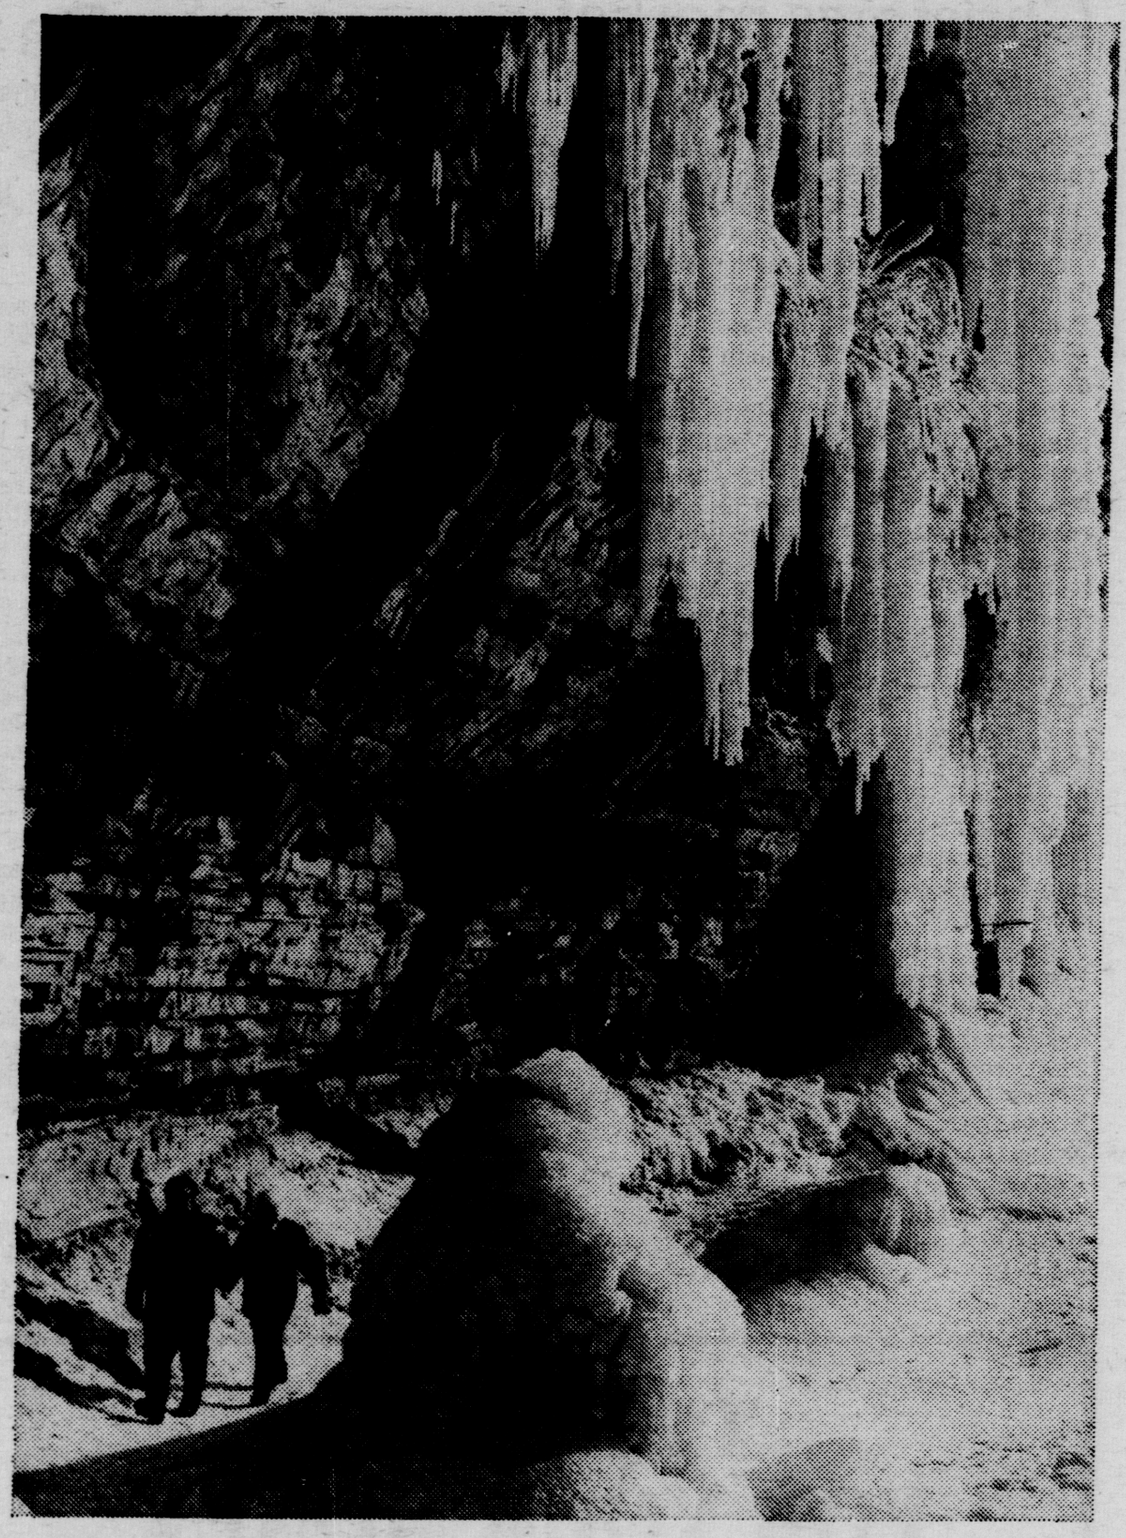
Mackinac Bridge, linking the two Michigans, is an attraction in itself. The five-mile-long "Big Mac" has been ranked by architects as one of the man-made wonders of the world. It has the longest suspension span in the world with towers rising 552 feet above water. Each Labor Day thousands of people make the traditional walk across the bridge.

Fall is the color season on the Upper Peninsula when the highways are lined with hardwoods festooned with leaves of gold, red, yellow and scarlet. Each year the Upper Peninsula Travel and Recreation Association publishes a guide of suggested color tours of the area.

Tourists can see Canada, and the states of Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan from the top of Copper Peak's ski slide in the Black River Recreational Area northeast of Ironwood. A nominal charge is made for riding the chairlift to the summit or elevator to the observation deck which are open in summer and throughout the color season.

Another type of color is found by rock collectors in the Upper Peninsula's iron and copper regions and along the beaches. Dozens of varieties of colorful gemstones and minerals such as agates, hematite, jasper, jaspilite, goethite, and verdi marble are native to the area.

A number of copper and iron mines, especially in the central and western regions of the peninsula, are open to the public. Guided tours of the Iron Mountain Iron Mine take visitors through 2,600 feet of underground drifts and tunnels where they can watch miners at work. The Arcadian Copper Mine in Ripley, which offers tours every 15 minutes, also has rock specimens for sale in the gift shop. §



The peninsula's invigorating winters offer a variety of scenery and recreation.

Where to write for information

Information on Michigan's Upper Peninsula is available from the Upper Peninsula Travel and Recreation Association, Box 400, Iron Mountain, Mich. 49801, phone 906-774-5480, or from the Michigan Travel Council, 52 E. Monroe St., Chicago, 60603, phone 372-0080.

A pocket sized map and travel guide with information on the peninsula's attractions is available from these two offices free of charge. The guide opens out into a large map of Michigan and on the back are photos and descriptions of the peninsula's tourist features. Highlighted are historic and scenic sightseeing, hunting, fishing, boating and water sports, and winter sports with a special section on each area of interest.

Christmas market set at Bishop Hill

The historic community of Bishop Hill near Galva, Ill., will be alive with the sights and sounds of a 19th-century Christmas market Nov. 27 and 28.

Called a Julmarknad, the annual event reflects customs brought to the Midwest by the thousands of Swedish immigrants who passed through or settled in Illinois in the latter half of the 1800s.

Items for sale at the Julmarknad will include needlework, pottery, iron work, cornhusk dolls, and other articles handcrafted in traditional Swedish pioneer fashion by local residents, many of whom are descendants of original Bishop Hill settlers. There also will be handcrafts and other gift items imported from Sweden, plus homemade bakery goods and other food items.

The Christmas market will take place in several of the large structures built in the 1840s and 1850s by a sturdy band of pioneers fleeing what they considered to be religious persecution in Sweden. Despite early hardships, their Bishop Hill Colony grew and prospered and attracted many of the Swedes who immigrated to the Midwest in the years after the Civil War.

Special tours will be held at the Colony Church, a state-owned Illinois Historic Site. The church contains a collection of outstanding American primitive paintings by settler Olof Krans, exhibits depicting life in early Bishop Hill, and the restored sanctury with handmade walnut pews and graceful candle chandeliers.

Julmarknad begins at 10 a.m. and concludes at 5 p.m. both days. Bishop Hill is off Route 34 six miles east of Galva in Henry, County.

Paquet's M.S. Mermoz, which is currently cruising from French ports, will make a cruise-voyage from Marseille to San Juan, Puerto Rico in time to begin her program of 7-day winter cruises next December.

The transatlantic sailing begins on Dec. 3 and includes calls at Casablanca, Funchal (Madeira), Martinique, Guadeloupe, St. Barthelemy, and St. Maarten. Optional shore excursions will be offered at each port.

This cruise-voyage will be the only opportunity for travelers to cross from the Mediterranean to the Caribbean on a French ship this year. The M.S. Mermoz will be operated on an all first class basis so that passengers will have the full run of the ship. Rates range from $765 to $1,175 per person for accommodations in double staterooms with private facilities.

After her arrival in San Juan on Dec. 18, the M.S. Mermoz will begin a series of one-week Caribbean cruises, sailing every Sunday through April, 1977. An all-inclusive air/sea package from New York and Chicago will be offered for each of these sailings.

Complete details about the M.S. Mermoz transatlantic cruise voyage and her winter cruises from San Juan are available from travel agents and Paquet Cruises, Inc., 1370 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N.Y. 10019.

A better way of forecasting the nation's economic future

ECONOMISTS AT BAY: WHY THE EXPERTS WILL NEVER SOLVE YOUR PROBLEMS by Robert Lekachman (McGraw Hill, $9.95).

Reviewed by Jack Penchoff

Economics has been called the "dismal science." That is an understatement for anyone who has read an introductory textbook on the subject, or stood in an unemployment line reading about the administration's optimistic forecast on the economy.

In "Economists at Bay: Why the Experts Will Never Solve Your Problems," Robert Lekachman presents a readable and well documented account of why he believes economists have failed in the past decade.

Lekachman, a professor of economics at City University of New York, notes that liberal and conservative economists gave their "seal of professional approval" in 1974 when President Ford continued asking for higher taxes and more federal spending as inflation grew. That approval, Lekachman argues, prolonged the 1974-75 "mini-depression."

"When respectable economists are wrong en masse," says Lekachman, "other people usually suffer the consequenses."

In recent years, economists have poured over statistics and devised charts on pricing and distribution in order to get a handle on the economy. Instead, Lekachman argues, they should have been studying the primary forces in the American economy — unions and businesses.

"The trouble with economics is the professional addiction to techniques" Lekachman says, adding that the techniques have very little to do with "the institutions and interests which determine prices, employment, growth, and prosperity."

This fascination by economists with charts and figures rather than social institutions has been an evolution from days when economics was a branch of philosophy.

In the 18th and 19th centuries, Lekachman notes, economists such as Adam Smith and Karl Marx "were endowed with moral vision, a feeling for institutional complexity, and a sense of history."

Although Lekachman concedes there are many holes in the theories of the early economists, he believes their moral suasion is of more importance to today's economists.

Lekachman, however, does suggest a way economists and the public can find their way through the maze of pricing charts and distribution curves.

Economic planning, says Lekachman, would force Presidents early in their administration to map long-range economic policy and list their priorities. The President would coordinate all economic policies and each year report to the Congress. Union and business leaders as well as economists would also be asked to participate.

At the end of four years, the public hopefully would be able to see through the rhetoric and judge the administration's economic policy.

Lekachman's plan has been criticized by Republicans and Democrats, yet supported by businessmen like Henry Ford and liberal economists like John Kenneth Galbraith.

But the idea will go nowhere until Lekachman's colleagues join him.

"It would be well for the profession and possibly the public," writes Lekachman, "were economists to descend from the mountain peaks of high theory, and once more grub in historical and statistical data."

A saga of the Golden Greeks, their ships and their fortunes

THE BOURLOTAS FORTUNE by Nicholas GAGE (Bantam Book paperback, $1.95)

Reviewed by Dorothy Oliver

There is a world out there populated by shipping magnates who have pieced together vast fortunes through genius, shrewdness and luck, passing down their fortunes and business acumen to their children, and living a life that combines ethnic tradition and capitalistic worldliness.

Nicholas Gage penetrated that world to research his novel, "The Bourlotas Fortune," a saga of the Greeks who built empires from hard work and an inbred love for the sea.

Gage, in investigative reporter for "The New York Times" and himself a Greek, interviewed the shipowners, their wives children and mistresses before writing his novel. His main character, Kosmos Bourlotas, he said, is a combination of the experiences of a whole generation of Greek shipowners who have built the largest fleets and fortunes in the post-war world.

Kosmos Bourlotas was a giant in the shipping world. At the age of 13 he was a deckhand on one of the last sailing ships, supporting his widowed mother and two sisters. At 22 he was in London, a partner in a brokerage firm that won the loyalty of Greek shipowners.

Slowly he began building his fleet, taking advantage of economic conditions, buying when prices were low and small shipping firms were going bankrupt, leading the way for the young, educated, monied, aggressive Greeks eager to enter the field.

When he married he ignored the worldly, attractive European socialites preferring to return to his home in Chios and allowing his mother to make a match with a properly bred Greek girl from a wealthy shipping family.

His fortunes rose and fell and rose once more. His friends became enemies and his life becomes tormented as he sees his dreams collapse and his family torn apart.

"The Bourlotas Fortune," now in paperback and published in hardcover by Holt, Rinehart and Winston, is good, fast-paced reading for the person with a fascination for empire builders.

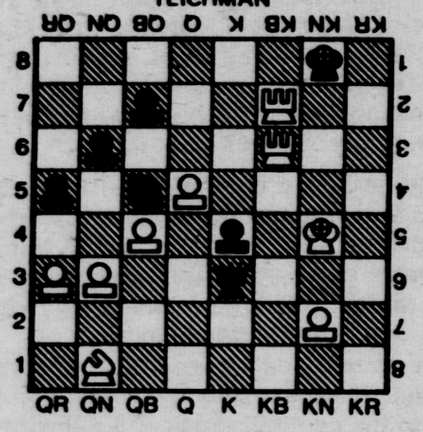
BEGINNER'S CORNER

AFTER 62....K-N1

TEICHMAN



DURAS

BEGINNER'S CORNER-hint and explanation: White has a fighting king!

Chess is different from other sports. It can be played at any speed. The slowest version is postal chess, which can be played as slow as desired. One game between two sea captains in the 1950s was alleged to have been in process for 25 years. One player, Henry Grob, was said to have played as many as 500 games at once.

Postal chess can be great fun. Can you imagine going to your mail box and finding half a dozen moves from as many points of the compass. What deep strategems and subtle anticipations become possible!

If you'd like to try your own hand at chess by mail, write Harvey Simms, 153 E. Beech St., Long Beach, N.Y. 11561. He'll send you a sample copy of "The Chess Correspondent", the official publication of the Correspondence Chess League of America and also tell you how you too can play postal chess.

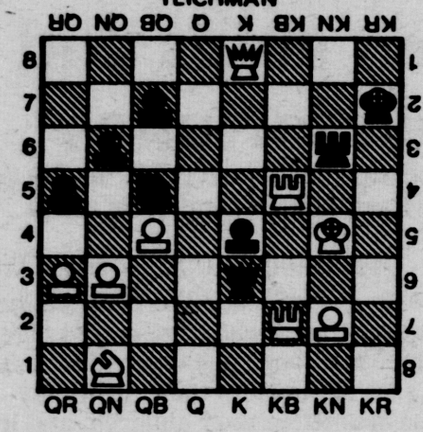
SOLVE-IT

AFTER 55....R-N3ch

TEICHMAN



DURAS

Oldrich Duras is a turn-of-the-century player whom most contemporary chessplayers know vaguely at best. But according to a recent issue of the British magazine "Chess," this product of Humny, Bohemia (today part of Czechoslovakia), was at times the equal of the strongest players of his day. For example, in the 1908 Vienna International Tournament, he tied for first with Geza Maroczy and Karl Schlechter ahead of Rubenstein, Teichmann, Spielmann, Tartakower, Marshall and Reti.

In the position in SOLVE-IT, Duras, whom it seems will be mated, found a surprise win. He played 56. QxRch!! There then ensued: 56 . . . KxQ; 57. R-B6ch, K-N2; 58. R-B7ch, K-N1; 59. R-B8ch, K-N2; 60. R(2)-B7ch, K-N3; 61. R-B6ch, K-N2; 62. R(8)-B7ch, K-N1; (see diagram of BEGINNER'S CORNER). Duras now played 63. K-R5! And after 63 . . . Q-K7ch; 64. P-N4, his opponent resigned. Why? (refer to solution below).

Solution to BEGINNER'S CORNER: See text of SOLVE-IT, i.e. moves 63-64, when black resigned. Though black can stop 65. R-B8ch, K-N2; and 66. R(6)-B7 mate with 64 . . . N-Q2, he will be in another mating position after 65. RxN, as there is no effective defense to the threat of 66. K-R6 and 67. R-Q8 mate.

The Ice Follies returns to Chicago with new family act

The Ice Follies "Reflections On Ice" will be staged at Chicago Stadium Tuesday, Nov. 16 through Sunday, Nov. 28.

Back this year are the Sesame Street characters including Big Bird, Cookie Monster, Bert, Ernie and Grover. Also returning are Richard Dwyer and his partner Susan Berens; David Comb who will supply a fresh batch of thrills with his "infernal machine" and Mr. Frick, who is heading toward his 38th year of ice performing.

New to the Ice Follies this year are the Baker Family including three-year-old Brenda and six-year-old Adam and Little Lito, the skating counterpart of Charlie Chaplin.

Chicago Stadium is located at 1800 W. Madison St., Chicago. For information call 733-5300.

Chrysanthemum show at the conservatories

The public is invited to attend the 64th annual free Chrysanthemum Show at the Chicago Park District's Garfield and Lincoln Park Conservatories from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily today through Sunday, Nov. 28.

More than 250 variations of mums, grown in park district greenhouses, will be displayed.

Clubs, civic and education groups may arrange in advance for guide service for the show by calling Garfield Conservatory, 533-1281 or Lincoln Park Conservatory, 294-4770.

Canadian stamps commemorate inland shipping

The Canada Post Office on Nov. 19 will issue four 10-cent stamps commemorating Canadian inland shipping vessels.

The adhesives depict three early passenger ships — the Passport, Chicora and Athabasca — and the riverboat, Northcote. Designed by Tom Bjarnason, a total of 24 million stamps will be printed se-tenant in one color steel plus nine color lithography by the Canadian Bank Note Company of Ottawa. Marginal inscriptions, including the designer's name, will appear on each pane of 50 stamps. The entire production will bear general tagging.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations should send their requests to "Philatelic Service, Canada Post Office, Ottawa, Ontario, Canada K1A OB5" enclosing the proper remittance which is the cost of the stamps to be affixed plus a 15-cent service fee on each cover affixed with less than 50-cents postage. your remittance should be by international bank draft payable to "The Receiver General for Canada."

The Canada Post Office will withdraw its 1976 Olympic stamps and philatelic products from sale on Dec. 31.

The Northwest Stamp Club will sponsor a "Kid's Day" from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 14 at the Arlington Heights Public Library, 500 N. Dunton. All youngsters attending will receive a free packet of stamps and others will be available for purchase at one-cent each. At 3 p.m. there will be a stamp auction with bidding restricted to young collectors. Club members will be available throughout the afternoon to answer questions about stamp collecting.

At the club's fall auction on Oct. 7, 89 lots of stamps changed hands with the club taking in $80. Ten new members have joined in the past three months so if you're looking for a place where 'philately is spoken' members of the Northwest Stamp Club will be glad to see you.

The U.S. Postal Service has released a souvenir card honoring NORDPOSTA 76, the major North German annual stamp exhibition held Oct. 30 and 31 in Hamburg, Germany.

The card depicts a U.S. 1930 General von Steuben stamp, a 1966 German adhesive marking the Federation Internationale de Philatelie meeting, and a 1959 German stamp honoring INTERPOSTA.

Uncancelled cards are $1.25 each. Cancelled cards, franked with the 13-cent Clara Maass commemorative, are $1.38. Both are available by mail from the "Philatelic Sales Division, Washington D.C. 20265." There is a 50-cent handling charge on each mail order.

Olga knows

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Situation exists where hostility is so well disguised that it may pass for tranquility. Full Moon acts as catalyst to bring about change. Quiet desperation turns to noise, but in the final shuffle, Ari, you benefit.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Flamboyant on the outside but inside, Taurus, you're practical, traditional, and yes, even conservative. You often appear lethargic but you can be aroused to sudden passion by the right (or wrong!) word/gesture. Full Moon may be responsible for erratic temperature changes.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Distant music stirs your senses and desire to take a chance is strong. The rhythm of the universe surrounds you. Relax, Gem, and let life, like a giant wave, carry you to exciting shore.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Now see here, Moonbaby, you had your chance for a little fling last week, but your fling should be flung by now, and so it's time to get back to biz. Sorry, my friend, but you can't expect to lick the frosting bowl every week.

LEO (July 23-August 22): Don't waste too much time listening to others. This week, Leo, you should listen to your inner thoughts. sort them out. Time for Leo to make some serious, personal decisions. A lonely task, 'tis true, but very important, so DO IT. Action delayed is action denied.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22): Be exactly who you want to be in week ahead, Virgo my love. Take a risk if it will mean living life more fully. Don't permit these dazzling autumn days to be squandered on foolish nothings. Live. Laugh. Love. Especially love.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22): Personal goal highlighted. Know that there is no facile solution to difficulties ahead. Additional planning, Libra, PLUS much more hard work involved before you achieve your little heart's desire. Week cuddles to a close.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21): Demands and challenges in week ahead. Progress in direct proportion to your efforts. Bone up on important data. New ideas/solutions arrive if you keep your position fluid rather than frozen. On last day, Scorp, get rid of excess energy by raking leaves.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21): Because your opinion is valued, questions will be asked. Don't waffle, Saj. Answer directly. You get chance to take three giant steps toward personal goal. Simon says. Olga says. And so do the stars.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19): Friendship looms on horizon, Cap, which just may turn into long-term relationship. However, I must emphasize the word friendship, for you should not allow it to develop into anything more. Right now, sweet Cap, you need a buddy . . . NOT a lover.

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18): Guard health in days ahead, my friend. Watch your diet, get enough rest, avoid alcohol, tobacco and wild, wild livin'. Other than that, Aquari my love, you can relax and enjoy these brisk November days. And NO backtalk!

PISCES (February 19-March 20): You are wise, Pisces, but certainly not The Wizard you pretend to be. This week you encounter one who will offer good, sound, old-fashioned advice concerning nagging personal problem. Kindly remove your headphones long enough to listen. Week ends with a giggle.

Win at bridge

by Oswald and James Jacoby

South didn't really think that he was going to make his four-heart bid, but he thought that it was a good idea to bid it and shut the opponents out just in case they had a spade game.

Had West been able to get into the bidding and worked his way to a four-heart contract, he might well have made it against an expected heart lead. But, we'll never find out.

South was in four hearts. It was up to West to lead. He selected his fourth-best club. Dummy's jack forced East's ace and South ruffed.

South thought a while, hummed a few bars of the song, "With a little bit of luck" and proceeded to place his king of diamonds on the table.

His little bit of luck had materialized. If East won the trick, South would have an entry to dummy to get a spade discard. If East ducked, South would go about the business of getting trumps out and eventually lead a low diamond, duck in dummy and watch East's ace capture a couple of little-spot cards.

It was good luck. South needed a club lead and had to find West with the queen of clubs and East with just two diamonds, but it came off.

The hang-loose lifestyle of Sonny Bono

by Vernon Scott

Sonny Bono hangs loose, lives with a pretty young girl, works with his ex-wife, Cher, and enjoys a life style all his own.

He has two homes, a Bel Air house he calls a "baby mansion" and a desert home in Palm Springs, both of which he shares with Susan Coelho, a beauty of Indian extraction. Susan and Sonny are unmarried and haven't announced any matrimonial plans.

In his divorce from Cher, with whom he costars for CBS-TV every week, Sonny agreed she should have the spectacular mansion in which they lived. The smaller one in Bel Air is a miniature version of the original but still more than 10,000 square feet in size.

The "baby mansion" has three enormous bedrooms. They consist of three separate suites complete with private baths and dressing rooms. One of the bedrooms is the preserve of Sonny and Cher's daughter, Chastity, 7.

Sonny had Chastity's room decorated in blue denim. The little girl has her own old-fashioned wooden telephone booth in it, including an ancient telephone.

Sonny and Cher had owned the house since 1968 but never lived in it. They leased it out. When the marriage became unglued, Sonny had the place stripped from top to bottom.

He hired the same man who had decorated his Palm Springs pad to do a number on the Bel Air place. Sonny describes the decor as a three dimensional Gauguin painting. The colors are brilliant.

Some rooms are clearly Italian renaissance. Others are done in desert tones. Still others give the feeling of the jungle.

It's a masculine house, furnished for comfort. Sonny said he was a bit strapped when he refurbished the house and thought antiques would be impractically expensive.

The exterior is impressive, faced with Roman stone. It rests on an acre of ground and includes a swimming pool. Sonny's greatest regret is the lack of room for a tennis court.

He is trying to convince a neighbor to install a court, allowing Sonny to lease it on a long-term basis.

Sonny's desert house has a pool, too, and is surrounded by enough tennis courts to enable him to play every weekend.

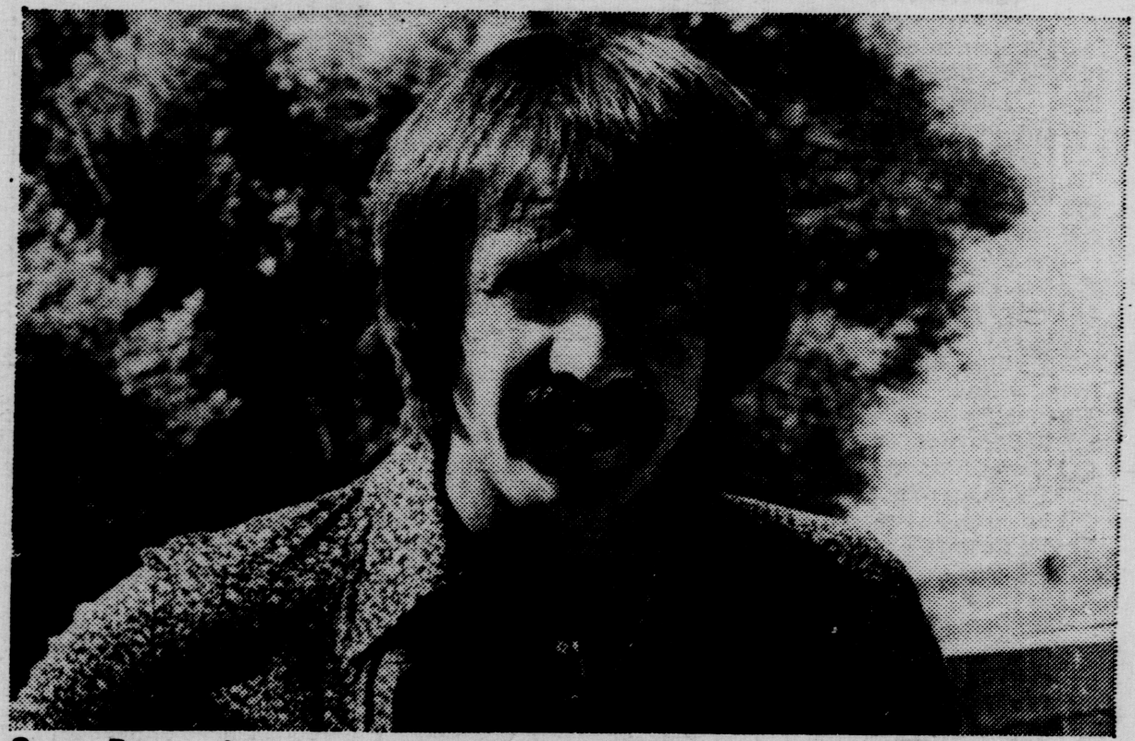
A butler takes care of the Bel Air house and does some of the cooking. Both Sonny and Susan also poke around the kitchen. Susan excels at spicy Indian curry dishes. Sonny cooks such Italian specialties as pasta with broccoli.

Sonny, who once weighed 30 pounds more than he does now, watches his weight carefully. He stays trim on the tennis courts.

When "The Sonny and Cher Comedy Hour" is in production, Sonny has a relatively easy schedule. He arrives at CBS at 10 a.m. and almost always is finished by 6 o'clock in the evening.

If he isn't working, Sonny takes Susan to the race track. He owns a couple of thoroughbreds and runs them at Santa Anita and Hollywood Park.

"I lived in Inglewood, near Hollywood Park, when I was a kid," Sonny says, "and it always was a dream of mine to own a race horse."



Sonny Bono, who stars with his ex-wife Cher Sundays on Channel 2 is "living a good life."

Sonny bets modestly at the track.

For company around the house Sonny keeps three German shepherds — Scruffy, Sabrina and Anthony — who double as watch dogs. They are frolicsome companions for Chastity on her frequent visits to her father.

The little girl has made the adjustment to her parents' divorce. So, for that matter, have Sonny and Cher.

"We have separate lives and interests now," Sonny says. "And we work together without a hitch."

For relaxation Sonny reads historical novels and biographies. He seldom listens to music anymore, explaining, "I was so closely involved with music for so many years I got bored with it."

"I'm living a good life," Sonny concludes. "And I enjoy my work. For now, I can't think of any ways to improve it."

The Fonz

Q. Will you please give me the address of Henry Winkler of "Happy Days," and can you tell me what makes the "Fonz" so cool. L.B.

A. The Fonz learned to be cool by studying hard when he went to school. Write him at ABC.
Here's his picture, we are going to enter him in the Chevy Chase look-a-like contest.

Q. Please settle a bet, did Chevy Chase play the white foreign man with the accent in the Fonzie look-a-like contest on the Van Dyke and Co. program of September 20? C.M. & D.H.

A. Yes he did and we are printing his picture just so you see the resemblance.

Chevy Chase

Q. During the summer we watch a show called "Future Cop," is it going to be a series? We hope so because we thought it was good. B.B.

A. Yes, it's on standby as a future series after some of the Fall entries begin to flop. Ernest Borgnine will continue to star in it.

Q. My cousin and I are having an argument on whether or not "The Partridge Family" are really singing or just making their mouths go. She says they are singing and I say they're not. N.S.

A. On the film they are just moving their mouths. In reality, the singing and music was recorded by another group, then David Cassidy and Shirley Jones added their voices to the music track.

Q. I thought Stefanie Powers was supposed to have her own show this season? I waited but haven't seen it mentioned. What happened? M.R.

A. ABC bumped it from its fall schedule to make room for the "Family" series. Stefanie's show is "Feather and Father" and the latest plans are to start it in January.
